Dear Mr. Wilson:-

Your interesting letter to Mr. Sullivan came to my desk since Mr. Sullivan is now located permanently in Washington. We have a great many articles now on hand or engaged, dealing with various phases of the present national situation, and it is rather difficult to know from your letter what sort of articles you would probably be able to do for us.

However, if you have any definite suggestions for articles on subjects relating to the War, we shall be very glad to have you send them in. Naturally, a rather explicit description of any article you propose to write would be a great aid in deciding its availability for Collier's.

Yours sincerely,

Webb Medron
