Commencement is Coming

The events of the Sixty-eighth Annual Commencement will take place this year on June 3, 4, 5 and 6, and the customary order will be followed: Class Day and the Ursinus Woman’s Club meeting on Friday, Alumni Day on Saturday, Baccalaureate on Sunday, and the Commencement itself on Monday morning. While the formal announcement will be sent to you later, we take this opportunity to extend to every graduate of Ursinus a hearty invitation to come back to the Campus at that time and to urge each and everyone who can to do so.

It is, of course, impracticable for most of you to take in all four days, but Alumni Day—June 4—is your day. The Alumni Association and the Alumni Athletic Club will hold their annual meetings. This is the anniversary year for the Classes of 1878, 1883, 1888, 1893, 1898, 1903, 1908, 1913, 1918, 1923, 1928, and 1933, and if no plans for a reunion of any of these classes have yet been laid, we suggest that someone take the initiative in each case and get things started. The alumni banquet will be held in the evening (we will air-condition the dining-room if someone will pay for it), and will be followed by the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan’s “The Mikado” by the musical organizations of the College. And all day long, of course, you can stroll around, sit on the benches or steps, and renew acquaintances, for this is the day when

“We walk the well-known paths once more
   Amid the summer’s bloom;
   We pass familiar thresholds o’er,
   And breathe the air of home.

“Fair visions rise from out the years,
   And fast the memories throng,—
   Till eyes are filled with happy tears,
   And hearts with grateful song.”

After all, there is no reason why we should not have the largest turnout ever this year. About 1,550 of our 1,800 living alumni (round figures) live within a five hour’s driving distance of the College. A thousand of them could make it in three hours or less. A good many of them don’t work on Saturday and most of the remainder could take the day off if they planned ahead. So mark the date down now, June 4, and come back for Alumni Day.

On the Back Cover

Will be found brief sketches of the nominees for the various offices in the Alumni Association. Members of the Association may find this of assistance in making their choices where they do not know the nominees personally. As in former years, there will probably be more than a little criticism because men and women of undoubted ability have not been nominated. And the answer will be the same as it has always been, that the person in question is not a member of the Association and consequently not eligible for office. To prevent this happening next year, make sure that your favorite candidate joins up—and while you are at it, make sure that you are a member yourself. One dollar, paid to the Treasurer between now and April 1 of next year, will put you in good standing.
THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

The problem of selecting students for admission to college is one of the most difficult and one of the most important problems that the administrative officers of a college are called upon to face. Carelessness or blindness in the selection of students does incalculable harm to the students themselves and to the college. The right selection of students, in accordance with a clear and understood institutional purpose, benefits not only the college that employs it but all the students so selected, the graduate and professional schools that the students may later attend, and the larger community that the college exists to serve.

Dr. Walter A. Jessup, President of The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, in his report for 1937 writes as follows:

"No institution that approaches the problem of selection sincerely can free itself from pressing questions. The president of one of the most famous of our colleges, after an examination of the resources, capacities, and ideals of the institution, said frankly that he didn't see how he could get students in numbers sufficient to operate if the institution maintained so selective an ideal. If the distinguished executive head of a richly provided college expresses doubts such as these, we need not be surprised at the compromising with ideals that goes on in weaker institutions. The president of a small college recently said, 'We know that we are accepting students who cannot do our work. We know that we are carrying these students forward to graduation. In our present situation we are under such pressure that we feel we have no other choice. Our campus morale is affected by numbers and reduction in attendance is looked upon as a slump—as though the institution were losing ground.' It is of the utmost significance that so many of the oldest and most powerful institutions in this country are directing attention anew to the importance of wisely selecting their students. The competitive pressures among institutions may become very much greater than they are at present. Fortunate will be the college that knows what it can do and that has educated its constituency to a recognition of its institutional capacities and its institutional integrity. Such a college can be confident of an honorable future."

Those alumni of Ursinus who have read the previous numbers of The Ursinus College Alumni Journal, The Reports of Officers for the last two years, and my inaugural address are familiar with the views of the administrative officers as to the scope of our work and the necessity of maintaining the quality of our work. I believe that Ursinus College knows what it can do, and that the alumni of Ursinus—and the growing constituency of Ursinus—are acquiring a fuller understanding and appreciation of the "institutional capacities" and the "institutional integrity" of Ursinus College.

In the selection of students, as in so many other matters relative to the future of Ursinus College, the administration needs the active help of the alumni.
Founders' Day

The seventieth anniversary of the initiation of the movement which resulted in the founding of Ursinus College and the sixty-ninth of its incorporation were fittingly commemorated on Wednesday, March 16. The exercises had been omitted in each of the three years preceding because of deaths in the membership of the Board of Directors.

First on the program was the regular winter meeting of the Board of Directors, which was held in the Faculty Room of the Library at 1:15 P.M., at which routine business, largely of a corporate nature, was transacted.

Following the meeting, at 2:30, the Directors, together with representatives of the Faculty and students, held a service of commemoration at the grave of Dr. J. H. A. Bomberger, founder and first president of the College, in the cemetery of Trinity Reformed Church. Donald L. Heffernich '21, vice-president of the College, spoke briefly, and a wreath was laid on the grave by Walter Bomberger '87, of Collingswood, N. J., the only surviving son of the founder.

The formal exercises, held in Bomberger Hall at three o'clock, were opened by the traditional academic procession of vested choir, Directors and Faculty. Following the invocation by Rev. John Lentz, D.D., '02, college pastor, President McClure remarked upon the significance of the occasion and then introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. Frank Pierrepoint Graves, of Albany, N. Y., President of the University of the State of New York and State Commissioner of Education, and head of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

Recalling that one of the purposes of the founders of Ursinus was to establish an institution for the training of leaders in several fields, Dr. Graves presented a clear and carefully-thought-out exposition of the fundamental philosophies governing the preparation and training of young people for leadership. In the course of his remarks, he paid high tribute to the work that Ursinus was doing as an institution of higher learning.

Two honorary degrees were conferred. Dr. Graves received the degree of Doctor of Civil Law, and the Doctor of Divinity degree was bestowed upon Rev. James Martin Niblo, rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church, Norristown, Pa., canon residentiary of the Cathedral Church of Christ, Philadelphia, world traveler and a director of the College since 1936.

The traditional family dinner was held in the dining-room at 5:30. Prof. F. I. Shedeer '22 acted as toastmaster, and responses were made by Dean Kline, Dr. Niblo, Judge Harold G. Knight, LL.D., HON. '37, and Justus Bodley, president of the Senior Class.

Christmas Events

The Christmas Season was marked in the traditional manner throughout the week preceding the vacation period.

On Monday evening, December 13, Mrs. McClure gave her annual Christmas party for the girls at her home on Sixth Avenue. Later in the evening, the Music Club presented an appropriate program in Bomberger Hall.

The customary banquet and Christmas party was held on Wednesday evening, December 15. As usual, the girls held forth in the upper dining-room while the men ate, sang and smoked downstairs. The party, held in the Gym, featured a home talent floor show which was very well received.

On Thursday evening, the traditional Candlelight Communion was held in the Chapel. The service was in charge of Dr. John Lentz and Dean W. A. Kline, with appropriate music by the College Choir. A carol service followed the communion proper, at which Rev. Paul S. Leimbach, D.D., Litt.D., of Philadelphia, spoke. Attendance at the service is purely voluntary, and it is worth noting that at the first service, held in 1929, 166 persons communed, while at the most recent one, the number reached 360, a most significant figure considering the diversity of faiths represented among the 525 students enrolled.

Speakers

Marian H. Reifsnider '17, a missionary under the American Baptist Board in Mandalay, Burma, who is home on furlough, addressed the Christian Associations on December 1, taking as her subject, "Christianity in Burma."

Mrs. George E. Pfahler, of Philadelphia, gave a very interesting talk on "Normandy and Brittany" before the Women's Student Government Association on December 6. Mrs. Pfahler, who is the wife of Dr. George E. Pfahler, HON. '30, a director of the College, has traveled extensively, and showed the girls a large number of excellent lantern slides made from pictures she had taken during her travels.

Recent speakers at the Ursinus Forum have been: Richard H. Heindel, Penfield scholar in International Law in the University of Pennsylvania, on "The Social Significance of Anglo-American Contact," December 12; William A. Stinson, Philadelphia broker, on "A Confused Business Outlook," February 13; Dr. Leslie Pinckney Hill, president, Cheyney State Teachers College, discussion of race relations, March 6.

Mrs. James Starr, an honorary alumna of Ursinus and chairman of the board of the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, gave an illustrated lecture on Sweden before the Women's Student Government Association on March 21. Mrs. Starr, who is a member of the State Commission in charge of the commemoration of the tercentenary of the Swedish settlement in Pennsylvania, which is being observed this year, spent last summer in Sweden as a guest of the Swedish Government.
Ten Mid-Year Freshmen

In accordance with the plan adopted last year, ten freshmen were admitted at the beginning of the second semester. The number enrolled last year, when the plan first became effective, was four. Students enrolled under this plan must be graduates of approved schools who stood in the upper fifth of their class, and during their first semester in college, take a concentrated schedule covering five recitations per week in English, History, and a modern language. By taking eighteen hours of work each semester, and provided they maintain an average of B or better, with no grade below C, it is possible for them to graduate in three and one-half years.

Four New Courses

Four new courses have been approved by the Faculty and will be offered for the first time next year. The first is a study of the technique of play-writing and play-production, offering practical training through the medium of student productions. Listed in the Catalogue as Public Speaking 5-6 (something of a misnomer), the course carries four semester hours’ credit and will be taught by Dr. R. S. Sibbald.

English 9-10, a course in newswriting and journalistic practice, bearing two semester hours’ credit and to be taught by Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr., will use The Ursinus Weekly as a laboratory. All members of the Weekly staff will be required to elect or audit this course.

Dr. J. W. Clawson will offer a new course in the Department of Mathematics, Math 23-24, covering the problems, material and methods of the study and teaching of mathematics. Worth four semester hours’ credit, this course is limited to students who have completed eighteen semester hours of work in mathematics.

Course 11, of one semester hour, covering the use of books, journals and reports in the field of Chemistry, will be taught by Mr. W. S. Pettit. This course is open only to third-year and fourth-year students in the Chemistry-Biology group.

"FRIENDS" GROUP AIDS LIBRARY WITH GIFTS OF BOOKS AND CASH

Although news of its organization and progress has been published from time to time in the Ursinus Weekly, many alumni do not as yet know of the existence of the organization known as the “Friends of the Ursinus Library.” A brief account of its origin and career thus far may serve to acquaint the whole alumni body with the “Friends.”

The “Friends of the Ursinus Library,” now in its second year of existence, grew out of the feeling on the part of a number of faculty members and others closely connected with Ursinus that the College Library needed more active and general support than it had been receiving in recent years and that through the concerted action of alumni and others who were particularly interested in the Library its resources could be materially strengthened and increased. Accordingly, a meeting of interested persons was held in the Library building in October of 1936, at which time officers were elected, objections stated, and minimum requirements for membership established. These preliminaries out of the way, the “Friends” set about its main business, increasing the Library.

The organization of the “Friends” is very simple. There is no constitution or by-laws. The members meet every two years to elect the officers, whose duties are to stimulate interest in the Library, secure new members, and plan projects for the work of the organization. The officers who were elected at the first meeting and who serve at the present time are: President, Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr. '30; Vice-President, Dr. Jesse S. Heige '97; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Barnes Grosser '30. Mrs. Grosser as Assistant Librarian of the College Library is an ex officio Secretary-Treasurer of the “Friends” so that the system of transferring gifts of books or money to the Library may be as direct and efficient as possible.

The requirements for membership were made equally simple. Any person, alumnus, former student, or friend of Ursinus, may become a member of the “Friends.” To keep in good standing a member must contribute at least two dollars or one book a year to the Library. It was further decided that of all contributions in money, totalling ten dollars or more, unless otherwise specified by the donor, half should be set aside in a savings account which might eventually become the beginning of a Library endowment fund.

In the eighteen months of its existence, thirty-three persons have given books or money. The total number of books received through the “Friends” is 124, and the total of cash received to date is $373.90. Of this amount, $100 was appropriated by the Alumni Association, one-half of which was placed in the endowment fund, and a like sum was given by Prof. J. Lynn Barnard for the purchase of books relating to political science. The books given by the other members, while reflecting the varied interests of the givers, were consistent in their usefulness to college work, and the balance of the cash gifts has been applied to the more pressing book needs of the Library.
WITH THE GRIZZLIES

Kellett Becomes Head Grid Tutor

Donald S. Kellett, coach of freshman athletics for the past three years, has been elected head coach of football for a three-year term, succeeding John C. McAvoy, who was not a candidate for re-election.

McAvoy's seven seasons as head coach, plus an initial year as assistant to Ronald Kiechle, gave him the longest tenure of any Ursinus coach to date. During the period he enjoyed greater than average success, the high point being reached when the Grizzlies took over Penn 7 to 6 in 1934. In recent years he had engaged in business during the off-season which increasingly demanded his time, and he notified College authorities sometime before the season ended that he would not seek re-election.

A native of Brooklyn, Kellett attended Erasmus Hall High School and Peckskill Military Academy before entering the University of Pennsylvania in 1930, where he made one of the most distinguished athletic records in the history of the University, earning major letters in football, basketball and baseball in each of the three years of varsity competition. In football, his ability as a ball-carrier, field general and master of the art of kicking easily made him the outstanding man on the three Penn teams on which he played, and won him national recognition. In 1934, he received the Class of 1915 award, given annually to that senior who most nearly approaches the ideal University of Pennsylvania athlete. Following graduation, he played with the Boston American League team and with Albany and Syracuse in the International League, retiring from organized baseball at the end of the 1936 season.

Kellett came to Ursinus in the fall of 1935 as freshman coach, and has had a successful career, particularly demonstrating the knack of getting the most out of the material available. In three seasons, his yearling football teams have not lost a game, and his basketball teams have performed creditably. He will continue to coach the freshman courtmen and to assist Jing Johnson in baseball. Jing, in formally announcing the appointment, stated: "In the three years that he has been with us at Ursinus, Mr. Kellett has amply demonstrated his ability as a teacher of the game, as a leader, and as a builder of morale. He has earned the respect and confidence of the players, the other students, and of his associates, and his appointment as head coach, for which he was the logical candidate and unanimous choice, comes as a well-deserved promotion."

At the same time, announcement was made that Pete Stevens, line coach for the past three seasons, would continue in that capacity, and that Sieber Ponce '37, varsity center for three seasons, would serve as an additional assistant.

Captains Elected

Fred G. Todt, junior from Audubon, N. J., will captain the 1938 football team by vote of the lettermen. Todt played guard as a sophomore, earning a starting berth, and was shifted to tackle last season, starring at both positions. The choice was unanimous. Alfred C. Bartholomew '39 was elected manager; William C. Ellenbogen '39, associate manager, and James C. Lyons '40 and Edward B. Thompson '40, assistants.

Robert A. LeCron '39 was elected captain of soccer for 1938. LeCron starred at outside right on last season's undefeated team. His home is in Drexel Hill, Pa. Robert G. Gross '39, of Reading, Pa., will serve as manager.

George M. Meklos '39, of Philadelphia, Pa., heads the 1939 wrestling team. Meklos, who also plays guard on the football team, grapples in the 155-pound class, in which he won the Middle Atlantic championship in 1937.

The basketball team shattered precedent by not electing a captain. Instead, an acting captain will be chosen for each game and a permanent captain elected at the close of the season. There is a strong sentiment for the adoption of this practice in all major sports, and it is probable that the Varsity Club will make such a recommendation to the Athletic Council in the near future. The courtmen elected Paul P. Haas '39 as varsity manager and William E. Wimer '39 as freshman manager.

Girls' Basketball

As usual, the girls' court team had a very successful season, winning seven games, losing two, and tying one. Coach Eleanor Snell has made winning teams sort of a tradition in her seven seasons at Ursinus, but the fact that victory is somewhat taken for granted does not detract from the splendid showing that the girls made.

The season opened badly, the first two games being lost to Swarthmore and Rosemont. The team was handicapped, however, by the illness of both Miss Snell and several players, and the necessity of filling two key positions left open by graduation.

After mid-years, the girls found themselves, and triumphed by increasingly overwhelming scores over New College of Columbia University, Bryn Mawr, Moravian, Drexel, Penn and Mt. St. Joseph's, with a tie game with Beaver as an interlude. The season was concluded in a blaze of glory as an undefeated Temple team went down under a 35-20 score.

Wrestling

The results of the 1938 wrestling season are somewhat of an oddity. The team failed to win a dual meet, yet took second place in the Middle Atlantic Tournament, held this year at Gettysburg, and in doing so, out-pointed two teams to whom the Grizzlies had lost in dual competition.

Coach Pete Stevens was faced with the perennial problem of having to fill several positions with inexperienced men, which was further complicated by the fact that all three competitors in the 126-pound class became ineligible after mid-years, making it necessary to default in this class. The five points thus automatically given the opposition would have meant victory for the Bears in two meets.

The boys did, however, make a creditable showing in the Middle Atlantic. Captain Hayashi, Steinmetz and Astheimer were crowned champions of the 118, 165 and 175-pound classes, respectively; Grove took second in the 145-pound division, and Meklos and Knoll were third in the 145-pound and heavyweight ratings.

Varsity Basketball

Racking up six victories against eight defeats, the Ursinus basketball team closed a season good in the light of those that had immediately preceded it, but somewhat disappointing to those of its followers who had expected more. The Bears got out of their perennial place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference cellar, but had to be content with fifth place in the seven-team loop.

The Bears started off with a bang, taking over Gettysburg, who won the League championship, in the first game, and then coming from behind in the last five minutes to hand Swarthmore one of its four defeats. They lost to Albright in a game marked by dirty playing, but came back after mid-years to trounce Lebanon Valley.

With only one senior and one junior on the squad, the team went the way of most sophomore combinations and hit a most disastrous slump, losing to F. & M., Villanova, Muhlenberg and Lebanon Valley in succession. They came back for a moment to gain revenge over Albright, but dropped the second encounter with Muhlenberg, the only League team to beat the Bears twice, and hit bottom with a decisive loss to the tail-end Drexel Dragons. Then the worm turned. F. & M. was crushed on its home floor, Gettysburg was given an awful run for its money and Drexel was soundly licked in the closing game.

The freshman team won only one game. The Cubs were somewhat short of good material and did not really learn to work together until the season was practically over; while they showed flashes of brilliance, they were seldom capable of a sustained performance.

SPRING SPORTS

Very little of a definite nature can be said about the prospects for the spring sports as this is written. Bad weather has made tennis impossible, track work imprudent, and confined baseball to battery workouts in the Gym. The degree of success to be attained in all the sports apparently will depend almost entirely upon how the sophomore material turns out, graduation having taken a heavy toll.

The schedules for the several sports are published below for the benefit of alumni who may wish to take in the games played in their vicinity.

Deaths
Lareta Ogden Scheuren '12 died at her home in Collegeville on January 19. Over a year previously she had been stricken with a complication of diseases and had been in a most precarious condition for many months. During the Fall, however, she seemed on the road to recovery, but finally contracted a case of pneumonia which could not be overcome. Her father, F. W. Scheuren, known to many alumni, her sister, Florence M. Scheuren '14, a teacher in the Central High School, Trenton, N. J., and a brother, Clarence W. Scheuren '17, postmaster of Collegeville, survive.

Miss Scheuren had spent her entire active life in the teaching profession, and at the time of her death was Dean of Girls in the Coatesville, Pa., High School. She had also pursued graduate studies in Columbia University, the University of Pennsylvania, and Oxford University, England.

Mrs. Helena Schulze Baden, widow of Prof. William Wilson Baden, Ph.D., died at her home in Los Angeles, California, on February 21. Dr. Baden joined the Ursinus Faculty in 1914 as professor of modern languages, transferring to the chair of Greek and Spanish in 1920, which he filled until his death in 1924. She is survived by two sons, William Wilson Baden, Jr., '19, of Malba, Long Island, copywriter for the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., and Siegfried C. Baden '23, who is a sound engineer for the United Artists in Los Angeles.

Garrett E. Brownback, a member of the Board of Directors of the College from 1911 to 1916, died at his home in Linfield, Pa., March 19, aged 91. Mr. Brownback had been actively engaged in the creamery business until his retirement ten years ago, and had been connected with a number of other business enterprises.

Charles F. Kint, HON. '26, was instantly killed on March 19 when he sustained a heart attack and fell down a stairwell while attending a dinner at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia. He had been connected with the John C. Winston Company, publishers, of Philadelphia, for 50 years, having been president of the concern since 1920. Mr. Kint, who was 67, received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Ursinus in 1926, and was elected a member of the Board of Directors last June but was prevented from serving by order of his physician.

Marriages
Nov. 20—Rev. Richard E. Shaffer '34, and Anna Mae Nace, in Christ Church, Jefferson, Pa. Living in East Berlin, Pa., where the groom is pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed church.
