The staff of the 2002 Ruby dedicates this yearbook in memory of a committed professor and trusted friend, Dr. Eileen England. Sadness struck the campus community on September 25th, as we learned of the loss of a beloved faculty member. Professor of Psychology Eileen M. England died at her home in Doylestown after an illness of some weeks. Professor England joined the Ursinus faculty in 1989. She was highly regarded by all for her kindness, her gentle, nurturing nature and her outstanding qualities as a teacher and mentor of students. An active scholar who published frequently, she focused on the areas of child development, educational psychology, human sexuality and community psychology. At Ursinus, among other duties, she was coordinator of Women's Studies from 1995 to 1997. She will be missed and her work here at Ursinus was greatly appreciated.
A year of many tragedies and heartbreaks, Ursinus students proved tough and willing to go the distance. After the “Attack on America,” as the media termed it, Ursinus students responded by wearing patriotic clothes, hanging American flags on dorm windows and main street houses, and by running various money, clothing, and blood drives. Among these two fundraisers included the USGA sponsored Coin Drive for the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund, and the American Red Cross Blood Drive on October 16th and 17th sponsored by Omega Chi sorority. These two drives raised $1,524.50 and a total of 105 pints of blood. The blood alone will go towards saving the lives of 525 patients. So, despite the devastating loss, Ursinus comes out strong in the effort to rebuild the nation.

Other blows to the Ursinus community were in result of the death of Psychology professor, Dr. Eileen England and the news of a construction worker who was struck by a falling brick. President Strassburger sent out emails to inform the students and to offer condolences to the friends and families of both individuals.

On a lighter note, many new additions have been added to the popular Ursinus College campus. The new residence hall remains a work in progress and should be completed by July or August 2002. Another new-comer is the highly-praised Floy Lewis Bakes Field House, named after Floy Lewis Bakes a four sport athlete at Ursinus. With this new sports facility, the students have the luxury of using a better equipped, state of the art weightroom. It also much improves the status of the training facilities and the conditions of the lockerroom. The project, estimated to cost about 12 million dollars, was an enormous success.

Ursinus was also named to the prestigious Watson Fellowship Program. This honor places the college among the top 50 liberal arts colleges in America. According to College Communications, the program is designed to provide college graduates “the freedom to engage in a year of independent study and travel abroad following their graduation.”

And don’t forget those SENIORS! The class of 2002 has spent the past year preparing for graduate/professional school, the workforce, or simply new adventures. With their goals set high, the Class of 2002 has proved ready to enter a new phase in life, one that will surely lead to future success. They are truly...
The Class of 2005, the largest freshman class in the history of Ursinus College, faced many changes this year.

408 members of the Class of 2005 arrived on Ursinus’ campus August 23, 2001. After unpacking and decorating, the students got down to business. Orientation included fun activities, such as Playfair, a dinner dance, and a rewarding community service project. Freshmen were also able to deal with more serious issues. The new students received their laptops, had their first CIE classes, and listened to a presentation from Drs. Lynne Edwards and Krista Hirschmann concerning how to approach the topic of sex. After an exhausting few days, the Class of 2005 was ready to begin their four years as Ursinus students. As upperclassmen can attest to, these new students were only beginning to learn. Over the course of the year, many started new clubs, joined activities and organizations, made Dean’s List, and were elected to student offices. The Class of 2005 has already begun to make its mark on Ursinus’ culture and will prove to be just as successful in the coming years.
I enjoyed doing summer research because it helped provide a strong foundation for my senior honors project.
--Kelly Rothermel, Class of 2002

Interacting with other fellows and learning about their work taught me a lot about current research issues and also a lot about myself.
--Emily Callaghan, Calss of 2002

Having two months to focus on one project over the summer allows much faster progression than does trying to complete research in the midst of a full course load during a semester.
--Dave Brown, Class of 2002

Observing the presentations of others taught me that learning is not just about research; it is also about the presentation of yourself, as well as the presentation of information.
--Leilani King, Class of 2002
Ursinus College had its largest summer research program to date in the summer of 2001. Ursinus College Summer Fellows were joined on campus by students supported by a Howard Hughes Medical Institute grant and two federal grants. The fifty-one students were actively engaged in research for eight to ten weeks, and also enjoyed lectures and discussions with their faculty mentors, as well as fun times, such as a swim party.

--Kate Goddard, Sponsor of Summer Fellows Research
Students travel from far and wide to have the Ursinus College experience first hand. These students make up an important part of the campus and diversify the student body. They bring in a different way of life that students only traveling from the tri-state area have never known. One thing that all of these students traveling far away from home agree on is that the atmosphere created at Ursinus is a lot different than what they once knew. Between the food at Wismer, the parties at Reimert, or simply doing their own laundry, life has certainly changed. These students chose to come to Ursinus for different reasons, but most agree that they wanted to break away from the only environment that they knew and learn to depend on themselves more. Rebecca Chilcoat, a senior from Nebraska, remembers her reasons for coming to Ursinus, “To expand my horizons and to know that I could survive on my own without my parents.” Kyla Mocharnuk, a freshman from Florida, chose Ursinus because of its size and small suburban setting, saying “you can really get personal attention from teachers.” Her one fear about coming to school in the Northeast...Winter! She says that she is both looking forward to it and dreading it, commenting, “It is something new so it’s good, but it will be difficult since I’m not used to it.”
In A State By Themselves—Douglas Hogoboom, a freshman from Colorado, Rebecca Chilcoat, a senior from Nebraska, and Neil Shah, a senior from Illinois all share one thing in common...they are the only students at Ursinus from their respective states. "It is really hard being away from home and I miss Colorado, but Ursinus is definitely a good change in pace, I like it a lot," remarks Douglas.

The Lone Statesman—All by himself, Jeremy Barnett, a freshman at Ursinus represents the West Coast population on campus. A small sample of students actually attend Ursinus from this region. Jeremy, one of two students from California, insists that he made the right choice in coming to Ursinus.

Foreign Friends—13 students venture all the way from Japan with the study abroad program. These students include Akiko Ogasawara, a junior, Ryo Igarashi, a sophomore, and Minako Wazumi a junior. Although Minako says getting an education is much harder in America, she thinks it is a better opportunity. "I get a chance to learn more deeply here than in Japan," she adds.
When 408 freshmen students stepped foot onto Ursinus College this fall, physical developments to the 165-acre campus were well under way.

As the seniors of the class of 2002 embark upon graduation, many still recall the physical campus changes that they encountered in their freshmen year and were similarly able to relate to the sounds of bulldozers and sight of construction workers working diligently to meet time demands. Nationally known for its academic excellence and remarkable student centeredness, Ursinus has positively strived daily in its attempts to accommodate the college's increased enrollment, technological demands, academic success, and desire to maintain the campus' natural historic beauty. This year, as students walked across campus, a newly constructed water fountain, brick walkway that links academic buildings, residence halls, the student center, and the sight of artistic sculptures provoked insightful thoughts of imagination. In late September, the opening of the Floy Lewis Bakes Field House offered an array of workout equipment, a 200-meter indoor track and indoor tennis courts which allows students to move closer towards their physical fitness goals. Many seniors remember the completion of Pfahler Hall of Science, in 1998. The renovations have allowed for additional student workspaces, and settings for faculty and students to work collaboratively in the sciences. Improvements were also made in the Wismer Center as hours were expanded, and food stations were added. Not only are the classes of 2004 and 2005 able to access internet from their own laptops supplied by the college, but all Seniors are now offered an opportunity of a full year of travel and inquiry abroad through application of the Thomas J. Watson Fellowship program. With a new dorm to open in the Summer of 2002, a new performing arts center several years away, and additional campus improvements, it’s clear that Ursinus is going the distance to help students achieve rigorous academic and personal aspirations.

Homecoming is one of the oldest traditions that are held by many schools, both college and high school. This year’s festivities started with the annual Oktoberfest, “Battle of the Bands,” held in Reimert, sponsored by USGA, on October 12, 2001. It was a time for the students of Ursinus to shine and show off the talent that they have kept hidden. There were seven bands that entered this year; it was an unforgettable time to say the least. The main events came on Saturday where the Homecoming king and queen were crowned during halftime of the football game. This year’s king and queen were Gil Cook, nominated by Upsilon Phi Delta, and Heather Potts, nominated by USGA. This was also a big day for sports teams. The Lady Bears’ Field Hockey team upset a major powerhouse, Holy Cross, in overtime, and Football battled Gettysburg for the win. Homecoming is a special time; a time to honor the alums that travel great distances to visit Ursinus from all over the world. They have come to see the new changes that have occurred since their graduation and to reunite with long-lost friends. It is a time of laughter and fun for all alumni that have made their way to a place they called home for four years.

On Saturday October 13, 2001, Ursinus welcomed alumni and their families for this traditional Fall event on campus.
Throughout 2001 and 2002, two national greek organizations made their way on campus. After a long process of student and faculty approval, Phi Kappa Sigma and its 17 brothers and Sigma Sigma Sigma, with 30 sisters, were welcomed to UC. Both groups will be officially recognized as of January 2002. At the time of their approval, the acting president of Tri Sigma was Patty Quinn and Greg Striano for Phi Kap. Bringing national greeks to Ursinus goes a long way in making the college a more recognized school across the nation as it begins to increase in size and prestige. Tri Sigma and Phi Kap also bring strong community service and leadership qualities to the campus which, along with the local greek organizations, bring UC students and the local Collegeville and Philadelphia communities together.
After almost two months of classes and possibly a few visits home, Saturday, October 20, proved to be a nice treat for student's and their families alike. The Family Day committee put much time and effort into creating a fun-filled and unique day to be enjoyed by all. The morning began with student poster presentations and a student art show in Pfahler Hall. The beautiful weather urged people to attend the Country Fair in front of BWC. Ursinus’ own Jazz Ensemble, featured in Bomberger Auditorium, helped put a memorable ending to the morning. Men's and women's sporting events were held throughout the day and the festivities closed with a delightful Candlelight Dinner for the families.

What made you come the distance?

Ursinus increased the number of incoming students, as well as international students, this year. There are fifty international students from eighteen countries around the world. They are here for a semester, a year, or all four years. They leave their homes and families, hop on a plane for more than ten hours, arrive in the States with ambitions and dreams. Ursinus becomes their home during the school year, just like it is for us. There may be cultural differences, but they all have the same reasons for traveling across the ocean and the continent. They are adventurous, they are thinking about their future, and they are making a difference in their lives. They all know the time at Ursinus is precious and priceless! They are here to experience the best years of their lives, and that's why the 'distance' is worth the travel for them!

"I am not sure exactly what made me come the 'distance,' but I sure am glad that I did."
--Rosy Bitar, Jordan

"Sometimes I think to myself, I could have had a very good education back home, but nothing on Earth could have given me what Ursinus gave me; it shaped my personality, it gave me a new Rami!!"
--Rami Musmar, Jordan

"Too many things! Some of the most important factors were: my career, infinite curiosity, and love for challenge."
--Debora Sarmento, Brazil

"Seeking knowledge and culture."
--Enrique Covarrubias, Mexico
The common room in Musser hall is where International students hang out, watch movies, and play games.

Meejee Lee and Soo Ham, both from Korea, study Calculus homework together while they munch on Korean cookies for a late night snack.

"I'm still trying to figure out the answer! I'll find it soon, otherwise, it'll be time for me to go back."
--Chaitanya Desai, India

"It's a great opportunity, sounded fun, and who really wants to stay in one place all of his life anyway?!"
--Alejandro Wilder, Peru with Takashi Torii from Japan

Choosing to leave Ursinus for one semester or even for a whole year may be a difficult and frightening decision for some; however, many UC students are enriching their academic experience by studying abroad. Studying abroad not only gives students the opportunity to take different courses not offered at Ursinus, but also allows them to expand their horizons. This year, students are immersing themselves in the cultures of France, Germany, Israel, Italy, Japan, Mexico, England, and Spain. Many of these trips include exploration of the arts, architecture, and culture of foreign countries. All in all, students who go abroad have an unforgettable experience and bring back many pictures and stories to remember their journey abroad.

Ursinus’s computing initiative is a program which began last year. Each incoming student was provided with a personal laptop computer. Originally, students were provided with IBM laptops, but after considerable reevaluation it was decided that freshmen this year would receive Dell laptops instead. The new Dell laptops were equipped with a 700 MHz processor, a hard drive of 10 GBs, 128 MB of memory, as well as interchangeable CD-ROM and floppy disk drives. Many students are pleased with the change and consider it an improvement.

All around campus, students can be seen enjoying the benefits of their own portable computers. In classrooms, many students take advantage of the laptop in keeping study notes. Students can enjoy the nice weather while doing homework. In the convenience of their own rooms, students can access information on the web and utilize many other resources included in the computer software which was provided with the laptops.
Residence Life

Welcome home to the places that house a large percent of Ursinus students. Whether it be a dorm - the Quad (where the majority of freshman are housed), BWC, a suite in Reimert, or a house on Main St. (where many upperclassmen reside), Ursinus students enjoy the comfort of rooms in which they can study, sleep, or hang with friends. All of this will be made easier with the newly built residence hall. Construction on the new residence hall on Paisley Beach has peaked interest as to what luxuries the upperclassmen of 2003 can expect. With the new residence hall opening up next year, Ursinus has the ability to welcome with open arms the freshmen class of 2006.

Top: The lawn in front of the Quad is a popular place for students to sunbathe while studying, play frisbee, and enjoy various other activities.

When starting college in 1998, the seniors had no idea how quickly time would pass. That time has taught us many important life lessons, including how to rig both the Myrin copy machine and the Quad dryers. We learned how quickly our neighbors could become our "old" friends and how a great professor could turn a boring class into an exciting journey. Ursinus has become our home, though, teaching us more than just classroom knowledge.

While we will look back on our years at UC with fond memories, we look ahead with a different perspective towards the world and life in general. Ursinus has helped us teach ourselves the fortitude and discipline necessary to go the distance.

Although Ursinus is primarily known for its tradition of scholarship and academic achievement, it goes the distance in many other facets of the collegiate life. One of the most important aspects in which Ursinus excels is clubs and organizations. Ursinus students are involved in an array of activities ranging from service to athletics. Students can find a club or an organization to fulfill any interest that they may develop. For the non-competitive athletes still looking for a physical challenge, Ursinus offers many intramural sports such as men's and women's rugby. There are also organizations for those looking to expand their global awareness and knowledge of other cultures. Many clubs at Ursinus help prepare students for post-baccalaureate work and professional schools. In addition to providing service within the community, Ursinus students often join clubs which focus on working with those with special needs as well as environment. The yearbook, newspaper, and the literary magazine provide students with an opportunity to express their creative side. With all these options, Ursinus students can have a rewarding academic career as well as a satisfying extracurricular experience.

Whether it's a Thursday night in Keigwin or Commonwealth, the Greek Picnic, the glow rush in 200, the beer crawl from Todd, or a Saturday in 702... Greeks are having fun together. Every year the brothers and sisters of Greek organizations open their arms to the new members of the Ursinus community. And when February comes around, they welcome new members into something they hold so dear. Each new class that joins the Greek community brings new meaning to brotherhood or sisterhood. However, ten years from now when they look back on their years at Ursinus, their memories of being Greek will stand out. No matter the letters, they're all Greek together.

Throughout the year, numerous organizations on campus sponsor activities for all to enjoy. These "special events" provide students with the opportunity to relax and enjoy some real fun, all entirely free of cost. The Campus Activities Board and Residence Hall Association sponsor programs throughout the year for some relief from the stress of the classroom. The Resident Assistants staff has also joined in on the weekend fun. Some of their successful weekend programs have included the "Fun Night in the Field House" and a very intense Spades Tournament. In addition to Collegeville Squares, the Dance Marathon, and the Fall Festival, students are also honored for their contribution to the school. The annual Take Back the Night raises awareness on sexual assault and is a very informative and special event. Much time and dedication is devoted by each organization that strives to provide the students with an opportunity to learn and have a good time.

Going Wild
One of the most amusing events of the afternoon was when these three guys, Dave Arvia, Brice Shirbach, and Lorid Haxhiu squared off in a pie eating contest. The lucky winner of the Ursinus t-shirt was Dave.

On Thursday, October 18, the Resident Housing Association sponsored their Fall Festival. This annual event offers lots of fun and FREE activities for the entire campus to enjoy.

Olin Plaza was festively decorated in the fall spirit and students coming out of Wismer were encouraged to stop by for a snack or to take their chances with one of the available contests.

Ursinus College t-shirts, designed by Jill Yersak, were sold for $10 to any interested customer, and the winners of the pie-eating contest and scarecrow-making contest were awarded a complimentary shirt. Over 250 candy apples were given out, and President Leigh Maggi remarked that "this was by far the most successful festival yet." She hopes the student turn-out will increase each year!
Senior Halloween Party

The annual event was held on Tuesday, October 30.

"Who you gonna call?"
These Ghostbusters - Neil Shaw, Dave Lecher, Dave Brown, and Aaron Ranck - won the Best Costume Contest.

"Happy Halloween!"
Debbie Stickney, Christy Maurer, and Natalie MacConnell showcase their costumes.

BOO!!

Sweet & Delicious...Jennifer Repetto, Amanda Busher, Stephanie Clark and Bridget Young.

Flintstones, Meet the Flintstones...Sarah Smith, Tara Lucas, Erin Cantwell and Julie Lowell.

This year's Senior Halloween Party was held at the Barn at Birchwood. Over 150 seniors dressed in their best costumes for an evening of food, fun, and scares.

The Brewsters Professional Baseball Team, Three Blind Mice, Snow White, the wicked Queen, and the Seven Dwarfs, Pooh and Piglet and Tigger, too were all spotted having a good time.
The Mario Brothers have found their princess...
As the princess serenades the handsome brothers they give a thumbs up for their hard work. Kris Morrison, Brian Sacks, Mark Sworaski.

Can you guess these girls' costumes?
Erika Darrah wishes she was a schoolgirl again. Maura Strauman jokes around as a jester. We hope Tricia Dunn won't flutter away!

Just havin' a good time...
Frank Defazio and Adrienne Lopata are all smiles at the party.

These Rockford Peaches put down their bats and gloves for a quick snapshot. Laura Share, Lynn Schwarting, Kristin Kinelski, Jessy Markowitz, Michelle Janelsins.

“Now girls...”
These school girls are ready for a good ol’ time! Tara Gore and Katie Sullivan.

Matt Tuzman wishes he only had a brain. Dave Porter leads his lost friends down the Yellow Brick Road. Matt Catania would give anything for a heart.
October 31st always seems to be an interesting night full of wacky fun. Tiny witches and devils, among various other creatures, knock on doors yelling “trick-or-treat!” On Halloween night the campus is filled with members of the community, including a few professors and other faculty members, parading their children around the residence halls to fill their little pumpkins full of yummy bubble gum and chocolate candies. At the same time, judges make their way around campus to view the decorations that residents have put up in their halls and outside the Main Street houses to compete for prizes.

Residents of Curtis 2 hand out candy to spiderman and his friends.

“Which side is up?” This creative creature has mastered the art of walking on his hands!
Main Street.

Collegeville Halloween Parade...
The Collegeville Rotary Club sponsors an annual Halloween Parade the Monday night before Halloween. All youngsters of Collegeville are invited to dress in their favorite costume and compete in their own age group for various prizes. Ursinus' Rotaract Club worked in conjunction with the Rotary members this year to provide a fun evening for the entire community.

"We're going a treasure huntn'..."
Shaina Schmettze, Will Hodge, Chris Nagle, Ryan Michaluk, and Chad Hogg.

"Ahhhh!
This guy's hair is a real shocker!!

Special Events 115
"Can you guess the secret square?" Homecoming King Gil Cook and his reigning queen Heather Potts shared the spotlight for the secret square position.

Who was the Whoopi of Ursinus? Why, it was Heather Potts and Gil Cook - two for one! The eight other squares included Dr. Engstrom, Dr. Roberts, Dr. Volkmer, Mr. Gildea, Dr. Jewell, Stephanie McNulty, Dean Nolan, and Ray Stitt. These “squares” made the night very amusing with wacky answers to the questions of MC Geoffrey Brace. The winner of each of the nine rounds picked a square and got the secret prize. Amanda Busher was the winner of the grand prize - a fifty-dollar gift certificate to the King of Prussia Mall. Other Prizes included gift certificates to Blockbuster, Redner's, Rocco's, Regal Cinema, and the Ursinus Bookstore.
Where do you go to find a combination of music, food, and sleepy people? Try the 24 hour dance marathon. December 1 - 2 from 6pm-6pm people danced their butts off in Wismer Lower Lounge. Teams of 6-12 people from all over campus raised $75 per team to participate and single entries paid $5 to dance. Although the turnout was not as good as hoped, the people that attended had a great time, thanks to the Campus Activities Board and all their hard work.

Right: Wiser Mind, one of the bands, rocks the lounge.
The band Eighteenth Hour was a crowd pleaser, entertaining the dancers for over two hours.

Ursinus alumn, Jay Wilson, dee-jayed at the marathon for some upbeat tunes.

"You are cordially invited to the annual Valentine's Day Semi-Formal, the Lorelei, to be held at the Limerick Gold Club on Friday, February 8th from 8-12 midnight. The Lorelei is a free night of food, music and dancing. Bus transportation will be provided. Come with a date or with friend!!!"

Heeding this invitation, people were dropped off at the Limerick Golf Club and quickly claimed a table for all their belongings. Next, people sought out the table with delicious food; including meatballs, small sandwiches, and deviled eggs. After dinner, people made their way to the dance floor, which filled quickly and stayed packed the entire night. The night was definitely a success thanks to the Campus Activities Board and everyone that attended.

Right: We weren't kidding when we said the dance floor was packed the entire night!!! Look at how much fun these guys are having!!!
Gee, that looks like fun, can I join?

Right: Smile! It is Valentine’s Day after all.

Put on that fancy dress and those fancy shoes of yours and let's go party! Frequently throughout the semester sororities and fraternities host dances known as "dateds." Sometimes they are open to the campus for everyone to attend and other times they are not. These nights are filled with dancing and refreshments and a whole lot of fun. It is a great opportunity to get to know the sisters and brothers of each sorority and fraternity a little better. In fact, some of these nights are dedicated to people interested in joining the Greek society. Also, alumni will often take the chance to come back to see their sisters or brothers at these times.
"PARTY!!!"

Ever heard of a beauty pageant for guys? Well, Ursinus has -- Mr. Ursinus. On Thursday February 28, thirteen of Ursinus' finest men competed against each other, first imitating a faculty member and then answering a question. Each of the contestants selected a charity prior to the competition. The winner's charity received the profits of the entrance fee, which was two dollars for the audience, as well as the money contributed by the Campus Activities Board, in which they matched the amount brought in by the audience. The night was filled with jokes and laughter as the men paraded around the stage in Wismer Lower Lounge showing off their talent and their intellect. All of the men were very talented and the decision was difficult, but the judges finally voted Matt Bunzck as the winner.
The third annual date auction, hosted by the Residence Life Staff, was held on Tuesday evening, February 12.

Ursinus' finest offered to be auctioned to the highest bidder. All proceeds from the event will benefit the Eric Altmann Trust Fund. Eric Altmann was an Ursinus alumni and graduated in the early 1980s. He suffered from a rare form of cancer, called Chondrosarcoma, and a research fund has been dedicated in his name.

Amy Scarantino and Haley Turney were the night's highest sellers; Rich Collins bought the both of them at a bargain price of $125. A total of $1264 was raised and all who participated agreed that it was a great time for a worthy cause.

Chair persons of the event, Krista Bailey and Gina Kosmalski, commented, “There was an awesome turn out this year, better than ever before, and it really showed the support of the Ursinus community.”

"I'm too sexy for my shirt!!" — Harry Michel.

Friday night, February 1 marked the beginning of New Member Education 2002. 135 total students, 93 women and 32 men, were educated by the 15 Greek organizations on campus. Sunday, February 24 was the end of the experience that no new member will ever forget!!

R espect, that's what Ursinus athletics are all about. Players like Courtney Barth (soccer) and Shearrod Duncan (football) demanded respect from their coaches, teammates, and more importantly, their opponents. Barth, named to the All-Centennial Conference 2nd Team for the second straight season again led the team in scoring with 16 points. But, her biggest accomplishment occurred towards the end of the season against when she became the leading scorer in Ursinus College women's soccer history with 58 points. A junior, her 24 goals currently tie the record for goals in a career, but she has another year to break that record. As for Duncan, he certainly made a name for himself. For starters, he was featured in Sports Illustrated "Faces in the Crowd" for his overwhelming performance this year. This season, Duncan led the nation in rushing amassing 1,747 yard. He also set a school and conference record with 23 touchdowns in a season. In addition, he broke 13 other school records allowing him to be honored as an 1st team All Centennial Conference selection. Other news about UC athletics includes the transition of the Bears Field Hockey team from DI to DIII. The drop of division will be in effect next year. The members of the team should prove to be more successful in a less rigorous competition schedule. The number one nationally ranked Ursinus Gymnastic team was led by senior captains Christina Ng and Casey Aivazian. Ng, a standout last year, predicted to significantly help out the bears this year, had been sidelined all season with a knee injury. But, teammates, Casey Aivazian and Jumaah Johnson helped boost the team's morale by holding records in different exercises.

Tim McDonald takes an opportunity to help his team get ahead by punt the ball past midfield to one of his strikers. Tim’s defense, along with teammates helped keep them in contention. Despite their efforts, the team fell to Western Maryland’s Green Terror with a 3-1 final score.
Senior Kevin Poust fights his opponent for the ball and manages to get a shot off. Kevin, according to his teammate, Jim Kappler "was one of the reasons we stayed in the tough games. He is an outstanding player and a great model for the younger players on the team. I'm definitely glad he was on our side!"

Players on the field huddled up after the goal keeper and teammate, junior B.J. Callahan was injured. "We were so pissed after what happened to B.J. that we just wanted to finish the second half strong and push them around a little," remarked senior Scott Hussey.
Season Goal:
To improve upon last year's record.

Season Highlights

- The swimming program sent more athletes to Conference Championships this year than last year.
- Four Senior women will graduate with outstanding GPA's.
- Both Men and Women have posted over 100 personal best times over the last three years.

Ursinus Heroes:

Faith Lockner: Despite a season ending injury, Faith continued to serve as a valuable and inspirational team member. Whether acting as an assistant coach, confidante, or cheerleader, Faith never failed to put the needs of the team before her own.

Denise Jaskelewicz: A four year #1 team breaststroker, and conference finalist, and three year co-captain. Consistently applied herself with great intensity and commitment.

"The Ursinus College Wrestling program has a long tradition of Academic & Athletic Excellence. The 2001-2002 wrestling team set a new standard of excellence in starting seven freshmen and winning twelve matches against national competition. The student athletic trainers dedicate an average of 600 to 700 hour per year to provide health care for the athletes of Ursinus College. In addition, they receive classroom instruction specific to evaluation and management of athletic injuries during the academic year and one summer. Many go on to become Certified Athletic Trainers, Physical Therapists, and Physicians. They are the heart of what makes our standard of sports medicine care a level above many colleges and universities.” - Kathy Wright, Assistant Athletic Trainer
The faculty and staff at Ursinus is a diverse group of individuals who do their best to ensure that students have every opportunity to go the distance in the future. Professors make the learning process interesting by combining course work with reflections on their own individual experiences in their respective fields. They do this in order to give students an overview of what life will be like when they leave Ursinus: entering the world of graduate school or the work force. The faculty and staff make themselves available outside of the classroom in order to be more accessible to students and develop personal relationships with them. Each and every one of them contributes to the friendly atmosphere on the Ursinus campus.

The Biology Department welcomed Rebecca Roberts as a new assistant professor this fall. Dr. Roberts enhanced the biochemistry and molecular biology program. Previously Dr. Roberts taught at Carleton College and conducted postdoctoral research at Harvard Medical School on a fellowship from the Cancer Research Institute.

Dr. Mohammed Yahdi joined the Mathematics and Computer Science Department this fall as an assistant professor of mathematics. Dr. Yahdi has taught at the University of Texas at El Paso and at the University of Amiens in France. The Mathematics Department was delighted at all Dr. Yahdi was able to introduce to the department this year.

Dr. Duke Pesta

This year Dr. Duke Pesta was hard at work. During the fall semester Dr. Pesta brought a new course to Ursinus in Edmund Spenser. In the spring he taught a new course in the Bible as Literature. Outside of his teaching responsibilities at Ursinus he completed a considerable amount of writing in his field.

Dr. Pesta published three articles and also delivered four conference papers on Shakespeare and his contemporaries. The honor of becoming the editor of a Book Review publication devoted to Christopher Marlowe also came Dr. Pesta’s way this year. Beyond these efforts he organize three conference panels on Christopher Marlowe and was commissioned to write and edit a new publication on Lord Byron.

Dr. Pesta was not the only member of the English Department to be very busy this year. Patricia Schroeder was offered an advance contract from the University of Illinois for her book on blues musician Robert Johnson as part of the “Music in American Life” series. Jon Volkmer had an article on Alsace printed in the Philadelphia Inquirer and was quoted in a Chronicle of Higher Education Review. The English Department had a very successful year both in and out of the classrooms of Ursinus.

Catherine Chambliss, professor of psychology, was quoted in an article entitled "Mom Bonds" featured in the Working Mother magazine. She was also featured in the article "Is Stress Hurting Your Child" which appeared in Child magazine.

Dr. Melissa Hardin spent a great deal of time coordinating and expanding the Study Abroad program here at Ursinus. Now more students than ever before are taking advantage of this program thanks to Dr. Hardin's efforts.

Dr. Leilani Garcia joined the Modern Languages Department this year as an assistant professor. A former lecturer at the University of Wisconsin, she also received both her masters and doctoral degrees there. The Modern Languages department looked forward to all that she would have to offer.

Traditionally, the advertisement section is a place to congratulate the current students, in particular, the graduating senior class. Proud parents send in baby pictures, poems, and memories of their little one who is now all grown up. Departments and teams place ads to honor their graduating seniors. Local businesses take the time to thank everyone for their support and wish everyone good luck and happiness. It is a place to keep memories alive. The staff of the Ruby 2002 would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the individuals, businesses, and departments that have contributed to the success of this publication. Without your financial support, we could not capture the memories and history of Ursinus College 2002. Best wishes to all for a wonderful summer!

Going About Your Business
To the class of 2002,

Congratulations to the Ruby staff for producing another handsome yearbook. And “well done” to all Ursinus students for making Ursinus College a place that fosters excellence, nurtures responsibility, and engenders understanding and mutual respect.

I have enjoyed getting to know you, and I look forward to continuing to root for you in the years ahead.

It seems like yesterday you were a little girl, sitting on the counter top. Now you are a young woman, on top of the world, looking at what's out there, deciding what's right for you. It has been a challenge, to say the least. You strived. You survived. Everyday, something new. Each day something learned. It has not been easy, but you endured. You have learned more about life in three years, than most would ever want to. You have stood up for what is right. Your spirit was never broken. You have learned that life is not always fair or fun. You have learned trust. You have learned truth, is not in what you say, but also in what you do. You have learned friendships are precious, and so is life.

We will never forget the lessons you've learned, the challenges you've met, the friendships you've made. We were with you, every step, Baby Girl. Remember, everything happens for a reason. It is all a part of who you are now. Three years, lots of laughter, lots of tears. You did it! We knew you would! We love you, Tabe Dayle, “58”, Phi Psi, Sable, Scandalious Lion, Cheerleader, Fitness Trainer, Kickboxer, Katie-Kritter, Nurse-to-be...

Get ready for what's next! “Roar, Roar, Roar”, “Pinkie Power”, “Olive Juice”, “You're always in our heart”, “always & forever”... we are proud of you.

Dearest Lauren,
Congratulations Sweetheart! Stand back and be proud for you have now completed yet another beautiful chapter in your life!! With each paragraph you’ve written, your genuine caring, kindness, enthusiasm, independence, hard work and service to others have made us extremely proud!!

Although the future seems uncertain, continue to go forth trusting in God and asking Him to protect you and light the way. For it is through a total focus on the Lord, and an even closer relationship with Him, that His plan will be revealed. Always remember to follow your PASSIONS and pursue what makes you HAPPIEST.

Continue to know that our love is unconditional and that we will always be here, no matter what the future holds!
