

4-21-1909

Letter From Francis Mairs Huntington-Wilson to Dr. Clay MacCauley, April 21, 1909

Francis Mairs Huntington-Wilson

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/fmhw_other

 Part of the Diplomatic History Commons, Political History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Huntington-Wilson, Francis Mairs, "Letter From Francis Mairs Huntington-Wilson to Dr. Clay MacCauley, April 21, 1909" (1909). Other Correspondence. 42.

https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/fmhw_other/42

This Letter is brought to you for free and open access by the Assistant Secretary of State (1909-1913) at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Other Correspondence by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.

April 21, 1909.

Dear Dr. MacCauley:

My wife was laid up and quite miserable for a number of days and this is the reason why I could not arrange our meeting. As for myself, I was hard at it here uninterruptedly. A new Administration, with Congress in session, makes just the very busiest time that one can have and in the present instance various important matters in our foreign relations added much to the impossibility of having a moment for one's private interests. I am awfully sorry to have had the misfortune to have seen so little of you during this visit, but I cannot help counting upon other meetings with you later on.

Meanwhile I remain, with warm regards,

Very sincerely yours,

Montgomery Wilson

Dr. Clay MacCauley,
249 South Sixteenth Street,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.