REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Chicago, Ill., March 30th, 1897.

To the President:

I take pleasure in endorsing the candidacy of Mr. Huntington Wilson for Second Secretary of the Legation at London, England.

Mr. Wilson is a young man of fine ability and address. He is also a gentleman of integrity and I think would make a creditable representative in every way.

With great respect,

Charles G. Dawes.

I cheerfully concur in the above recommendation.

John McNulta.
