GEORGE L. OMWAKE, LL. D., President

To the Fathers of Ursinus Students—

Greeting:

We cordially welcome you today to our campus. Especially are we pleased to have you see our football team in action. Whether or not the game is won by Ursinus you will see, on the part of our team, sportsmanship at its best. In athletics, as in all other activities, our aim is to excel, never sacrificing our honor and ever maintaining the fair reputation of Ursinus. We are assured that in this contest as in every other, you will find pride and satisfaction in the practical exemplification of these ideals.

TODAY'S GAME

Strangely enough when the opening whistle blows this afternoon Gettysburg will be starting its first Conference game; Ursinus will be playing the fourth and last game of its Conference schedule. A victory for Ursinus will mean that it will have completed, undefeated, its Conference schedule. The Bears will, therefore, be sure of at least a tie for first place with an excellent chance for the undisputed championship of the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference, the title that it has held for the past two successive seasons. On the other hand, a win for the Battlefield boys will earn for them the esteem of a serious title contender—besides other things.

Thus far this season both teams have played four games each. However, the Collegeville Bears have, judging by these performances, a more impressive record. Jack McAvoy's charges have two victories to their credit, one tie game and one defeat. The one brevity of the Ursinusites was administered to the hardy Villanova eleven; this was the opening game of the season for the Bears. Following this game the Bears were destined, by the various sports writers, for a very poor season. Despite these predictions the fighting Grizzlies showed a different brand of football in their following games. The Ursinus boys found no trouble in defeating Dickinson and F. and M. on successive Saturdays. With these two Conference victories under its belt the Grizzly team last Saturday traveled to Allentown to be forced to a stalemate by the Muhlenberg College aggregation.

Gettysburg, to date, has met only one of the teams that Ursinus has played—Villanova. If comparative scores mean anything, the Bear squad was 7 points better than the bullets at Villanova. However, this game was three weeks ago. Since then the Battlefield lads have encountered and defeated both Swarthmore and Mt. St. Mary's; Gettysburg held her opponents scoreless in both these tilts. In the other game played by the Bullets they lost a hard-luck game to Juniata; the score was 3-2.

In the fall of 1929, Gettysburg came to Collegeville, a well heralded organization and highly favored as the victor over Ursinus. The Bullets were going great guns that season; Villanova was one of their victims that year; Bucknell conquered the Gettysburg team by a scant margin. So, it is easy to understand why our favorite football prophets were upset when the Grizzlies defeated the Bullets by a 13-0 score.

One year ago Ursinus had been undefeated and untied till the time of the Gettysburg game. Naturally, the Bears were the pre-game favorites. The Grizzlies, however, did play their usual good brand of ball, but were surprised by a sturdy Gettysburg team. The final score of that classic fray at Gettysburg was 6-6.

With the performance of recent years to consider, a prediction of today's game would by all means be out of place. Whereas, we of Ursinus are hopeful and feel confident of our team, we wish you lots of luck, Gettysburg; and, as should be, may the best team win!

COACHES HAVE COMMON INTEREST

Strange as it may seem one might say that today's opposing coaches received their start at the same school. Back in 1922 tales came from Phoenixville High School football followers of one, Jack McAvoy, who was making a name for himself in scholastic ranks. Thus we have the beginning of the gridiron career of our head coach. While "Mac" was up at Dartmouth, making a name for himself and giving the folks back home something to talk about, the high school got a new coach, a young chap just out of college by name of Henry Bream. In the two short years "Hen" was at the little "ircntown" school, he produced probably the best teams of which they have ever boasted. When he then went back to his Alma Mater he took several of his boys with him, two of whom will be seen cavorting about the field today, "Joe" Olgiezick, quarterback, and "Larry" Morris, the ace of his ball testers.

Today both coaches look back upon their connections with the same school with pride, follow the fortunes of the teams, and think of it as the place where they received their start in football careers. The same team calls them both "Our Boy."

PAST G-BURG URSINUS GAMES

In the past years, the Bullets, in their series with the Bears, have held the edge, winning seven of the twelve games played, and stalemating two more. We must admit, too, that several of their victories were by decisive scores as one sees by glancing at the results below. Followers of the Bears, however, need not be annoyed by these statistics, for in recent years the Red, Old Gold and Black has not been lowered. Two years ago, here on Patterson Field, Ursinus defeated that great battlefield team which set Villanova down by a 3-0 score, 13 to 0, giving the Bears their first Conference championship. Last season we saw two great teams battle to a 6-6 deadlock, each pushing over a touchdown with neither being able to convert the try for the extra point.

In the past Ursinus has won but three games from G-Burg. In the past two seasons, though, she has a win and a tie, proving followers of the Bears say, that the reign of superiority of the Bullets is broken, that the Red, Old Gold and Black are now the colors of the victors. We shall see.

Just one hundred years ago, the present site of Ursinus College was first consecrated as an educational center. It was in 1832 that the Todd School, a private school, was founded on these grounds to serve as a country day school for the youngsters in and about the locality that is now Collegeville. From that humble beginning, progressing on a conservative basis, the physical origin of the present Ursinus College was laid.

In 1848, another milestone toward the Ursinus of today was marked in the founding of Freeland Seminary, a preparatory boarding school for boys. The Seminary, located at the site of what is now Freeland Hall, was one of the outstanding preparatory schools of its day in Eastern Pennsylvania. Many prominent men of the past generation, especially in the Philadelphia area, looked back with reverence upon Old Freeland as their Alma Mater.
In 1869, a state charter incorporating Ursinus College as an institution of higher learning was granted. Those who were granted the charter were a group of eminent Philadelphians. They chose this beauty spot of Montgomery County as the location for their proposed college, only after a highly discriminating search for such an ideal site.

With the inception of higher education in Collegeville, great strides in the development of the institution followed. Ursinus became tolerant to co-education in the early eighties. The rapid expansion of the College necessitated larger building facilities. This resulted in the construction of Bomberger Hall, the present arts building, in 1891. This building, for many years, was the home of all classroom instruction in Ursinus Academy as well as Ursinus College. The former, the preparatory section of the institution, was abolished in 1910.

However, since the inauguration of Dr. Omwake as president of the College in 1914, Ursinus has witnessed its most intensive growth. Since that date the student body has more than doubled in number. During his administration the Memorial Library was erected. In 1927, the two very up-to-date men's dormitories, Curtis and Brodbeck, were built. This physical expansion was fittingly climaxed by the construction of the Science Building, which was only recently completed.

It is not her buildings that are Ursinus' greatest boast as a College. Ursinus has earned the classification of a grade A college. In addition to that, within the past few years the Collegeville institution has been placed on the approved list of American Colleges and Universities—a worthy ideal for any college to seek or attain.

URSINUS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
RUSSELL "JING" JOHNSON

Three years ago, Russell "Jing" Johnson came back to his Alma Mater to take up the duties of director of athletics. While at Ursinus he made quite a record for himself as a pitcher. Among his more notable achievements, one might mention his no-hit game against Fordham, or perhaps the seventeen inning game against Gettysburg, in which no less than twenty-eight opposing batsmen were fanned, before activities were called to a halt on account of darkness.

After leaving here at graduation, he went directly to the Philadelphia Athletics, pitching for that team for the following three years. After seven years of independent ball, during which time he worked in the research laboratories of Bethlehem Steel Co., he again answered the call of the game, and went back to the A's, pitching two more seasons for Connie Mack before giving up active competition.

As director of athletics, "Jing" has control of the entire athletic system. His keen business insight and widespread popularity make him an exceedingly well fitted man for the position. Under his guidance, athletics at Ursinus have been given their proper place in the school's activities. He has instilled in the teams and in the student body the regard and spirit he himself has for "the game," to play hard, play to win, but first of all, play square.

Under his guidance, and with such a spirit, one sees a bright future for the whole realm of athletics at Ursinus.

In "Larry" Morris, a Phoenixville boy, Gettysburg has a ball toter who is something of a triple threat man. Remember when the up-state boys defeated Villanova 3-0. It was Morris' drop kick that did the trick. This, his last, has been a big year so far for Larry, as he has been keeping opponents on their toes every moment not knowing whether he would kick, pass, or run the ball. And we must give him all the more credit when we remember that he is handicapped by an arm injury of long standing. A hard hitting back who plays under a handicap, yet asks no quarter, and a distinguished campus leader, it is no wonder that the followers of the Bullets are rooting for number 22. Keep an eye on him.

When J. W. (Bull) Stoner, leader of the Bullets, who hails from Lemaster, Pa., comes on the field today to say whether it will be "heads or tails" he will greet another Perkiomen Prep boy who has made good. A smashing guard, playing a great game this season and picked for the a post on the mythical All-state eleven, he is the mainstay of the Gettysburg line. Just as the Bears look to Captain Paul to show them the way, so do the Bullets follow the lead of Stoner. This is the third time these friendly enemies have opposed each other, and with honors about even each will try to outdo the other in today's battle. Watch the work of the Gettysburg line and you will see "Bull" pepping up his teammates and getting his man.

Ralph Chase who, in 1925, was practically Pitt's one-man forward wall, is coaching the line for the second year. "Horse" has had an interesting and checkered career. He entered the University of Pittsburgh disguised as a basket-ball player, and emerged as an all-American tackle. Mr. Chase learned his football under Warner while in college, and later assisted the famous strategist at California. For two years he has combined the technical excellence of "Pop" with his own rugged style and pleasant personality. The result is an Ursinus line that is fully capable of either opening or closing the path of the pigskin, as the case may be.

Proving the story of good things in small packages, Ursinus went over the hill to Phoenixville to find head-coach McAvoy. And what a find he turned out to be! Jack played on Dartmouth's national championship eleven in 1925 and was prominently mentioned for individual all-American honors. He also starred in track and field work at Hanover, holding several amateur records in this line. "Mac" has been with us for three years, two as head-coach. He has impressed all those who have come in contact with him as being a pastmaster in the theory and practice of football and one able put them across to his men in an effective and agreeable way.

The little fellow on the opposite page is Donald Sterner, '31, who coaches the Frosh teams. After three years of varsity experience in all three sports, in which he was so proficient as to win the president's award for excelling in athletics, he was appointed to his present position. His best team to date was baseball last spring, the Frosh being undefeated. This fall, having a good squad of big, husky boys, he says he is going to have a team that will stop, or make progress, depending upon whom has the ball, and one well able to uphold the traditions of Ursinus.

CAPT. PAUL—End

Alvin Paul, familiarly known as "Swede," Ursinus' star left end, is one of the greatest all-around athletes to wear the color of the Red, Old Gold and Black. Besides football, of which team he is captain, he plays either center or guard in basketball, and is so proficient in the high and broad jumps as to have been elected captain of the track team in his junior year. It is football, however, that claims his major interest. A fast thinking, hard playing end, he is equally adept at receiving or blocking passes, and at making or blocking holes in the line as the case may be. His playing last year against Lehigh, won him a place on their all-opponent team, the other end being Paul Riblett, captain of Penn.

Paul's home is in Elkins Park, suburban Philadelphia. From local schools he went to Perkiomen Prep, thence to Ursinus, where he is a senior in the business administration group.

Well respected and well liked, he possesses the qualities of athletic leadership which are essential for the success of any team.

Letter Men in 1931.
BREAM—Head Coach

“Local boy makes good” might well be applied to “Hen” Bream, G-Burg’s head coach. A native of Gettysburg and a graduate of the college in the class of ’24, he has returned to his Alma Mater in the role of a successful coach. And he is a local boy in more ways than one. His first experience was gained at Phoenixville, but a few miles from here, where he had charge of all the athletic teams. So successful was he that in two years he was back at G-Burg, first as freshman coach, and then in his present position.

We can judge the affection his men have for him when we remember that many of his school boys followed him to the battlefield college, his ability when we realize that he has given his College three conference championships.

FRANK—Line Coach

When “Hen” Bream became head coach, his first task was to secure an assistant who could develop the linemen while he worked with the backs. And here is where “Haps” Frank comes in. A resident of Harrisburg and a graduate of Penn State, he first coached at Dickinson College but went to Gettysburg in his present position under Bream in 1927. For the past five years he had been imparting to the forwards his vast knowledge of the game in his own rugged manner. The result is the famous lines of the battlefield college, which, year after year, is well able to lead or stop the ball-carrier which ever is their job at the time.

Nov. 5—U. vs. Drexel—Home
Nov. 12—U. vs. Swarthmore—Away
Nov. 24—U. vs. Albright—Away
(Thanksgiving Day)
MAYBE YOU DON’T KNOW IT, BUT—

“Reverend Lew” Mitchell, tackle, officiated at a burial service and then, an hour later, was in the Ursinus line-up against Muhlenberg.

Lodge and Breisch played their first game of football after entering Ursinus.

“Swede” Paul and “Bull” Stoner, opposing captains, were teammates at Perkiomen School.

Jack Eachus can perform creditably in any position in any of the three major sports.

Tropp is our man of many names. His freshman year he was the “Freshman Foundling.” When he made the varsity the next season he became the “Sophomore Sensation,” the “Masked Marvel” and “Tiger-man-from-Mars.” So far this year he has been called the “Jittering Junior Juggernaut” and more recently “Snake Hips.”

The two Levins on the team are both tackles, but not relations.

The Price twins are one of the few Brother acts in college football this year.

Quarterback Olkewicz, of G’burg, and Quarterback Shuman, of Ursinus, were roommates at Wenonah Military Academy.

Bill Lawrence, center, was All-state selection in three sports while at North Plainfield High School.

More than half of the Ursinus football squad will not be old enough to vote in the coming election.

The gross weight of the five heaviest men on the Ursinus team is exactly one-half ton.

LOYALTY SONG

Fair Gettysburg, our Alma Mater,
Hear us praise thy name.
We'll ever lend our hearts and hands
To help increase thy fame.
The honor of old Gettysburg
Calls forth our loyalty.
So, cheer (Rah! Rah!) old G—Burg's bullets
On to fight for victory.

O GETTYSBURG!

Rah, Rah, Gettysburg—ia,
Rah for the Orange and the Blue,
Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah-ah;
Rah for the Orange and the Blue.
O Gettysburg, O Gettysburg!
Come let us whisper in your ear,
Shove that ball down the old gridiron,
For you we'll cheer.
Sweeter than the baseball memories,
Are these football victories!
We will sing and cheer for thee,
Gettys-Gettys-Gettys-Gettysburg.

We are here to cheer for Gettysburg
Whose sons we're proud to be;
We are here to cheer for Gettysburg
To win a victory.

Our boys will fight it through.
So again we'll cheer for Gettysburg,
For the Orange and the Blue.

MARCHING SONG

Onward we march with banners flying,
Eager to win another fray;
Bearing our colors high,
Ready to do or die,
Fighting with our team in every play;
Fight on!

Forward we go to one more victory
For the glorious Orange and the Blue;
In our plucky team
We have faith supreme;
We are true, Gettysburg, to you;
March on!

FOOTBALL’S ANSWER

They reform me each new season
As they point to each new fault,
And their hands are turned against me
As they crowd me to the vault.
But amid the growing clamor,
They still know around the clan,
I'm the soul of college spirit
And the maker of a man.

0, I know I'm far from perfect
When the autumn leaves turn red,
When the tackle's neck is furrowed
By the halfback's heavy tread;
But you hear them still admitting
As they put me on the pan,
"He's the soul of college spirit,
And the maker of a man."

Perhaps I'm over-featured
In the headline's stirring plea.
Perhaps I'm more important
Than a mere game ought to be;
But with all the sins they speak of,
And the list is quite a span,
I'm the soul of college spirit
And the maker of a man.

CAMPUS SONG

When the shades of evening gather, Ursinus students hie To the soft, greenswarded campus, For a time their books lay by; And the parting rifts of sunlight, As they linger soft and long, Shed a hallowed gleam of gladness On our merriment and song.

Now the glee of Old Ursinus Peal across the downy green, From Memorial to Olevian Span the distance far between. And the walls of dear old Freeland The reverberations fling, From the East Wing to the Dog House, As our voices loudly ring.

Then across the Perkiomen The chimings wing their flight, Till beyond the far-flung hilltops They kiss Heaven’s dome of light. Then as if they rued their boldness Come the trembling echoes back; And thus end the winged praises Of the Red, Old Gold and Black.

ALMA MATER

Words by Gilbert, ’22 — Music by Reinartz, ’24

As softly the evening shadows Are veiling the campus towers, We come, a band of good fellows, To sing, in the twilight hours; The silvery moonlight mantles The worn walls of Chapel anew; The wind in the trees sweetly echoes Our praises of Orange and Blue.

Whenever thy loyal sons gather, To waken fond memory, Our thoughts shall be turned Alma Mater, Old Gettysburg back to thee; Forever am I thy debtor, And whatever else I may do, I’ll love, I’ll Defend, and I’ll Honor The glories Orange and Blue.
