For over one hundred years the business has been conducted in accordance with the same principles as those which have been the basis of its success. The present management are conducting the business in the same manner as their predecessors, and the only changes that have been made are those which are necessary to keep up with the times.

The store is located on the corner of Main and Market Streets, and is one of the most prominent and well-known buildings in the city. It is a three-story structure, built of fine brick, and is handsomely ornamented with large windows and a beautiful cornice. The interior is carpeted with the best grade of cloth, and the rooms are light and airy, with ample space for the display of merchandise.

The business is conducted by a board of directors, consisting of Messrs. A. B. Smith, John A. Brown, and John H. Black. They are all men of experience and ability, and are well known throughout the city.

The store is open every day of the week, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and is closed on Sunday.

COLLEGEVILLE FOR TWO YEARS

The college has continued to flourish under the able management of its present president, Dr. N. S. Borneman, and the contributions of the students have been of the highest order.

The college has now reached a point where it can vie with the best in the country in all branches of learning. It has a large and well-equipped library, and the faculty is composed of men of ability and learning.

The college is open to all students, regardless of race, color, or creed, and is conducted according to the principles of the Christian faith.

The college is located on a beautiful and healthful campus, and is surrounded by a pleasant and picturesque country.

The college offers a wide range of courses, including classical, scientific, and practical subjects.

The college is supported by a large endowment, and is financed by contributions from alumni and friends of the institution.

The college is open to all students, and the tuition is moderate, making it possible for anyone to obtain an education.

The college is now in full swing, and all are invited to attend and participate.

MAE'S SACRIFICE

If the mother of all hopes and all loves is life, if one of its greatest and most sacred tasks is to know to love, she was Mae Lisbon in all the beauty and glory of the human heart.

She was beautiful, she was good, she was pure. Her heart was tender and kind, and her mind was clear and bright. She was the embodiment of all that is lovely in human nature, and she was loved by all who knew her.

But, alas, it was not to be. A great and terrible thing happened, and Mae Lisbon was left alone to face the world with a broken heart.

She was urged to take refuge in a far-off land, where she could be happy and free from the cares of the world. But she refused, saying, "I would die rather than leave my home and my friends.

"I would rather die than be parted from you," she said, "than live without love."

And so she stayed, and she suffered, and she died, but her love was never forgotten. She was a sacrifice, a hero, a saint.

Her memory lives on in the hearts of all who knew her, and her name is written in the pages of history as one of the greatest and most noble women who ever lived.
In keeping with the previous resolution of the committee of five gentlemen in the third article of the Constitution of the Free State of Algeria, it was voted that there be given for the support of the minister of the treasury, a salary of $5,000.

The first name placed in nomination was that of Judge H. K. Stone as his successor, together with Messrs. Alexander McMillan, J. B. Haldeman, and F. W. Young. The decision of the committee was allowed to remain.

Baker, who resides in the lower end of the city, was nominated for the position of Secretary of State. Mr. Baker has been a strict Unionist, and has done much to strengthen the Democratic party in the district where he resides.

The Republican County Convention of Montgomery county was held in Norristown on Tuesday evening. The convention was called to order by Dr. J. B. Haldeman, the incumbent, present in person. After the reading of the roll the convention proceeded to the reading of the resolutions.

In the afternoon, Wm. P. Young, the incumbent, present in person, was nominated for re-election. Mr. Young is a man of great ability and integrity, and has done much to strengthen the Republican party in the district where he resides.

On Saturday the excursionists will arrive at New York, and proceed to the Peace Palace, where they will be entertained by a Reception Committee. The Palace is a magnificent building, and is the residence of the President of the United States. The excursionists will be entertained by a fine banquet, and will have an opportunity to visit the various exhibits in the Palace.

The new Burlington depot, just completed, will give many of them promotions, and will be supplied in every detail. The depot is a fine structure, and is the residence of the President of the United States.
