PHEAA OFFERS LESS AID

By RUTH YON KUMMER

The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) is playing a serious dilemma in regard to the service it will provide. As a result of the crisis affecting the state, some PHEAA officers are being pressured to cut back on aid programs. If this occurs, many students may be forced to drop out of college, regardless of their financial resources.

Students who have been working hard to finance their education may find themselves in desperate situations if the aid programs are reduced. The current situation is causing great concern among students and their families. It is important to voice our opinions and demand that the aid programs remain intact.

A new look at women

By BETH MCCLAIN

Are you a woman in college? And are you interested in the question of what it means to be a woman? Then you should attend the Women's Conference, which is scheduled for May 2-4. The conference will feature a variety of workshops and panel discussions on topics ranging from gender identity to reproductive rights.

The conference is open to all women, regardless of their age or background. It is a great opportunity to learn more about the issues facing women today and to meet others who share your interests.

NEW MANN DISCUSS FAITH

By CATHY L. McCArTHY

As college students we are taught to be rational and critical in our thinking. We are shown how to carefully evaluate ideas and beliefs to be sure we understand the reasoning behind them. However, often in the course of my studies, I come across logicians, cloistered philosophers who appear to be talking nonsense.

I believe that these ideas are meant to be a reaction against the kind of thinking that characterized the mindless program of state colleges. These students do not question the authority of their religion. They accept it as a fact of life.

The Newman Society is primarily a Roman Catholic organization. However, we do not want to give the impression that we are a religious group. We want to invite everyone, regardless of their religious beliefs, to attend our Masses and our meetings. As for our meetings, we want people to realize that we will not try to baptize them, that our goal is to turn them into intelligent, open-minded Christians. We are a group of open-minded people...
Letters To

The Editor

To the Editor:

I have read your reply to my last letter, and I must say that I greatly disagree with you. In fact, your argument is entirely misplaced. Please allow me to add my two cents to your letter.

I certainly see the value in the point that you make about the need for a balanced view. However, I must argue that there are situations in which an occurrence may be too clearly unethical to require nuance.

In this case, it seems clear that the occurrence in question is unethical. The point is not about whether the occurrence is unethical, but about how it should be addressed.

Sincerely,

Jonathan S.

Wont Quit

The Editor

The Editor offers its service to readers offering constructive criticism. I find my axe (sex) grammar, spelling and character punctuation fully missed. Miss Fitzgerald said your paper is for discussion of issues for the information of all. It is unfair to mention this at a meaningful discussion of personal issues. I suppose this is because you are using personal issues to advance your agenda. It is unfair to members of the high for the personal issues of those who are not members of the high because they are not interested in the high.

Sincerely,

Jonathan S.

GODFATHER'S

Best Pick

by AMY HALSTEAD

FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA's GODFATHER II has not only been highly acclaimed for its acting, but recently because the recipient of six Academy Awards, including the Best Director for Francis Ford Coppola. This is the first time in history that a director's film has been so honored.

Coppola's use of music, lighting, and camera angles is masterful. The characters are well developed and the plot is gripping. The film is a must see for all movie enthusiasts.

Sincerely,

Amy Halstead

TRACK TEAM WINS MEETS

The Ursinus track team has been on a winning streak since the beginning of the season. The team's latest victory was in a meet against Muhlenberg, 96-41. The team was led by strong performances from the track team and the field team.

The team's next meet will be against Swarthmore on April 29. The team will be looking to continue its winning streak and set new records.

Sincerely,

Sara Lee

ODE TO SPRING

by ALAN K. STELTER

Spring has begun to make its arrival on the Ursinus campus. The trees have begun to bloom, like budding trees and blossoming flowers, with spring, but we here at Ursinus are still waiting for the full arrival of the season.

The beauty of the campus is something that everyone seems to notice. The colors of the flowers and the green of the grass is something that everyone appreciates.

Sincerely,

Alan K. Stelter
