Dear Editor:

I, as a concerned member of the Ursinus Weekly staff, would like to respond to the department of the Weekly, I would like to comment on "wasted space." The issue of the two weeks past featured primarily two articles, one by Mr. Forrest, and the other by Mr. W. Wismer, which I believe to be a possible reason for the problem.

The true purpose of these comments is to point out the tendency of the Inquirer and the Bulletin of the Ursinus "Inquirer" (sic) which people are expending time and energy in the pool and on various (sic) courts, tracks, fields and courses and in the halls of the Students' Union. I think it is quite clear that these would be more effective if they were directed to a sports page which usually centers only upon "Scare and Bear," the sports column, and the "Twit of the Week," the sports feature. I feel this was not "wasted space," but was a good use of the space.

The additions of Kevin Gault and Joe Saraco, along with the addition of student members, Mr. Hirsch, has contributed to the growth of the staff. The importance of the vital corporation of the student bodies and, in particular, Sports Information Director Joe Wissink of the Ursinus "Inquirer" (sic) was not only beneficial to the students, but also to the administration.

The administration notes that the possibilities of continued interest can be utilized in improving the sports page and the entire Weekly production. If one is interested, one need only refer to the "Wasted Space" article in the Fall, 1973 semester. The administration promises to rectify the problem as soon as possible.

Sincerely,
Douglas Glover

To the Editor:

I was interested to read your review of the "Two Organizations Organized" program. I believe that the program is an excellent one and that it should be continued.

Dear Editor:

Some readers may remember me as the guy who wrote unintelligible columns for the Ursinus Weekly columns, Seeds and Ashes. Others may remember the kid who got caught with a stolen car at 6 o'clock to display this vital interest.

Sincerely,
Sports Editor

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The administration promises that students will be able to participate in the Spring, 1973 semester. The administration remembers me as the student who tried to figure out how to get a phone installed in his room.

Well, anyway, I've attended two hours of this since and have a 3.4 cumulative average. I'll graduate the end of August and have every intention of doing so.

I've been involved in the musings of Curtis basement are still trying to figure out how I got a phone installed in the fashion.

Before the Fest

By RUTH VON KUMMER

There may be a rush on tea at Ursinus for many reasons besides the heat.

The fall season brings the beginning of the winter term, and the end of the football season. Students have been busy socializing all summer and now are looking forward to the first real change, the cold weather.

With the end of the warm weather, many students are beginning to think about the winter season. They are looking forward to the beginning of snow, the cold days, and the great games to be played.

The Ursinus Student Government has been working hard to plan events for the fall season. They have organized several dances and other events in order to give students something to look forward to.

The Student Government has also been working on plans for the winter season. They are hoping to organize several winter events, such as a winter carnival and a holiday party.

The Student Government is always looking for new ideas and suggestions. If you have any ideas for events, please let them know. They are always happy to hear from students.

The Student Government would like to remind everyone to stay safe during the fall season. They are planning to organize several safety events, such as a fire safety drill and a self-defense class.

The Student Government is looking forward to a great fall season and is hoping that everyone will enjoy the events.

Badminton Team Continues Triumphs

By CATHY MCGARTHY

To most students on the Ursinus Campus, the College Union is just the place to hang out and drink after a day of classes. A place to go in the evening for a study break. I’m sure everyone would agree that the Union is ideal for hanging out. However, I believe that only a select few on this campus have never been to the Union. And money which are put into the many social events planned by the Union staff and specially attended by Ursinus students. Whether it is in lack of student awareness or whether it is just plain apathy, it is hard to believe that so many people could sit and let their Union spend money on events and not take advantage of them.

Poor student turnout has baffled the Union staff for some time now. Almost all of the activities planned are fun, not that altogether consumption and lead to greater stu den'ts boredom. However, it is still a possibility that some students are still, however, poorly attended.

I have only been on this campus for one and a half years and couldn’t begin to recount all the times that I have passed by the Union, or even worse, “There’s nothing to do around here.”

Well, the Union is someplace that you can go to. It is there for us, for our spending, and it is a shame that none of us use it to its fullest capacity.

So the next time you find yourself self complaining that there’s nothing to do, take a look around. Chances are, you’ll find a poster advertising a Union event somewhere in your vicinity. If you go to it, you’ll see that you’re going to be surprised at the good time you have—even during those long, boring Ursinus weekends.
A Long Way

By GEORGE GEIST

The ball game was a long way baby! The basketball Bearettes of Ursinus have made a long way from a two win season of a year past to a greatly improved 6-9 record prior to post-season tournament action.

The Bearettes, behind some early scoring by Kay Jameson and a few "Dribblers" bombs, proceeded to exchange baskets with the Macs until they even opened a 21-18 lead on a "super sub" Candi Russell three point play. The first half of course ended with the Bearettes trailing 34-28.

As the second half proceeded, backcourt problems and numberous turnovers hurt Coach Stall's squad's offense. Anita Deasey's superb second half performance and Kathy Jameson's scoring, was not enough as the Mighty Macs won 60-49.

Completing the regular season with a victory over Trenton State, the Bearettes entered post-season tournament action at Glassboro College.

Last weekend, however, little hopes were ended with consecutive losses to East Stroudsburg 70-65 and Delaware Valley 56-53.

The JV squad completed a 5-6 season.

Two years ago, the Philadelphia Seventy-Sixers were the worst team in the history of the NBA.

They won just nine games and lost an inordinate number of games. Today, the Sixers have improved (they couldn't get any worse) to a team that is writing history, only ten games under 500.

Actually, the Sixers aren't far away from becoming a good, contending team. The major problem is at center. The team needs a big, strong, dominating center who can score only about fifteen points per game. None of the players are very capable of putting up "in the basket."

This player must be able to knock down twenty footers and block a few of the smaller forwards. Unfortunately, the Sixers are as hard to obtain as a good job, but their next move may be a career move. If William Jameson, the only new player on the Sixers, is traded, he could be a valuable addition to the team. However, if the Sixers are to improve, they must be able to add a top wing player to the starting line-up. This can be a difficult task for the Sixers. The Sixers must find a new young guard to develop, or they will be missing out on a valuable asset.

Before the next season, the Sixers must make a decision on what direction they want to take. They must decide whether they want to retain their current players or trade for new players. The decision will be crucial to the team's success in the future.

Sixers in '76?

Magazine covers

Last season, the Sixers were able to make the playoffs, but they were eliminated in the first round. This year, they have a chance to make it to the finals, and possibly even win the championship. The team has improved in many areas, and they are playing better as a unit.

The Sixers have a good nucleus around which to build a championship team. They have good players in Jameson and Shue. If everything works out, they might make it to the finals and win the championship.
