5-30-1974

The Ursinus Weekly, May 30, 1974

Judith James
_Ursinus College_

Ruth Von Kummer
_Ursinus College_

Cathryn McCarthy
_Ursinus College_

Wendy Barnes
_Ursinus College_

Kathleen Jameson
_Ursinus College_

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/19

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus Weekly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
By RUTH VON KUMMER

The valedictorian of this year's senior class is Cynthia Cole, who was appointed as a part-time instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission. Mr. Banyacski, an instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission, has been appointed as a part-time instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission. Mr. Banyacski, an instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission, has been appointed as a part-time instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission.

In addition to these categories, twenty-six Ursinus seniors were appointed as special departmental headquarters for outstanding achievement in a chosen topic. The honor is earned by receiving a certificate from the department to which it relates, along with the faculty as a whole. The exceptional honors will be awarded to Douglas Stewart for Biology, David Marchetti for Chemistry, Nancy Leach for English, and Nancy Leach for English.

Summer Use Planned
For College Facilities
By WENDY BARNES

There has been a lot of controversy lately over the fact that the college has increased the enrollment for the summer season. The number of students enrolled for the summer has increased from 900 to 924. The extra students will be housed in the new dormitories which is being called the "Railroad Dorm." The qualification for this building is not met by an enrollment of 925-949. The only higher academic recognition is that of summa cum laude which requires an average of 94.5 or higher. None of the graduates were placed in this four-year category, and those who were placed were just within 1% of the average.

New Member Added
To Phls. Ed. Faculty
Mr. Robert E. Skelton, teacher and coach at Springfield College in Massachusetts was appointed as an assistant professor in the Department of Health and Physical Education. He will also be assistant to the Dean of Men, working as a graduate assistant and assistant football coach.

Mr. Skelton received a bachelor's degree from Lea College, Albert Lea, Minn., and is receiving a master's degree from Springfield College this spring. He also worked as a professor of Health and Physical Education at the University of Maine for three months of the year and this summer he will be attending the University of Maine.

New Instructors of Philosophy Named
By KATHY JAMESON

Paul A. Hanyascki, Associate Professor of Philosophy at West Chester State College, has been appointed as a part-time instructor of philosophy at the University of Massachusetts. Mr. Hanyascki, who taught at Widener, Eastern University, and Bucknell and Valley Forge Military College, has been appointed as an instructor in the Ursinus College Recreation Commission.

Two Professors Receive
Quarterly Awards
Two Ursinus faculty members were honored at the Quarterly Awards dinner by the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Professor of English and Dean of Admissions, W. R. H. Johnson, and Professor of History, James R. Snyder, were both honored at the awards dinner.

Dr. Visser Writes History Text Manual
By KATHY JAMESON

Dr. Dick Visser, associate professor of history, was elected secretary of the Phi Beta Kappa's Gamma Association of Pennsylvania. The Association consists of women in the Philadelphia area who are members of the prestigious national fraternity but have no local chapter to attend. The Ursinus philosophy faculty has been named as a member of the Gamma Association of Pennsylvania.
In four days, what many Seniors thought would not come, will be realized: they will graduate. Some of them have complained about this place for four years. Yet, many of the star complainers may change in the years to come. In a year, if not sooner, they may begin to miss this campus. To those years, they will think that college was not that bad, and in ten years Ursinus will be one of their good memories. In 25 years they may even send their children there. Time and distance will soften their memories.

If they have valid complaints they should not give up on Ursinus—do or forget their complaints. They can do something. They soon will be alumni and have the power of the mighty buck—not necessarily a lot of this power. Still, five dollars is a respectable donation.
FOCUS:

The Head On That Guy!

By Bruno The Killer Gorilla

Due To Situations Beyond Our Control The following is a Focus On: Freddy Reiss.

The Weekly wanted me, Bruno—the only gorilla in the world that can type and also helped James Joyce with some of his work—to do an article that would epitomize of humility: We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. We were planning to come back, settle down, and get married. This was before I found out that most of us would be a good idea of where this sinus would be nowhere if it wasn’t for the perceptiveness and unfulfilled life, and he said that if I made any more jokes about Christian Fellowship Meetings he would rub his crossed three times and make me disappear.

Sensually still remains my philosophy. Besides, the greatest minds of our time—Dylan Thomas, Eugene O’Neill, Joyce, Mickle Honey—all these guys after they made money writing poetic thoughts with beautiful aesthetic qualities, went down to the neighborhood bar with the money they earned and got soused to the gut.

Life is like being a golfer. you never know what’s coming at you, all you know is that people are shooting at your net and you have to make the saves to stay in the game, but no matter what you do you can’t stop a screen shot unless you get hit by it.

And—wait a second, who’s that guy over there rubbing a cross and saying, “Make him disappear. Praise the Lord. Make him disappear, he—”

“I assure you it’s nothing but some red faced clown—”

“No, it’s him! Just give me your autograph picture of Graeme Marx, my plastic Dick Horno, and my Laurel and Hardy poster, my Ursinus Fly Trap, and my complete collection of Mickey Spillane books please.

“Fred, who is that man?”

“I’m being crossed—”

“Fred, where did you go? He’s disappeared! Well this concludes our wait, you don’t look at me when you’re rubbing that cross! I just bought a new tennis racket. I finally came a girl into coming to my room, give me . . .”

Editor’s Note: This is all that remains on the tape recorded interview with Freddy Reiss and Bruno the Killer Gorilla. Neither of the two have been heard of since this interview was given. The only person in the area of their disappearances at the suspected moment of their vanishing was a red faced guy wearing an Ursinus Freshman goatee and said, “Well, it’s a mystery.”

---

“Before I came to Ursinus I was just an ordinary individual living on a diet of wild berries and girls with asthma and to drive his sisters out of the house so he can sit down and watch reruns of Gilligan’s Island on television.

Why did you come to Ursinus?

Probably because of the food.

One thing is still bugging me after eating that delectable chicken we had some time last week. Where have all the pigeons gone from the roof of Pfahler Hall? Before I came to The Land Of Ursinus my life was filled with the usual commonplace things: sex, fame, romance, adventure, intellectual stimulation; but you get tired of all those things after awhile, so I came to Ursinus where you can’t find any of them. I thought Ursinus would be a good place because I heard some former seniors were planning to come back, settle down, and get married. This was before I learned that you can’t get back a girl you ever loved out of the water.

After Ursinus: “I developed a crush on a girl named Sugar 60’s 002 bought by the late George Reeves.”

Which is: That Ursinus is like a cage.

There are only two ways to leave: when your time is up or the plum oak box. It was only a couple days ago when I finally figured out what Ursinus really is: it’s just the Jungle Habitat Of Academic Donor. You’ve seen members of the administration driving through campus in their cars, smiling, waving at us, pointing and saying, “That over there is called an English Major, he’s harmless, but he doesn’t think, but don’t unroll your window to pet him because he might bite.” I’ve had my agents investigate this situation and they kept having no unconfirmed evidence. They told me that this college tugs its graduating classes before it places them in a period of years the alumni come back to Ursinus, lay their ages and die—and you thought those were mushrooms by the roof of

What about the administration?

Many people have said that Ursinus would be nowhere if it wasn’t for the perceptiveness and intelligence of the administration, when you think about it gives you a pretty good idea of where this college actually is. Now I haven’t any educated evidence yet, but my agents have informed me that administration has been taken over by the alien planet Ber Jersey. Some members of the administration have even cast a reflection in a mirror and have a layer of their native soil placed inside their shoes and are run by Every Day D Busty Cell Busters. The rest of the administration are being held captive in a secret passageway beneath the Hall.

I don’t want to sound hard on the administration because they do have some of their policies. Girls should not be granted open dorm rooms because it’s ridiculous. They should not be given open dorm rooms for the same reason girls shouldn’t drink champagne. We all know champagne makes girls pregnant, don’t we?

What can you say about a college whose campus scenary was almost used as the layout for the Candyland game? And whose most famous alumnus is rumored to be the radar operator that gave the Japanese landing clearance at Pearl Harbor?

“Why is this happening?”

“I just wanted to prove my theory of leaving Ursinus wrong.”

“Of,” and since I didn’t feel like picking up another encyclopedia I went out and bought some Greeting Card. Let’s look at it realistically, if Budweiser or Slim Jim hasn’t already been going around in circles, I won’t go into religion anymore because there’s a red headed guy with black hair and horns that wears this e-normous cross and walks around campus with a girl whose has committed suicide because it led an unfilled life, and he said that if I made any more jokes about Christian Fellowship Meetings he would rub his crossed three times and make me disappear.

---

“BEFORE I CAME TO UR SINUS I WAS JUST AN ORDINARY INDIVIDUAL LIVING ON A DIET OF WILD BERRIES AND GIRLS WITH ASTHMA AND TO DRIVE HIS SISTERS OUT OF THE HOUSE SO HE CAN SIT DOWN AND WATCH RERUNS OF GILLIGAN’S ISLAND ON TELEVISION.

"Why did you come to Ursinus?"

"Probably because of the food.

One thing is still bugging me after eating that delectable chicken we had some time last week. Where have all the pigeons gone from the roof of Pfahler Hall? Before I came to The Land Of Ursinus my life was filled with the usual commonplace things: sex, fame, romance, adventure, intellectual stimulation; but you get tired of all those things after awhile, so I came to Ursinus where you can’t find any of them. I thought Ursinus would be a good place because I heard some former seniors were planning to come back, settle down, and get married. This was before I found out that most people at this place are so straight they make a parallel line look like an acute angle. This college is the epitome of humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility. We all lost our pride when we came to Ursinus. I imagine that coming here would be an interesting experience in humility.
By MARYLYN HARSCH

As a “Bear Cub,” I was brought up with tales of Ursinus past. Thus, through the many weeks ofaloging and looking back comes for us to read to our class of Ursinus students, I thought it might be interesting to allow the small percentage of alumni who have remained at home on the campus to reflect on the changes that have occurred.

There are 25 graduates currently on staff of the 14 respondents.
The respondee varied from Dr. Parsons to Dr. Ferretti, to several who spoke of the influence of people, who have lost their homes to the great fire, and others who have moved on since Mr. Schaefer has been on campus.

I present you now, the memories of Ursinus. Dr. Firuzi, put it this way...”there seems to be a great lack of loyalty to the buildings, which are so important to those who have graduated a few years ago. Mr. Guryzynski seems to think that every student should be asked to contribute to the repair of the buildings. Indeed this building was most often visited by the students. It stood as a great symbol and glory where the library and science buildings. There are actually 3 buildings-Derr and Stone on each side and Freeland in the center of the middle. Derr and Stine were men's dorms, and Freeland served as classroom of academic activities. Indeed this building was most often visited by the students. It stood as a great symbol and glory where the library and science buildings. There are actually 3 buildings-Derr and Stone on each side and Freeland in the center of the middle. Derr and Stine were men's dorms, and Freeland served as classroom of academic activities.

I ask several other responses to the question of the greatest change. Mr. Creager from the library said: "Student involvement in administrative and academic policies. Perhaps this is a sign of times.

As you go forth in your chosen endeavors, think of us as we better capture the thought of the time we have left you that those of Rowena Wilson:

"The day of our country's life is still in its first breath. This is the time for our liturgy to be sought in the interests of those who have our hearts and our minds in our country's life is still but in the beginning."