UNITED STATES SENATE,

Washington, D. C., March 18th, 1897.

(Personal)

Hon. John Sherman,
Secretary of State,

My dear Mr. Secretary:-

Pardon me for again calling your attention to a case of personal interest, that of young Huntington Wilson, who seeks the place of second secretary to the Ambassador to France.

I cannot tell you how anxious I am to be of use to the young man. He is a true American boy of the first type.

Won't you kindly speak to Mr. Porter or to the President in his behalf?/

Very respectfully,

Wm. E. Mason.

I have no doubt Mr. Wilson would discharge the duties of the position admirably and, if it is agreeable to Gen. Porter, I hope he may be appointed.

John C. Spooner.
