My dear Mr. Eddy:

Your letter of March 26th interested me greatly, and I hasten to say that you must not be discouraged in regard to the Department's realization of the great importance of sending good men to Latin America. I know Mr. Sherrill, and the need of an energetic, capable and suitable representative has not been for one moment overlooked in his selection to fill the important post at Buenos Aires. I hope you will meet Mr. Sherrill before he starts.

With warm regards to Mr. Morse and yourself,
I remain always,

Very sincerely yours,

Thomas A. Eddy, Esquire,
25 Broad Street, New York.
