6-8-1876

Providence Independent, V. 2, No. 1, Thursday, June 8, 1876

Providence Independent

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence

Part of the American Politics Commons, Cultural History Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Independent, Providence, "Providence Independent, V. 2, No. 1, Thursday, June 8, 1876" (1876). Providence Independent Newspaper, 1875-1898. 1. https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence/1 low, it was very hard for him to lose himself in the wild, for the very next thing he thought of was the work he had been brought up to do, and for the next year or two, he was almost as preoccupied as some one who has been told for the first time that he was going to die. He was so weak, for that isn't a feeling that comes over a man all at once. It takes some time for a man who has been told he is going to die, to get used to the idea, and for him to look at the world in a different light. He was only half awake, for a little more, and his mind was not at all clear.
He was in bed, but he was not really asleep, for he was only half conscious, and it was all put aside by the changes and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was taken out of the world of work, and the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing, without a whisper of warning, without any one knowing it, and he was completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind and patient with me, and that I was very much surprised at her going on at the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone, was so kind and so gentle. She had been quite friendly, though not in the thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at breakfast, Dick Green was here, and no whirling of wheels, nothing but in vain. I went all over England for nothing. Mrs. Jones never said a word to me, and I was not sure that she wanted me to go."

That did what I wanted, though. Dick Green came in, and I said, "Is that him, or is it some one else?"

"No, it's him," she said, "but he's not very well."

"I'm sorry for him, too; for, poor fel­ men, he was as his father was, kind and gentle, and a good man. A mile of horse was his head, his feet, and his heart."

"Yes, I do feel bad about it, the poor soul."

"Well, I was thinking, suppose we had never been acquainted, and the Dorchester, and various places.
"But, you know, I'm not afraid.
It's all right, little Miss Whyte."

I told her that. I was sorry for him, too; for, poor fellow, he was selfish, and not quite right in the head. "It had been a strange and "It's true—it's true," she groaned;
"but in vain. I went all over England
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at
breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at
breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at
breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

I told her she had been very kind
and patient with me, and that I was
very much surprised at her going on at
the works, for the very next
thing she had said about it when he'd gone,
was so kind and so gentle. She had
been quite friendly, though not in the
thick-headed way. "It's all right, little Miss Whyte," she said, "we were at breakfast, Dick Green was here, and
and same place, and, to speak plainly,
and now it was as if the big, black cloud
of Learning had come in, and he was
taken out of the world of work, and
the whole place went, black, thick
and heavy. He was up and doing,
without a whisper of warning, without
any one knowing it, and he was
completely taken by surprise.

READY MADE CLOTHING IN NORRISTOWN.

All under my own supervision. First class Business suits for

Plaid $10.00

" Norsted " 12.00

" " 15.00

The finest black cloth suits for $8.00 and upwards. Spring and fall overcoats. Coats and Suits made to order. A very large stock of foreign and domestic cloth, worsted, cambric and flannel material to be had in the store. The best orders filled. A 50 guarantee. Also a large stock of Girls' and Men's suits.

HERMAN WETZEL.

100 MAIN STREET.

BOWMANS' EVANSBURG STORE.

INVIATION NO. 1.

The people of the Trooper, Freehold, Collegeville, Exeter and contiguous places are invited to inspect the following articles:

- Boots & Shoes, various styles of Men's and Women's at low prices.
- Coats and overcoats at greatly reduced prices.
- Clothing for Boys and Girls

REASONABLE PRICES.

Coats, overcoats, and clothing for Boys and Girls.

Bowman's

TRAPPE, PA.

JONAS BOYER, Proprietor.

G. W. GILBER.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

G. W. GILBER.

TRAPPE, PA.

H. W. GILBER.
SUMMARY OF NEWS.

Surprising Acres from House and Altard.

[Text about acres from houses and altars mentioned]

Man Who Saved His Wife from Poison.

[Text about a man saving his wife from poison mentioned]

Aspergilus and Its Cure.

[Text about aspergilus and its cure mentioned]

Chronic Bronchial.

[Text about chronic bronchial mentioned]