Thursday, Sept. 6, 1883.

On Tuesday, Williamsburg, the Queen of the Western World, was deserted by its usual crowd of pleasure-seekers and summer residents. The closure of the Bath House and the departure of the Royal Palace to New Orleans.

The Republicans on this occasion of the closing of the Bath House, were not averse to the idea of going to New Orleans, when their party was in the majority. They were, however, unwilling to leave Williamsburg for the purpose of the trip, and as a result the Bath House was closed at 11 o'clock on Tuesday, September 12, when the number of visitors present was not more than a few hundred.

Gardner, W. H. R. Dean of the Illinois delegation, who was present when the closing of the Bath House was announced, was not at all pleased with the manner in which the announcement was made. The most prominent feature of the closing of the Bath House was the fact that it was done in a hasty and impromptu manner, and with little or no regard to the wishes of the majority of the visitors present.

In his remarks to the press, Mr. Gardner said that the closing of the Bath House was a sad day for the city of Williamsburg, and that it was a day which would be long remembered by the people of the city.

The French and the Crown.

The events of the past few days have brought about a change in the political situation of the French Republic. The government, under the leadership of General Hartranft, has been overthrown by a revolution, and the French people have established a new government, in the form of a republic.

The French Republic is now a republic, and the government is in the hands of the people. The people have chosen a new government, and they have chosen a government which is in the hands of the people.

The French Republic is now a republic, and the government is in the hands of the people.

HOME AND AGRICULTURE.

Although Monday was the last day of the Democratic state conventions, the nomination business is not yet concluded.

Two week before the Northern States convention adjourned, the old isaac's Ford Bridge near Ivyland was taken down and a new one erected in its place in accordance with the order of the county commissioners.

The work on the bridge was commenced last Monday, and completed in one week. The new bridge is a strong and substantial one, and will be a great improvement on the old one.

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Society held its annual fair and exhibition at the Agricultural Hall in Harrisburg, on the 4th and 5th of this month, and a large number of farmers and their families attended.

The exhibits consisted of stock, fruit, vegetables, and various kinds of agricultural products, and were arranged in a very neat and systematic manner. The exhibits were inspected by a committee of judges, who awarded prizes for the best specimens in each class.

The Society's annual dinner was held on the evening of the 5th, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, and was attended by a large number of farmers and their families. The dinner was a very pleasant one, and was well served.

CHARITIES AND RELIGION.

The annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Society for the Promotion of Industry and Agriculture was held in this city on the 5th. The meeting was well attended, and a large number of farmers and their families were present.

The business of the society was transacted, and the officers of the society were elected for the ensuing year.

The society's annual dinner was held on the evening of the 6th, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, and was attended by a large number of farmers and their families. The dinner was a very pleasant one, and was well served.

The society's annual fair and exhibition will be held in this city on the 6th and 7th of next month.
How to Prolong Life

For Ladies and Gentlemen.

The cures taken this summer have been so remarkably successful, and have shown the effects of the patent treatment so clearly, that the time has now arrived when it is desirable to publish the results. The results can be best seen by the following extracts from letters written by patients:

Mrs. J. B., of New York, says: "I was taken with Kidney trouble last winter, but have been very much better since using your remedy.
I am now enjoying perfect health.

Mr. J. S., of Boston, says: "I was suffering from a chronic complaint, but have been completely cured by your remedy.
I am now enjoying perfect health.

Mrs. J. R., of Philadelphia, says: "I was suffering from a chronic complaint, but have been completely cured by your remedy.
I am now enjoying perfect health.

The patent remedy is sold at all leading pharmacies, and is guaranteed to cure all diseases of an inflammatory nature.
