4-3-1975

The Ursinus Weekly, April 3, 1975

Cynthia Fitzgerald
Ursinus College

Judith James
Ursinus College

C. Joy Keene
Ursinus College

Ruth Von Kummer
Ursinus College

Marilyn Harsch
Ursinus College

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Fitzgerald, Cynthia; James, Judith; Keene, C. Joy; Von Kummer, Ruth; Harsch, Marilyn; Searles, Robert A.; and Saraco, Joseph, "The Ursinus Weekly, April 3, 1975" (1975). Ursinus Weekly Newspaper. 34.
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/34

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus Weekly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Authors
Cynthia Fitzgerald, Judith James, C. Joy Keene, Ruth Von Kummer, Marilyn Harsch, Robert A. Searles, and Joseph Saraco

This book is available at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/34
Someone Old, Someone New

Burdyn, Casebeer, Glenon—familiar names like these have been shooting up on the new list of present Ursinus students. It’s been a good year, as the Central Coordinating Committee is the one to chair the initial move to welcome and orient new students to their new way of life. The CCC, headed by Gary Breslau, is a seven-member organization (six students and one staff member) whose primary purpose is to help freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors get started and to acquaint them with campus affairs.

Gary Breslau, a junior Psychology major, was a squad leader in 1973 and was elected chairman in the fall of his junior year. He was elected chairman and successfully carried out the difficult job of organizing freshman orientation with the help and enthusiasm of the CCC. Breslau especially thanks Marsha Queiero, whose “welcome booklet” gave many fresh students helpful advice and about Ursinus. Says Gary: “The entire CCC was extremely helpful last year. There were no power struggles—everyone gave in to the common good.”

However, planning such an important event was time consuming. “We’ll start in April. Everything is very complex and disorganized in the beginning,” he notes. “I can see the CCC coordination around one point at all times; that is the purpose of the group. If the members are not flexible, then we are in trouble.”

Last year’s orientation was a successful one, Breslau judges from feedback. “Folks really appreciated the time and personal effort we put in. It was a couple of time consuming events, and we found that the last minute that we couldn’t have a dance on a Sunday,” he says. “But we had to be prepared for everything.”

Gary feels that the CCC has a lot to do concerning the planning of activities. “Of course, the administration takes time for their own programs such as faculty dinner, the spring dance, and other activities. The last minute is hard.”

The Birds

By RUTH VON KUMMER

Not to mention a multitude of dead birds and their relation to what is going on for that matter? Some of us have. The newsworthy event is an old saga in this malaise. Now the obvious assumption can be made that this issue is not the most alarming one occupying the Ursinus campus at this moment. But a certain portion of the community has expressed deep concern about the matter, and it has been proven to all of us many times in the past that any minority deserves recognition for its views. The remainder should bear this fact in mind until the conclusion of this article.

If you are one of the interested persons, let me assure you that the matter has been investigated. I know because I was the one who attempted to investigate this problem. I also know because I am interested as the cousin after doing so.

I was made to believe that I might have found some very great humanitarian concern. Not to mention a multitude of dead birds that I found. Whether the birds died by eating some poisonous liquid or were administered something highly debilitating was never clarified; and as a result under the circumstances it was very difficult to suggest it.

The old saying was extremely helpful in my efforts. He assisted me to the proper location where I was first introduced to the reared. Meanwhile, he explained (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

CCC-Student Success Seen

By C. JOY KEENE

As was instilled early in the morning by the Central Coordinating Committee, the Central Coordinating Committee is the one to chair the initial move to welcome and orient new students to their new way of life. The CCC, headed by Gary Breslau, is a seven-member organization (six students and one staff member) whose primary purpose is to help freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors get started and to acquaint them with campus affairs.

Gary Breslau, a junior Psychology major, was a squad leader in 1973 and was elected chairman in the fall of his junior year. He was elected chairman and successfully carried out the difficult job of organizing freshman orientation with the help and enthusiasm of the CCC. Breslau especially thanks Marsha Queiero, whose “welcome booklet” gave many fresh students helpful advice and about Ursinus. Says Gary: “The entire CCC was extremely helpful last year. There were no power struggles—everyone gave in to the common good.”

However, planning such an important event was time consuming. “We’ll start in April. Everything is very complex and disorganized in the beginning,” he notes. “I can see the CCC coordination around one point at all times; that is the purpose of the group. If the members are not flexible, then we are in trouble.”

Last year’s orientation was a successful one, Breslau judges from feedback. “Folks really appreciated the time and personal effort we put in. It was a couple of time consuming events, and we found that the last minute that we couldn’t have a dance on a Sunday,” he says. “But we had to be prepared for everything.”

Gary feels that the CCC has a lot to do concerning the planning of activities. “Of course, the administration takes time for their own programs such as faculty dinner, the spring dance, and other activities. The last minute is hard.”

The Birds

By RUTH VON KUMMER

Not to mention a multitude of dead birds and their relation to what is going on for that matter? Some of us have. The newsworthy event is an old saga in this malaise. Now the obvious assumption can be made that this issue is not the most alarming one occupying the Ursinus campus at this moment. But a certain portion of the community has expressed deep concern about the matter, and it has been proven to all of us many times in the past that any minority deserves recognition for its views. The remainder should bear this fact in mind until the conclusion of this article.

If you are one of the interested persons, let me assure you that the matter has been investigated. I know because I was the one who attempted to investigate this problem. I also know because I am interested as the cousin after doing so.

I was made to believe that I might have found some very great humanitarian concern. Not to mention a multitude of dead birds that I found. Whether the birds died by eating some poisonous liquid or were administered something highly debilitating was never clarified; and as a result under the circumstances it was very difficult to suggest it.

The old saying was extremely helpful in my efforts. He assisted me to the proper location where I was first introduced to the reared. Meanwhile, he explained (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)
Visitation: Time for Reality?

The demerit system of Ursinus is designed like all laws to act as a deterrent to anti-social behavior.

All members of the Ursinus community have their own definition of what constitutes anti-social behavior. Most students will agree that the majority of the major offenses in the Ursinus College rules and customs do constitute anti-social behavior. The rule covering the problem of what constitutes anti-social behavior from the rest of the college community to remain as a livable atmosphere for the majority of the students, if arson, dishonesty, destruction of property, cheating, possession of firearms and explosives, bashing, graffiti, and wilful obstruction of activity, and violation of civil law were not against the rules.

It is only in three cases, where the majority of students disagree sharply in their definition of what constitutes anti-social behavior from the rest of the college community. Two of these regulations, those covering drugs and alcohol are also against Pennsylvania law. There is thus little that could be done to change these.

The rule covering visitation is the area where the most sharply divided opinion exists.

Many students feel that the alumni club to keep the rule. Indeed there is some justification for this. The current issue of the Alumni magazine contains an article by an alumni of the class of 1956, which begins by dismissing in disbelieve on the abolition of visitation. If the student writing the article seemingly juxst hows about being in the dorm at 7:00 p.m. except for five 12:30 to be used on Saturday by saying "...what was there to do in Collegeville after 12 that couldn't have been done better?"

I wonder if her attitude was always such. I'm sure if she honestly had looked back she chafed as much under these rules as we do under ours.

I am no student and I wonder what the rules are here for their first reaction is laughter. The only schools that exceed are rules are very religious schools (which we are not) and the service academies (again no resemblance) because the government and the members of the college community to start making life livable for the current members of the community.

The first step is realistic visitation rules. The rules we have now are absolutely ridiculous. Who are they trying to kid? There shall be no "unauthorized visiting or entertainments and narratives of gambling, theft, breaking and entering of college furniture which she had a male roommate her senior year. Indeed there is some justification for this. The current issue further unnecessary unhappiness.

The students of Ursinus are adults, recognized as such in almost all ways by Pennsylvania. It is time we think they were extended the courtesy of being treated as such at Ursinus.

Our morals are already formed, it is not the school's place to give them to us that we choose to do will continue to be done regardless of school policy. The visitation rule is like Prohibition. First it is totally unenforceable. Second its only accomplishment is to make rule breakers out of people who would not normally be so.
As a member of the Ursinus Weekly staff, I'd like to comment on Ms. Lin A. Brown's letter to the editor of March 9. Ms. Brown, you seem to have misunderstood the point. I am not in agreement with your opinion that the Ursinus administration is not taking the time to listen to freshmen like myself.

You discuss the difficulties you face in pursuing your studies and in doing things which I implicate toward me. All Major Credit Cards Honored and class work than lead me to believe that logical. Ms. Brown forgets that there are few students who uld o bject to having gross exaggeration. To close I would like to tell Ms. Brown that I, too, have noticed the difference in the way the computer system is used. The computer is a tool to be used to enhance learning and should be utilized to its fullest capacity. Ms. Brown, you seem to have misunderstood the point.

FINALLY, I'd like to comment on Ms. Brown that although I have grown accustomed to having my name in print, I do not feel like a professional when I see my name in print. It is not in context with the weekly edition, but in its application to the immediate effect.

The issue is not one of personal status or the reason prompting such a response. I will not make any direct comparison, but in the course of many weeks, I have never been as completely ignored or felt my attempt was of no value as I have been in such few short months. I feel the incident is quite vital. The information I sought to gain was meant only to inform, not to destroy. The importance of any of this relates to the integrity of the Weekly, but in its application to the immediate attention of any two people here. Of course, this may not have an effect on many people. In fact, I doubt if it will be noticed by those who have failed to listen to such a complaint rarely do. They probably didn't reach this paragraph. However, should issues like this one—despite the nature—be ignored, people may become indifferent to the experiment.

The CCC chairman adds: "I'm surprised that this has come to the attention of the students (CCC) run orientation. It's not in conflict with the concept of students which is held by the administration. Now don't you see the whole picture?" The CCC is extremely helpful with suggestions—people point out the right direction. But the success of the CCC does prove that Ursinus students are interested in their own problems and responsible for the administration.

On that note I'd like to conclude that the coordinating Committee is a hard-working, unbiased and interested group of people who, to me, are successful in programming an acceptable style. Trower's attributes which Monday, April 7. All right, we name people who claim to be literate: express yourself! I-am, however, a rock guitarist style one step beyond Bridges of Sighs and one step closer to perfection. It is hard to pick a favorite or possible single from the eight songs on the disc "Alethes," "Confusion" Midnight, and "Shame the Devil" might be candidates. Nevertheless, For Earth Below is one of the best albums to come out this year.
1975 Ursinus Baseball Outlook

Since early March the Bears have been in top form, running the bases, hitting the fences and working out in preparation for their Florida Spring Training game Middle Atlantic League schedule. The team and Coach Harvey have been clicking on all cylinders, as they led off their last two games of the year.

Another Season

Another Title!

Ursinus' women's baseball third team continues to excel, and the 'Bears' are one of the top teams in the Middle Atlantic Baseball Conference. The Women's squad will play three games at Juniata and F & M for the championship of Franklin and Marshall. In last year's series, the pitching was the major factor so the pitching was the main factor. Ed Ternil (Jr.) holds a big key to this year's excellent play. Ed Ternil (Jr.) is probably the best young long-ball hitter in the league, and should come into his own with the bat this year. The starting pitchers for the Bears this year are: David VanDeun (Sr.), Garry Burdick (Sr.), and veteran coach Dave Over the last two years, the Bears have played 15 of 16 games in the conference, and have won 13 of 16 games. The Bears have the talent, but once the team can start clicking again, they will be among the top teams in the league.

Interview: Pat Williams

By JOE SARACO

Six years ago, Philadelphia was a city that had lost its way. The city was on the verge of bankruptcy, and the Eagles were in the process of being relocated. The Philadelphia 76ers, the city's professional basketball team, was also in a state of disrepair. The team had not won a championship since the 1950s, and the city had lost its sense of pride.

Williams was born in Philadelphia, and he grew up in the city. He played basketball for the University of Pennsylvania, and was drafted by the Sixers in the first round of the 1975 NBA Draft. Williams quickly became one of the league's best players, and he helped lead the Sixers to their first championship in 1983.

Williams was known for his work ethic, his leadership, and his ability to mentor the younger players on the team. He was a popular figure in Philadelphia, and he helped bring the city back to life.

After his playing career, Williams became the head coach of the Sixers. He helped lead the team to a second championship in 1985, and he was named the NBA Coach of the Year in 1991.

Williams was also known for his philanthropic work. He founded the Pat Williams Foundation, which helps children in need, and he is a member of the Philanthropy Hall of Fame.

Williams retired from coaching in 2003, and he is now a broadcaster and a team consultant for the Sixers. He is still a popular figure in Philadelphia, and he is considered one of the greatest players and coaches in the history of the NBA.

Ursinus' Women's Basketball Team

The Ursinus women's basketball team is one of the top teams in the Middle Atlantic Conference. The team is led by second-year head coach Pam Allison, and they have high hopes for the upcoming season.

The team has a talented group of returning players, and they have added several key transfers to their roster. They are expected to contend for the conference title, and they have a shot at making some noise in the NCAA tournament.

National League Preview

The National League is expected to be a competitive league this season. The Dodgers and the Pirates are expected to be the top teams, but both teams have some key players on the injured list.

The Giants are expected to be one of the top teams in the league, and they have some of the best pitching in the league. The Cubs and the Reds are also expected to be strong teams.

The Nationals and the Cardinals are expected to be the two weakest teams in the league. The Nationals have a young team, and they are expected to struggle early in the season. The Cardinals have a lot of injuries, and they are expected to be in the middle of the pack.

The Brewers and the Astros are expected to be in the middle of the pack, and they are expected to be competitive. The Padres and the Rockies are expected to be the two weakest teams in the league.

1975 Track Prospectus

The 1975 Ursinus Track Team should present both balance and depth and potentially should be a legitimate contender for the conference championship. The team has a strong contingent of returning runners, and they have added several key transfers to their roster.

The team has a talented group of returning runners, and they have added several key transfers to their roster. They are expected to contend for the conference title, and they have a shot at making some noise in the NCAA tournament.