April 4, 1909.

My dear Mr. Sherrill;

I enclose a few lines of introduction to my great friend Mr. James R. Morse, President of the American Trading Company. Mr. Morse's Company does a big business with the Argentine Republic and he knows very well the principal merchants in New York who are interested in that quarter. I am sure it will be pleasant and profitable to both yourself and to Mr. Morse if you will make an occasion to see him.

With renewed good wishes for a pleasant and safe voyage and for your great success at Buenos Aires, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Charles H. Sherrill, Esquire,
No. 20 East 65th Street,
New York City.
