Merry Christmas

On behalf of the Board of Directors, Faculty, Officers of Administration and Students, The Alumni Journal extends to each Ursinus man and woman, wherever they may be, its most sincere wishes for a very merry Christmas and the equally sincere hope that the New Year may be the brightest and best of them all.

Thanks

While we are in such an expansive mood, we want to express our gratitude to the surprisingly many alumni who took time out to write and tell us how they liked The Journal, as well as those who told us the same thing to our faces. It is a grand feeling to be right once in a while, and it is obvious now that there was a very real demand for a magazine of this sort. Again, Thanks!

Please Remember

That this is your publication, and it can be only what you make it. The Journal is still very much in the experimental stage. Certain features will be tried out from time to time, and material will be presented in various ways. If we don’t click, we want to know it. Therefore, if you can think of a better way of presenting our material, or feel that we should do something that hasn’t yet been tried, tell us. Constructive criticism is welcome. And above all, let us know what you are doing, so that we can keep the ABOUT OURSELVES section alive, up-to-date, and interesting to all. This applies particularly to those who were graduated before 1930, since we have had to go to considerable trouble to get timely items concerning members of this group and had to be too content with second-hand information. A penny post-card will do the trick.

Congratulations and Salutations

To Wesley R. Gerges ’11, who has stepped into the breach to become president of the General Alumni Association. C. Edward Bell ’17 was elected to this office, but since he lived down in Maine and intended to travel extensively, he felt that he could not, in justice, accept the post. Therefore, Mr. Gerges, as vice-president-elect and consequent heir apparent, took over the reins, and with your help, we believe that he will accomplish something. In proof, we may mention that the first meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association over which he presided resulted in an appropriation of $300 toward the support of The Alumni Journal, the direct result of the spirit of optimism and enthusiasm which seems to pervade his administration.

Beside the General Association, there are in existence at this writing six local alumni associations, centered about Philadelphia, Lancaster, York, Reading, Allentown, and New York, which have existed for varying periods of time and with equally varying degrees of activity. Each of these holds an annual dinner meeting, generally in the late winter or spring. Each has a nucleus of loyal and interested Ursinians, who have accomplished much. Each is easily accessible to a great many more potentially loyal and interested Ursinians who seldom, or never, attend these reunions. The best attendance record compiled in recent years was that of York, which last year had over 75% of all possibilities present. This is a mark for the others to shoot at, and for York to exceed.

But they must have your help. Therefore, we are printing on the back cover of this issue a list of the officers of each local association, and giving the address of the secretary of each. Don’t wait for a notice of the meeting. Get in touch with the secretary, find out when the meeting is to be and what you can do. If you think your local association is dead, do what you can to revive it. If you didn’t know there was such a thing, find out about it. If there is no local association near you, why not organize one? Write us and we will tell you who else lives in your vicinity, so that you can get in touch with the others. The General Association and the College Administration will back you to the limit. There are enough graduates of Ursinus residing in and about Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Trenton, Wilmington, Washington, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Wilkes-Barre, and Sunbury to justify organizations in those localities. Think it over, and then do something.
A year ago in my annual report to the Board of Directors I mentioned the need of a publication that would keep the alumni informed of the problems and plans of our College. In addition to serving other good purposes, The Ursinus College Alumni Journal supplies that need.

It is the custom in some quarters to look upon alumni as a necessary nuisance, an annoying group of people whose interest in their college is unintelligent and harmful. We have heard the observation of the gloomy college president who declared that the alumni body of any college is, like Gaul, divided into three parts: those who are entirely apathetic except when they have an ax to grind, those who nurse petty grievances, and those whose interest in their college is limited to football.

This cynical observation is fortunately not applicable to the alumni of Ursinus. Our alumni are interested in Ursinus, and that interest is intelligent and helpful. We are proud of the achievements of the older alumni in the professions and in business, proud of the quality of their service to society in many fields. We are no less proud of the large number of younger alumni who are doing notable work in graduate and professional schools and elsewhere. And we are proud of the growing reputation of our College among the colleges and universities of our country. To maintain and improve the quality of work at Ursinus, the quality of our contribution to society, is the principal concern of all alumni who wish to see a greater Ursinus.

It is hardly necessary to add that the Administration welcomes the interest and suggestions of all alumni. I wish particularly to express my gratitude to the many alumni who ask me to suggest how they may help our College and further our plans for the future. With such generous and friendly help even the most troublesome problems can be solved. I welcome this opportunity to call the attention of all alumni to one very serious problem.

At present we plan no considerable increase in the number of students and no extension of the scope of our work, but we do plan to do that work even better than we have done it in the past. In order to maintain the quality of our work, upon which alone our reputation and the worth of our service to society rest, we must admit our full share of superior students. The results of the tests prepared by the American Council on Education show that for the last four years each Freshman class has been better prepared for college work than its predecessor. The effect of this steady improvement is already evident in the classroom and in the College generally. We shall, however, find it increasingly difficult to maintain this standard so long as other good colleges can and do offer to superior students more attractive scholarship grants than we can afford to offer, and so long as there are in Pennsylvania eighteen tax-supported institutions of higher learning. Figures published by the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania show that most of the Pennsylvania colleges grant more scholarship aid than Ursinus does.

The fact that the best colleges do compete for the best students is not to be deplored. This is a desirable rivalry in excellence, a rivalry which insures that the best minds will not be neglected. If the best and ablest young men and women are deprived of the best opportunities, and if these opportunities are open to second-rate and third-rate students who happen to be able to afford a college education, both college and society suffer. Neither Ursinus nor the other good colleges can permit this to occur.

During the past year the sum of $24,000 was added to our permanent scholarship funds. But these funds must be further increased if we are to maintain the quality of our work. No college, even with the best equipment and with the best Faculty, can do better work than the ability of the students permits. The Omwake Fund will help Ursinus to keep its place of eminence among the colleges by bringing us our full share of superior students. It is for this reason that I commend the Omwake Fund to the consideration of all alumni.
The College was officially opened for the 68th academic year at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 16, when the first Chapel service was held. President McClure addressed the students and faculty briefly on the subject "The Freshman and His College."

As noted elsewhere in these columns, the enrollment of 525 students is the largest in the history of the College. 173 new students were admitted, while 43 of last year's student body did not return, a much smaller number than had prevailed in recent years.

The freshmen proceeded to organize earlier than usual, and held their banquet at the Valley Forge Hotel, Norristown, on Sept. 29. Jean R. Ehlers, Springfield, Pa., is president of the Class, Emily Zoll, Riverside, N. J., vice-president, Alice Richards, Lehighton, Pa., secretary, and Nathaniel Johnson, Jr., Wildwood, N. J., treasurer.

Ursinus was host to the Southeastern District of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women on Sept. 23. Some 800 delegates attended, taxing the facilities provided to the utmost, but with the close cooperation of the District officers and College authorities, there was surprisingly little confusion.

The social season was opened on Oct. 8, when President and Mrs. McClure received the members of the Faculty and their wives at their home on Sixth Ave. The Ursinus Woman's Club held its annual tea for the freshman girls on Oct. 22, and the usual round of dormitory teas have been going on steadily all fall.

Hon. Harold G. Knight, president judge of the 39th Judicial District, who received the LL.D. degree from Ursinus last June, spoke at the first Ursinus College Forum of the current year on Sunday, Oct. 26. Judge Knight spoke upon the subject of "Juvenile Delinquency" and drew freely upon his decade of experience in administering the Montgomery County juvenile court.

\[ \text{M. W. Witmer} \]

The Class of 1938 have voted to dedicate their Ruby to Prof. Martin W. Witmer, of the Department of English. It will be the first time that he has been so honored in the seventeen years that he has served on the Ursinus Faculty. A native of Lancaster County, Prof. Witmer graduated from Franklin & Marshall College, where he served as editor of the yearbook, in 1904. He was head of the English department in Franklin and Marshall Academy for thirteen years before coming to Ursinus, where he has had charge of the work in English Rhetoric.

Dr. McClure represented the College at the inauguration of President Tyson of Muhlenberg College on Oct. 1 and 2, at the 150th Anniversary celebration of Franklin and Marshall College on Oct. 16, and at the annual meeting of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Atlantic City on Nov. 26 and 27. He spoke before the Pottstown Rotary Club on Oct. 5, at the anniversary of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church, Philadelphia, on Oct. 7, at a Masonic function in Norristown on Oct. 18, and at the Fall meeting of the Philadelphia Classis of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Spring City on Oct. 19.

Fathers' Day was held this year on Saturday, Oct. 23, with the Muhlenberg game, the Fathers' Day dinner, and a Dramatic Club production, "Night Over Taos," by Maxwell Anderson, as the features. Over 125 fathers attended the dinner. Brief speeches were made by President McClure, Dean Kline, and Eli F. Wissmer, '09, Pottstown, Pa., attorney, whose son, Eli, Jr., is a member of the Freshman Class.

As evidence that the cultural side of campus life is not being neglected, Dr. Philip has set apart a period each week when interested students may gather to hear the broadcast of the Music Appreciation hour, with Dr. Philip's comments upon the program of the day; Dr. C. D. Yost, Jr., organized a theatre party of 70 to see "Victoria Regina" during its Philadelphia run; the Music Club sponsored a similar trip for "The Three Waltzes" featuring music by the three composers Strauss; the English Club journeyed to Haverford to hear Robert Frost in a reading of his own poems; and &Phi; sponsored an exhibition of contemporary American water colors during National Art Week.

The Meistersingers, a group of selected voices under the direction of Dr. Philip, which made an excellent reputation for itself last year, opened its current season in St. James Church, Evansburg, on Sunday evening, Nov. 7. The next Sunday they sang in St. Matthew's Reformed Church, Anselma, Pa., Rev. J. Stanley Richards '17, pastor. The Meistersingers have a very creditable repertoire of both sacred and secular numbers, and are available for outside engagements. Interested parties should address Dr. W. F. Philip at the College.

The Men's Faculty Club is meeting this year on the first Wednesday of the month at the Freeland House. The following papers have been presented thus far: "French Opinion of America," by Mr. Wileox; "Practical Applications of Accounting," by Prof. Bone; "The Development of the Steam Locomotive," by Mr. Omwake.

The Curtain Club was host to the first annual one-act play contest of the Philo Dramatic League, of which it is a member, on Friday, Nov. 19. First place in the competition went to the Schuykill Valley Players, of Phoenixville, the Curtain Club entry, "The Vision at the Inn," placing second. First places in the individual contests for men and women players went to Kenneth Seagrave '39, of the Curtain Club, and Margaret Deger Eachus '33, of the Schuylkill Valley Players.

The Faculty members of the Chess Club — Drs. Clawson, Manning, Mauchly and Sibbald — have announced their intention of presenting a cup to be awarded each year to the winner of the Club's annual tournament.

OMWAKE SCHOLARSHIP FUND MAKES PROGRESS

The movement to raise a scholarship fund of $100,000 as a memorial to the late President George L. Omwake, announcement of which was made in the Summer issue of The Alumni Journal, continues to make progress. With the fund-raising efforts so far confined principally to the College community, over $11,000 has been secured to date, largely through gifts of members of the Board of Directors and the Faculty.

While the project was initiated by the Directors a year ago, Dr. Omwake's death last winter necessitated a change in both strategy and tactics, with a resultant delay in getting the movement under way. The organization is entirely non-professional, being conducted by the administration and committees of alumni and friends acting jointly, and the high-pressure features so commonly found in such efforts will not be employed. Since the back-bone of the movement lies in the 1800 living alumni of the College, this group will be the next to be approached, and accordingly a meeting of influential alumni was held following the F. & M. game to lay plans and effect a preliminary organization.

The fund will be used to set up a permanent endowment fund, the income of which shall be awarded in scholarships to students of exceptional promise. Such a fund is the College's most pressing need at the present time, and is a project which was very near to Dr. Omwake's heart.

Since the present endowed scholarships total but $130,000, the Omwake Fund, when completed, will thus almost double the scholarship resources of the College.

STORY OF URSINUS WOMAN'S CLUB

It is our intention from time to time and as space permits to publish a series of articles on the development and work of the several organizations in which the alumni have banded together to accomplish specific aims. In this issue we are happy to present the story of the Ursinus Woman's Club and the splendid work it has done.

During the first part of its existence, Ursinus was wholly a men's college, but it had a liberal charter, and when the Pennsylvania Female College, which stood at the end of Glenwood Avenue, closed its doors, Ursinus admitted two of that institution's undergraduates who wanted to complete their college course. They received their diplomas in 1884 as the first woman graduates of Ursinus. After that, there were always women enrolled in the College, very few at first, and in those days, always day students, as there was no provision for girls on the campus except seats in the classrooms.

About the turn of the century, the College opened Olevian Hall, which stood on the site of the Science Building, as a residence for women. As the number of girls increased, other houses were taken over for that purpose until at the present there are nine such residence buildings.

While the girls were housed, fed and educated, there was no provision made for sports or physical training, barring a couple of tennis courts that were chiefly monopolized by the boys.

About 1914, a number of alumni who wanted to provide for the women students of the future what they had never enjoyed themselves organized the Women's Graduate Association, which in a year or two became the Ursinus Woman's Club, admitting to membership interested women who were not graduates of the College.

The object of the Club, then and ever since, has been to work for the best interests of the Ursinus girls.

The Club's first project was to pay the salary of an instructor in physical training for women until the College was in a position to take it over and leave the Club free for other activities. By dint of much hard work and the maximum of cooperation, it paid for the plans and added $5,000 to the building fund for the projected Woman's Building, which would probably have been built by now had not the depression temporarily halted the raising of funds. Last year, when it was necessary to secure another building to accommodate the increased number of girls, and the College purchased the Fetterolf property, next door to Shreiner, the Woman's Club undertook to pay not only the purchase price but the cost of equipping the building, and has already turned over 75% of the amount needed.

Besides these main objects, the Club has always been doing things for the comfort and convenience of the girls. When the Library was built, it furnished the room set aside for the Y. W. C. A. Later on, it furnished the Day Study. Throughout the years it has bought articles of furniture for the girls' dormitories. It maintains a student loan fund for women students, offers a prize annually to the girl achieving the highest distinction in competitive sports, and provides one of the Open Scholarships for Girls awarded annually on a competitive basis. Each year, the Social Committee entertains the freshman girls in the Fall and the seniors at some other time during the year in order that they may become familiar with the work of the Club.

Membership is open not only to graduates of the College but to women anywhere who are interested in making the Ursinus girls happy and comfortable. Mothers of students are welcomed and many are on the membership rolls. Every woman who has been graduated from Ursinus particularly should be a member, and the annual dues of $1.00 are so low as to be no bar to joining. Except for sales and benefits put on from time to time by local groups, the dues are the sole source of income, and it stands to reason that the more members, the greater the effectiveness of the Club.
525 STUDENTS BREAK RECORD
23 ARE CHILDREN OF ALUMNI

For the second year in succession the College opened with an enrollment which exceeded all previous records. The total number of students enrolled, according to the Dean's report, is 525, against 505 last year. Of these, 278 are men and 247 are women, or on a percentage basis, 53% men to 47% women. The number of day students decreased by 12 to a total of 101, making a net increase in resident students of 32, which filled all the available dormitory space. In addition to the lease of the Allebach house and the reopening of Highland Hall, an account of which appeared in the first issue of The Journal, Sprakle Hall was completely renovated and is being used as a girls' dormitory for the first time in four years.

173 new students were admitted, 158 of whom are freshman, three are special students, and 12 admitted with advanced standing. 17 candidates for admission failed to pass the entrance examinations and were rejected. On the basis of the comparative tests which have been administered to each entering class for the past several years, the present freshman class is the best prepared to date. 14 members of the class were valedictorians of their respective high school classes, while 43% of those admitted stood in the upper fifth of their class.

The Chemistry-Biology (127 students), History-Social Science (117), English (90) and Business Administration (75) Groups include the largest number of students by a wide margin. The greatest increases over last year were registered by the English and Business Administration Groups, with 18% and 15% respectively.

Pennsylvania again leads geographically with 398 students, followed by New Jersey, 86; New York, 31; Massachusetts and Delaware, 3 each, and one each from Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio. The five largest Pennsylvania County representations are Montgomery (145), Philadelphia (55), Delaware (33), Berks (30) and York (22), showing that Ursinus really is popular in its home territory.

23 students now in College are children of Ursinus graduates. 32 more are brothers or sisters of alumni. There are also six pairs of sisters, four pairs of brothers, and two sets of brother and sister enrolled. The sons and daughters, with their parents, are as follows: Mark D. Alsph 40—Rev. Dr. T. A. Alsph '07; Virginia C. Beck '38—Rev. S. W. Beck, '00 ST; Dorothea D. Deininger '41—Rev. Dr. C. F. Deininger '15; Robley W. Ehret '39—Rev. Dr. H. J. Ehret '99; Mildred E. Gebhard '39—Rev. H. E. BOARD OF DIRECTORS HOLDS FALL MEETING

The Fall meeting of the Board of Directors was held at the College on Tuesday, Nov. 22, with an unusually large attendance. The two newly-elected members, Charles A. Beheley, M.D., and Irving L. Wilson, were present and took their seats for the first time. Presentation of reports by the officers of the College was the principal business of the day. A balanced budget was adopted, and the Board gave its whole-hearted support to the plan to reduce the College's debt through the sale of annuities. Another forward step was the formation of a committee to make a careful study of the College property and draw up a comprehensive plan for the development of the physical plant of the College over the next 25 years.
Fall Sports

Football

With a record of three wins, five losses and a tie, the 1937 season was far from impressive, particularly since the Bears were playing a schedule of teams pretty much in their own class.

Good defensively, only two teams being able to score more than one touchdown against them, they were woefully lacking in scoring power, accumulating 32 points for the season.

The opener against Bucknell resulted in a 21-0 loss to an admittedly stronger team, in spite of which the Grizzlies displayed more power in this game than in any which were to follow.

Renewing relations with Delaware after an eight-year lapse, Ursinus eked out a crazy 11-6 victory through the medium of Dawson’s dropkick field goal, Taxis’ touchdown, and a safety. The Bears plumed the depths against Dickinson in the next game, however, dropping the game 15-0.

The scoreless tie with Albright was an admitted upset and probably the high spot of the season. Rated as one of the best small college teams in the country, the Lions were played to a standstill and never seriously threatened. Ursinus played a strictly defensive game and did not make a single first down.

The next three games were all pretty much the same story. Muhlenberg, Drexel and F. & M., all Conference opponents, each succeeded in scoring once (F. & M. was the only team to convert the extra point), which was enough to win. In each of these games, the Grizzlies had opportunities to score but seemed unable to do anything inside the ten-yard line. As a result, Ursinus finished in the Conference cellar for the first time in a decade.

The Gettysburg game was a marked reversal of form. Playing in the mud, the Bullets scored in the first five minutes, following an intercepted pass. Ursinus retaliated by shaking loose Howard “Cottontop” Smith, our only consistent ground-gainer, for a 65-yard touchdown gallop a few moments later. Dawson dropkicked the extra point to give the Bears a lead they never lost. A third-period safety and a shorter run by Smith for his second touchdown made the final score 15-6 in favor of Ursinus.

For the second year running, P. M. C. was downed in the Thanksgiving Day contest, played in the Cadet’s stadium. This year’s score was 6-0. Ursinus passed its way to the four-yard mark early in the game, from which point Gurzynski crashed over for the winning score.

Hockey

Good hockey teams have become a tradition at Ursinus, and the season just completed ran true to form. Six games were won, against two losses, while the Grizzly lasses marked up 26 points to 7 for their opponents. The Bryn Mawr game was unfortunately rained out and a future date found impracticable. Soccer

Undefeated but tied in the seven games played, Dr. Baker’s booters enjoyed the best season of any Ursinus soccer team to date. All of the games were closely contested and were most interesting to watch. Soccer has had an uphill fight at Ursinus, and the results of the 1937 season constitute a fitting reward to Coach Baker and the boys who have worked so hard with him.
