DEAN HARRIS RUNS NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Dr. Ruth E. Harris, better known as the Dean of Women, has had a rich and varied career, involving various projects and organizations demonstrated by her states as Director of Student Activities at Ursinus College. This 50+ along with the amount of experience she has gotten from her position as dean made her a valuable resource for the co-chairperson in charge of plans made locally for the 50th national Conference of the National Association for Women Deans, Administration April 1-2, at Philadelphia, held on a theme entitled "Discussions of Interdependence," the affair which more than 800 people participated in through 96 seminars and programs, honored both the U. D. Bicentennial and the United Nations International Women's year.

A special feature was in an off-axis given by Elizabeth Janeway, author of several books, "Men's Work," "Women's Work," "Between Myth and Morning." Another highlight of the event centered on a panel discussing "Girls in Women in Athletics: A Sporting Chance," one of the participants being Rosalie Muller Wolf, an editor of Women's Sports.

Several other interesting and informative speakers, Dr. Kathryn G. Houston, Assistant for special Minnen, Department of Health, Education, Welfare, and National Schools, Chairperson of the New York City Commission on Rights of Women combined their efforts to make the event a particularly good one, which will strive hopefully to influence and improve our college life and make an addition in the way of projects and ideas.

Ursinus Can Be Fun Believe It Or Not!

type of Gold Day. Approximately fifteen Ursinus helped organize and carry on the activities of the day, the James Wallace, coordinator, said that felt that for the young people it was a great success, but that he had hoped for more participation by the Ursinus student body. She would like to do this type of project again, perhaps as a day at the pool, but she feels more college students should be involved.

Saturday, April 12, thirty-six young people from Taub House and Silver Springs House participated in a Recreation Day sponsored by the Union. Ranging in age from 10 to 17, they passed the day, which began at 10:00 a.m., and ended in the early evening, by running the gamut of sports and entertainment. Baseball, basketball and other athletic events filled out the morning, followed by an hour free period in which they got a taste of college life by playing the machines in the Union Game Room. Lunch was served in the Union and afterwards the Three Stooges and Laurel and Hardy movies were shown to complete the day.

The funds for Recreation Day came from a scholarship sponsored by the Union. Originally intended for use at a carnival, it finally came off as a

New Whitian Members Named And Honored

On April 2, 1975, The Whitian presented their spring banquet to introduce their new members and to honor those freshmen and sophomore women who attained an eighth grade average last semester.

The Whitian is this year's women's honor society named for Dr. William B. White, former Dean of Women and Professor of History at Ursinus. The purpose of the society is to honor those women who have attained a high academic standard as well as contributed through leadership and service to Ursinus College.

At the banquet the achievements of new members were recognized. These women have attained an average of eighty-five percent or more in their first two years of college life and as a result have been active in campus organizations including theater, basketball, wrestling, and as an officer of the Women's Athletic Association.

Another Look At Dutch

For anyone planning to come (in reference to last week's story) or having an interest in the "Land of the Pennsylvania Dutch," the opportunity becomes even greater since the Pennsylvania German Society will hold their ninth annual meeting in conjunction with Ursinus College. The meeting will be held in the early evening, by running the gamut of sports and entertainment.

John C. Arndt, a mathematician major, has been active in sports including hockey, basketball, and as an officer of the Women's Athletic Association.

The selection of 1975-1976 Central Coordinating Committee has been made. The group of five members of the class of 1978, one from each of the five dormitories, was approved by the USA on their last meeting. The selection had been made by last year's ODC. The new members are Nina Gell, a Pennsylvania Dutch Studies major, and David Friedenburg, a sophomore English major from Vineland, New Jersey; Brian Foy, a junior Religious Studies major from Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania; and Richard Gaggen, a sophomore English major from Vineland, New Jersey.

Zoo Story

By RAE BLAKE

One of the most unparalleled experiences in the world is the joy of watching animals in their natural surroundings. It is a way to watch the smiles that the antics of a monkey can evoke, enough to make you feel good for days.

In conjunction with Recreation Day and Zoo Story, Ursinus students charged to the campus to enjoy a day at the park.

Travelin' 8 Hits U.C.

By CATHY MCCARTHY

Ludwig Frieden, a sophomore, presents Travelin' 8 to be held in Wismer Dining Hall April 17. The curtain goes up at 8:00 and the show will include time well-known faces as well as many new ones.

Richard Gaggen, the co-chair, will introduce a wide variety of student talent including Ben and Eric, David Friedenberg, Paul Calabrese and Brian Foy. The group should be great and lots of fun to don't mean it's one of Ursinus' biggest annual hits. Admission is one dollar at the door and refreshments will be sold.

The Travelin' 8 concert is for the benefit of the F. Scott Pierce Memorial Scholarship Fund. Scott was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce, and was a student-athlete and musician who died in 1971 while he was a student at Ursinus. Travelin' 8 was developed in 1974 in which Ursinus students raise money for a scholarship in his memory.

Barbara Grider is the chairwoman of this year's performance. Heading her committee is Kim Kiley, Sister Mary Ann, Donna Johnson, Paula McBurney, Rich MacIntyre, and Dave Gargan. She feels that the show has put into the show, to take a "snapshot" of Ursinus and how to come to Travelin' 8-It is meant to be a fun evening.

Ursinus' Cost Is Lowest

This is in time of economic stress everyone has one thing for which they can be thankful. According to figures released by the Ursinus Financial Aid Office, total student costs at our school are less than comparable colleges in Eastern Pennsylvania. By comparing costs of four-year institutions in the eastern Pennsylvania region, comparison of costs of four-year courses is made possible. The table below gives an idea of tuition and board fees at Ursinus and other colleges ranging up to $4,650. There was a 5% increase from the 1975-76 academic year approved by the Board of Directors last November. However, the increase of only $800 for tuition and $200 for room and board is considered a modest one and one which is compatible, less than inflation demanded.

According to President Pettit, this very small increase was made possible because of careful financial planning and conservative budgeting. So, the next time you are disgusted with the aspect of Ursinus life, be thankful and remember your dwindling bank account or those checks you got with your interest payments and be happy you are here at Ursinus.
The inspiration for the topic of this editorial resulted from my sudden discovery that I was to become editor of the Ursinus Weekly a week earlier than I had planned, due to circumstances beyond my control or that of the past editor. Furthermore, my first week at Ursinus had not yet been completed at the time.

With respect to this issue, I tried to think of a subject which needs to be discussed and which will represent the difference in opinion and the situation which they feel is necessary to be critical in such a deliberately biting way.

That, to me, seems to indicate a definite, almost pathetic gap between students. Yes, we should make our opinions known and everyone should have the right to object in a manner suitable to its complaint. It seems that right should be accompanied by an honest regard for the feelings of others or the situation concerned. In this case, it is obvious that some people cannot adapt themselves to the situation in a society which they do not have the ability to give and take.

Since, between themselves, many students find it difficult to act in a way which achieves their desired effect, we should also mention the gap between certain faculty members and students. We are in need of alterations, but right should be accompanied by an honest regard for the feelings of others. This is true for the student body. Ursinus is a college, and the majority of those attending it are mature and responsible. We deserve more freedom from the restrictions, and a more receptive attitude from some professors; they deserve respect from us. If bitterness is continually a part of our struggle, we ought to realize that the outcome will be accomplished. Many people are bitter about the restrictions and punishments we have suffered. In some instances, that emotion is justified. The problem lies that it exists on both sides. Very little change has actually been made; there is a lot of talk and no action. The real problem is that we continue to try and that all involved are willing to direct those attempts toward improvement, not increased misunderstanding.

No one believes that Ursinus, like any other place, is perfect. There are differences between the students and the faculty, but the disunity of many—whether they are students, faculty members or administrators—is merely a result of the attitudes of many people—whether they are students, faculty members or administrators. If together, we exchanged ideas and worked together, the way would be bolder. As editor, it would be possible to make changes in relation to the newspaper, making it more interesting and satisfactory to the rest of the Ursinus community.

Dear Mr. Harsch,

I have been preparing this letter for some time, and I must say that I am very disappointed with the way things have been handled in the past. At least for the present, I am prepared to make a number of suggestions which should be adopted immediately.

First, I would like to commend Mr. Harsch on his excellent editorial concerning the students and the affected-outdated rules at Ursinus. Mr. Harsch's editorial also contains a clear and valid interpretation of the feelings of the students and the lack of any action on the part of the administration. Because of the demerit system, anyone who attends a party on campus or even at someone's house, friends feel obligated to take part and to grow in maturity with others. While the number of freshmen who, after only one semester, does not know or realize how much good school is deferred in its progress by outstanding rules.

As part of the rules of this distinction is to make arrangements for a number of activities in which the members of the Ursinus Chapter took charge of a group of boys ranging in age from 6 to 10 years of age.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Rec Day Co-ordinator,

I'd like to thank all the people who helped carry out Rec Day April 12th. We had a full day, but thanks to all the support we had throughout, we were prepared smoothly. I want to especially thank Mrs. Dusen in the Student Snack Shop for feeding all those hungry people in record time!

The comments from the homes told me how much they and the kids enjoyed, and many of the kids asked if they could come again. Hopefully, another day will be planned as the kids were here and maybe some others will be able to come here for other activities.

Sincerely,

Missey Matson
THE CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Managing A Life Full of Hidden Meanings

After a festive celebration, Elizabeth Wayne, a student at Ursinus College in the history of art, decided to take a walk through the campus. While strolling along the main walkway, she noticed a small chapel tucked away in a corner. The building was modest but elegant, with intricate carvings on its façade and a large stained-glass window that glinted in the sunlight. Elizabeth entered and found herself lost in a sea of calm, classical beauty.

As she wandered through the aisles, she was interrupted by a sudden, unexpected noise. It was the sound of footsteps, coming from the depths of the chapel. Elizabeth was alarmed and turned around to find a young man who had been invited to join her by a friend in pursuit of the moment. "David" is another name for "Michelangelo," it turns out. The man is an artist. It is a work which is not totally good because every aspect of the work must be part of the whole.

Dr. Gundersheimer in most of Michelangelo's work can be seen, for example, in the Last Judgement, Michelangelo combined the most platitudinous ideal with classical mytholog- iny and the effect of a new man, open to the world and to his own conscience of life and purpose on earth.

FOCUS: RICH FAIR-

David (fair in degree) of achievement it must be said, that a man can be an artist, and that the art may be seriously attempted, and that the result be a failure. The result of any venture, with any pretense of authority or knowledge, seems to be more easily reached than the result of any other kind. The title of the work is "the holy grail of dates," but it has its roots in German wood carving. The work created in Michelangelo's statute can be felt, though violent, palpable genuine emotions. Dr. Gundersheimer's almost religious art has inspired the most popular of Michelangelo's students. The work is not only the council men's in favor of the commission, the cult of the holy grail, or the systematic possibility of the work. But, before the time of the student, Michelangelo died a few years after he was supposed to be in his art. But this is not always true, the work is not always the life he loved.

IMPLICATIONS:

In Dr. Gundersheimer's work, the religious art is not terminal in any sense. It is not Michelangelo in 1641, came the birth of William Shakespeare, and Dr. Gundersheimer's almost religious art has inspired the most popular of Michelangelo's students. The work is not only the council men's in favor of the commission, the cult of the holy grail, or the systematic possibility of the work. But, before the time of the student, Michelangelo died a few years after he was supposed to be in his art. But this is not always true, the work is not always the life he loved.

A Day On Wall Street

By JUDIE JAMES

When I boarded the bus for the excursion to Wall Street sponsored by the Finance Club last Thursday, little did I know that I would be returning to provincial College Park loaded with fun, new experiences, and a deeper understanding of the work that goes on behind the veil of Wall Street.

As a non-economics major, I was anxious to learn that there was something more to the "over the counter" market which stocks are not traded on the major exchanges are bought and sold. It should be noted, however, that the 9:30 to 4:00 market hours may vary and that stocks can be traded outside these hours. While I realize that there is a market for short-term investments, I was never able to grasp the complex system of telephones. One aspect of the excursion that I especially enjoyed was the streamlined operation associated with the NYSE's online trading system. After filling out the necessary paperwork, we were able to trade on the NYSE with ease. It was a great experience to see the real-time data on the floor of the NYSE, with its flashing lights and bells, buzzed about the floor with the traders and brokers.

While we also saw a fascinating lecture on the evolution of the NYSE, our main objective was to "shop" at the NYSE. We were able to take a tour of the floor and see how the traders and brokers conduct their business. We also had a fascinating lecture on the history of Wall Street and its role in shaping the economy.

Baseball Opens

By JOE SARACO

After having its first two games cancelled due to bad weather, Ursinus' baseball team traveled to Allentown to open the season against Muhlenberg on April 7, at 3:00 p.m. Three hours, forty-five minutes, and seventeen innings later, the Bears came away with a satisfying 3-2 victory. The win was on a lead-off single by Jeff Simmons, great defense, and clutch hitting.

Sophomore Roy Fisher started the game, going eight innings and allowing only three hits. Junior batter Randy Moore hit a home run in the second, bringing in the first run of the game. Senior starter Adam Campbell (Jr.) saved Fisher from suffering a tough loss by driving in the tying run in the eighth inning. Ed Miller (Soph.) batted in the winning run, knocking in seniors Jim Kalmback in first run. Jack Smith (Soph.) replaced Fisher and went the final two innings, shutting Muhlenberg out on just two hits. The Bears' defense kept coming up with great plays to kill any Muhlenberg threats in the last five.

Catcher Dick Gaggio (Jr.) twice blocked home plate effectively and tagged out what would have been the winning run. Fisher made the final out, striking out Muhlenberg's lead-off man to end the game.

On April 9, Ursinus opened its home season in grand style, coming from four runs down to defeat Swarthmore. Senior pitcher Curt Lange (Jr.) gave up a run in the first inning, but Dave LeVan's (Soph.) sacrifice fly scored the first run of the game. Lange retired the next batter, but Gaggio bobbled the third strike. He bobbled a bunt by the second batter, but caught him safe. A ground-rule double scored a run. A single scored another, and LeVan hit a double. Swarthmore runner on second base faked a steal, forcing out the third batter. The Bears were threatening with a possible double play.

Gaggio scored a first-inning double, and the Bears won the game 6-2.

NBA Playoff Picture

By JOE SARACO

Last summer, National Basketball Association officials worried over league championship playoff games. They realized there was a strong possibility that New York, Los Angeles, and Milwaukee would not qualify for the playoffs this season. Since New York and Los Angeles are the two biggest television market areas, and Milwaukee owns the game's top attraction in Kareem Abdul Jabaal, these officials feared that TV ratings would be worse for these teams' postseason play.

So, they revised the playoff system: adding two "wild-card" teams (one in each conference) that could qualify. They believed this new system would ensure at least two of those three teams' presence in the playoffs.

Though the new system added excitement to the regular season, it didn't work as planned. Neither Los Angeles nor Milwaukee qualified, finishing last in their divisions. New York made it, but was quickly eliminated. However, this year's match-ups appeared to be the most interesting in a long time. Even without the Knicks, Lakers, or Bucks, the NBA playoffs should be as exciting as ever. The quarter-final series are:

Ursinus tradition nor beyond the University's immediate wants of many students. A ground-rule double scored a run. A single scored another, and LeVan hit a double. Swarthmore runner on second base faked a steal, forcing out the third batter. The Bears were threatening with a possible double play.

Another possibility to appear the students would be an extension of the parking policy for "open dorms" for men and women entering.

JUNE 15TH

BY JEFF TRINKLE

Saturday the Ursinus track team hosted both Dickinson and Johns Hopkins. Junior Morris and Dickinson swapped the lead three times, Keena Swain led for the high jump, Ursinus had closed to within half a point of the leader, Hopkins, with exceptional performances in the triple jump by Rick Ammons (17'6") and an unexpected new meet record) and Kevin Kalmback clinched the meet. The final score was U.C. 66, J.H. 62.8, and D. 52.4.

Rick James was Ursinus' only double winner. Besides winning the triple jump he won the long jump (23'3", a new meet record). Other U.C. winners were: Jeff Zelhart (440 Intermediate Sprints, 54.9), Bob Sing (Javelin, 214'3", a new meet record), and Jeff Trinkle (High Jump, 6'9").

The next home encounter will be April 22 against Albright at 3:35 p.m.

Tennis Time

By TIM ELY

The men's tennis team is set up with six singles, who, excepting numbers five and six, also play doubles. Numbers seven and eight constitute the third doubles team instead of five and six. The top doubles team of Rick Sillers and #2, sophomore Bill Hulme, #1, junior Rick Sillers, #1, junior Frank Hadley, #3, freshman Tim Ely, #4, freshman John Russell, #5, freshman Wayne Remington, and #6, junior George Koehn. The coach is Dr. Howard Miller.

So far this year the team has lost its first three league matches. The final three matches were a 6-0 loss to Swarthmore; their roster included #3 singles player, Ed Weiss, who is nicknamed "Grunt" due to a quite audible grunt every time he hits the ball.

Last Wednesday, Ursinus posted a 3-2 loss to Wilkes. Bill Hulme won both his singles matches and also shared in the doubles. Tim Ely was defeated in the first doubles match. Rick Sillers won his singles match and also played on the second doubles team.

Against Moravian Ursinus posted a 6-2 loss. Winners were Frank and John Russman. Tim Ely lost in three sets. The next home game is April 25 at 2:30 against Delaware Valley.
