DOCTOR OMWAKE'S official connection with Ursinus College began three years after his graduation, on completion of his graduate and professional studies at Yale, in 1901. He has held successively the positions of instructor, professor, dean, vice-president and president. During his incumbency as president, which began in 1912, the attendance has increased 148 per cent., the size of the graduating class has increased approximately 300 per cent., the faculty staff has increased over 100 per cent., the endowment has been enlarged from $210,637 to $525,000, five new buildings have been added, including complete equipment in the gymnasium and science building. The college has become widely known and is respected for the soundness of its policies and the high standard of its work.
Almost one hundred years of educational work—up from an elementary school of some thirty pupils to a first-class college of five hundred students—this is the story of Ursinus College. Thus came into existence Todd's School, opened in 1832. The school building was of stone with roughcast exterior. It stood on a spot directly opposite Superhouse—the present home of the president of the College. After having served the families of the neighborhood for some thirty years, the school was discontinued and the building removed.

A STEP UPWARD

Meanwhile a new and far more pretentious effort at education had made a successful beginning on the grounds now central in the Ursinus campus. This was Freeland Seminary, founded in 1848. Freeland Seminary was what would be called today a private secondary school for boys and young men. The field of patronage extended beyond the limits of Montgomery County. To it came earnest youth from all sections of eastern Pennsylvania. For the use of the Seminary a plot of several acres was set apart and thereon was erected a four-story stone building. Soon another building was added. These are still in use and are known respectively as Freeland and Stine halls.

Many boys received their start here who later in life became national figures in their chosen professions, and made distinct contributions in the fields of diplomacy, finance, journalism, education and military affairs. Although many of these men have passed on, Old Freeland still holds a place of great affection in the hearts of many who are still active in the affairs of life.

URSINUS COLLEGE FOUNDED

After twenty years of successful work Freeland Seminary gave place to a still higher and more elaborate educational project in Ursinus College. The institution was incorporated as such in a charter granted by the State of Pennsylvania, conferring full university privileges, in 1869. Notwithstanding the wide scope permitted in the act of incorporation, it has been the policy to adhere strictly to the college sphere of work.

Due mainly to a faculty of scholarly and experienced teachers, Ursinus College set high standards from the start and has kept abreast with the progress of higher education in this country, being classified today as a Grade A college.

Within the past year, Ursinus has been placed on the approved list of the American Colleges and Universities, which is the highest rating that an institution can have conferred upon its academic work. Its program of studies includes seven groups, each embodying a liberal education and providing preparation for a particular profession or occupation. The Physical Education Group has just been added and will provide courses of exceptional merit in this field. Regular college degrees will be given in this work and the graduate will be qualified to do certified work in the field of health and physical education in the better public and private schools.

The college emphasizes the observance of Christian principles in conduct and belief. Music is recognized as an art and as a means of culture. Physical Training is prescribed for all students and facilities provided to give attention to their health.

Russell C. "Jing" Johnson, director of athletics at Ursinus, has been serving his Alma Mater in that capacity for two years. Graduated from Ursinus in 1916, he immediately went with the Philadelphia Athletics and served on their pitching staff for the following three years. During the seasons of 1920 to 1927 he played independent baseball. Connie Mack again called him and for another two years Johnson pitched for the "A's." He later played with Baltimore and Allentown. During the seasons 1923-4-5 "Jing" did experimental and research work at the coke plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co., acting in the capacity of foreman in the by-products section.

While at Ursinus Johnson hung up an enviable record as a baseball pitcher. In 1914 he set Fordham University down with a no-hit, no-run game by the score of 4-0. He still has the original ball used in the game. Against Gettysburg he pitched the longest game ever played on an Ursinus home field, darkness calling a halt to activities after a 17-inning 1-1 tie. During the progress of the game twenty-eight men of the opposition whiffed the air for the well-known strikeout.

As director of athletics, Johnson has under his control the whole athletic system. His keen business insight and popularity make him an exceedingly valuable man on the campus. Under his careful tutelage a bright future is foreseen for the whole realm of athletics at Ursinus.

John C. McAvoy, assistant coach under R. C. Kichline last year, is a resident of Phoenixville and a product of Phoenixville High School. After spending two years at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., he matriculated to Dartmouth College in the fall of 1924. Here he played football under the excellent tutelage of Jess Hawley, being a member of the championship team of 1925 that won national recognition, boasting of such stars as McPhail, Lane, Masters and "Swede" Oberlander. McAvoy also was a star on the track team, specializing in the field events. The shot-put was his forte. He still holds the amateur shot-put championship of New England. Jack also coaches these events for the Ursinus track team. "Mac," as he is affectionately called by the team, has an inspiring personality and a thorough knowledge of the game of football. Although a relative newcomer in the game of coaching, he has already won a place of esteem in the hearts of all the loyal followers of Ursinus.

TOM EVANS

Tom Evans, the redhead from Phoenixville, is also assisting with the line and helping to instruct the punters. Playing halfback at Penn State, he had considerable experience in the game. Along with his coaching duties he is pursuing several courses in education at Ursinus.

RALPH CHASE

Ralph "Horse" Chase, the huge man-mountain from the University of Pittsburgh, played four years of intercollegiate football under none other than "Pop" Warner, and was almost unanimous choice for all-American tackle honors in 1925. He spent several years in California assisting Warner and came East last year. Because of the fact that he is taking special work at Temple University he is able to assist with the line coaching. Chase knows the duties of the linemen perfectly and is working wonders with his proteges. His joyful personality has a tonic-like effect upon the squad.

HARRY A. MILLER

Captain Harry A. "Hy" Miller is playing his third year of varsity football at Ursinus this year. A product of Glassboro, N. J., High School, he played freshmen football and the next year won a position as end on the team. Coach Ronald C. Kichline decided that Hy had brilliant prospects as a backfield man and so groomed him for that position. His ability to heave long passes, kick, and run in the open have vindicated the former coach's judgment. Last year he helped to bring the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference title to Ursinus for the first time. He is well respected and generally liked and possesses qualities of athletic leadership which are essential to any team.

Campus Song

When the shades of evening gather,
Ursinus students hie
To the soft, greenswarded campus,
For a time their books laid by;
And the parting rifts of sunlight,
As they linger soft and long,
Shed a hallowed gleam of gladness
On our merriment and song.

Now the glees of old Ursinus
Peal across the downy green—
From Memorial to Olevian,
Span the distance far between.
And the walls of dear old Freeland
The reverberations ring
From the East Wing to the Dog House,
As our voices loudly ring.

Then across the Perkiomen
The chimings wing their flight,
Till beyond the far-flung hilltops
They kiss heaven’s dome of light.
Then as if they rued their boldness
Come the trembling echoes back;
And thus end the winged praises
Of the Red, Old Gold and Black.

Code of Signals for Announcing FoulS and Scores

1. Military Salute.—Unnecessary roughness.
2. Hands on hips.—Offside.
3. Grasping of one wrist.—Holding.
4. Pushing movement of hands to front with arms hanging vertical.—Pushing or helping runner with ball.
5. Horizontal arc of either hand.—Player illegally in motion.
6. Lifting of hands in horizontal plane.—Incomplete pass, play to be replayed, missed goal, etc.
7. Folded arms.—Refusal of penalty.
8. Pushing hands forward from shoulder with hands vertical.—Interference with forward pass (also pass which touches ineligible player).
9. Waving hand behind back.—Illegal forward pass.
10. Both arms extended above head.—A score. Bringing palms of hands together after this signal indicates safety.

Penalties

LOSS OF A DOWN
Forward pass from less than five yards back or second forward pass during same play. Incomplete forward pass. Second, third or fourth incomplete or illegal pass (also five yards). Intentionally grounding pass (also fifteen yards).

LOSS OF FIVE YARDS
Request for time out more than three times during a half. Illegal delay of game by either team. Failure of substitute to report. Violation of kick-off formation. Player in motion less than five yards back. Attempts to draw opponents offside. Interference of opponents before ball is put into play. Illegal use of hands and arms by player of defensive team.

LOSS OF FIFTEEN YARDS
Substitute communicating before ball is put in play. Failure to come to stop in shift play. Intentionally grounding pass in order to save loss of yardage. Interference by passing team with player eligible for catch. Illegal use of hands and arms by player of offensive team. Roughing the kicker. Tripping, tackling runner out of bounds. Running or diving into player obviously out of the play.
