U.S.G.A. Passes Resolution

The Ursinus Student Government Association met November 4 and passed a resolution to allow S.F.A.R.C. to correspond with members of the Ursinus community pending notification of the U.S.G.A. This is in light of a Constitutional question of whether S.F.A.R.C. as a sub-committee can send self-initiated correspondence.

Sigma Xi To Host Speakers

The Ursinus Chapter of the Sigma Xi, an honorary science fraternity, will hold two meetings in upcoming weeks. The first meeting will have Dr. Michael Mote of Temple University speaking on Color Vision in the Insect, and will be held Wednesday, November 17th at 8:00 p.m. in Pfahler 108.

Dr. Joseph A. Vinson of Scranton University is the second guest speaker. He will be here on Wednesday, December 8 at 7:00 p.m., Pfahler 108, and will be lecturing on the Chemistry of Marijuana in Man.

Switzer Named to Federal Board

W. Arthur Switzer, director of financial aid at Ursinus College, served last week (Nov. 1 to 5) on a Federal Regional Review Panel, which will distribute $92.5 million to help at least 8 at 7 second graders. He will be here on Wednesday, December 8 at 7:00 p.m., Pfahler 108, and will be lecturing on the Chemistry of Marijuana in Man.

U. C. Student's Paper Honored

A paper on inventory control, written by a 1976 Ursinus College graduate, won second prize in regional competition recently after winning first prize in a local contest with five other schools last summer.

Gregory Weigard, Center Valley, Pa., an economics major, entered his paper, "Inventory Control: A Scientific Approach," in a contest sponsored by the American Production and Inventory Control Society.

The $150 prize in the local contest was awarded at a dinner in mid-October. Weigard is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Weigard, 162 Abberton St., Center Valley.

He was a guard on the Ursinus basketball team, and was vice president of Sigma Nu Lambda fraternity.

Gourman Report Slated

At its November 30th meeting, the student-Faculty-Administration Relations Committee will consider a comprehensive report of Ursinus' academic standing—both nationally and in relationship to neighboring institutions.

The report will culminate a two-month study by S.F.A.R.C. Chairman Lawrence Duker, member Stephen W. L. Neel, and member G. Montgomery Rankin. The study was based on the 1967 analysis by Professor Jack Gourman (The Gourman Report: 1967, Continuing Education, Institute, Washington, D.C.). Gourman rated the quality of the academic program and administrative services for over 2,000 colleges and universities. Each rating was expressed by the letter grades A, B, C, and D. Overall academic and administrative ratings were expressed as a number between 200 and 800, similar to the Educational Testing Service scoring system.

The Gourman Report has been noticed often in studies of the effect of a college's quality on the performance of its graduates. Notably the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, in cooperation with the Philadelphia Board of Education, examined the relationship between a number of class and teacher variables on the educational growth of Philadelphia public school students.

The authors (Wells & Smedley, 1974) found that the Gourman rating of a teacher's alma mater significantly affected the learning of his or her students. Duker, Lange and Rankin will offer data on the Philadelphia public education on a number of dimensions supported by literature research and statistical analyses performed by the three S.F.A.R.C. associates.

Since the Report, Ursinus has completed an extensive capital improvement program, and has expanded several departments while terminating others. S.F.A.R.C. will consider the net change in faculty salaries, academic programs and administrative services since the 1967 study. One of the three S.F.A.R.C. researchers commented that, "the Gourman Report raises serious questions about the priorities of the college. Our November meeting will be very important and S.F.A.R.C. will be asked to consider actions to improve the college's standing, quality of education and expanded offerings.

The research by Duker, Lange and Rankin was funded by an appropriation by the U.S.A., and consisted of a literature search of the University of Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia Free Library as well as the services of the Inter-Library Loan System at Myrin.

Academic Council Reports

By SHARON TUBERTY

The Academic Council met on Thursday, October 28th to discuss changes for the 1975-76 school year. At the faculty meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd, the Council's recommendations were heard and voted on. The members of the Council are the President, Professor Rankin, Professor Hulburt, Professor Blythe, Professor Scudder, Professor Snyder, the Dean, Professor Haley, Professor Richter, Professor Rankin.

A slight change was made in the German Department. Previously, the course German II (211) would have been offered for the German Intermediate requirements. The first term of Science German III (212) would now consist of the basics—grammar, culture, and skill in the language. The second term (211) would then take on more heavy emphasis on the scientific factors.

In the History department, all of the seminars will now be changed to three credits instead of the customary two. In the Political Science department, the course entitled "Constitutional Law" has been lengthened to a year (Phil. Sci. 211, 212) and will be taught both semesters by Dr. Pancost. Beginning next year, Dr. Kane will teach Law and Society (Phil. Sci. 222) which is a study of the origins, objectives and manifestations of law in the United States political system.

The major alteration in the Psychology department was the addition of two laboratory courses—111 and 112 which were created to correspond with the Psychology 101 and 102 (previously 101 and 102). The labs will consist of two hours a week in class and one semester credit for each. The labs need not be taken concurrently with 101, 102. If the student has already taken the Introduction to Psychology course, he may still elect to take the labs. None of the alterations represent major transformations, and the college is not making any gross changes in staffing.

Ursinus Installs Richter

Compiled by WEEKLY STAFFERS

In an impressive ninety minute ceremony in the College Chapel, Paul Richter was inaugurated as the tenth president of Ursinus College on Sunday, November 13. His predecessors include William S. Petitt, who retired after a 40 year reign from 1930-1970. President Richter is a 1953 cum laude graduate of Ursinus, and he holds a Master's of Arts degree in English from the University of Pennsylvania.

Before joining the Ursinus staff in 1966, Richter was a member of the industrial relations department of the Philadelphia Gas Works Division of the United Gas Improvement Company. He was also employed for a time by the President Mutual Life Insurance Company. At Ursinus he has served as Alumni Secretary and Assistant to the President, and in 1969 he became Vice-President for Academic Affairs. He is also an Assistant Professor of English.

Theodore Raymond Schwalbe, President of the Board of Directors, presided. The program opened with the Academic Procession followed by the singing of the National Anthem and an invocation by the College Chaplain, Reverend Max Nusche. Afterward, the entire assembly joined in the singing of "How Firm a Foundation."

President Richter was then inducted into office by President Schwalm in a brief ceremony which consisted of handing over the mace, symbol of office, to President Richter. The President's Response (text on page 4) dealt with his perception of Ursinus as an academic institution, its illustrious past, and its hopes for the future.

The address was warmly received by the audience. This portion of the program was closed by the singing of "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past."

The next section of the program was devoted to short speeches of greeting from various groups associated with the College. Representing the United Church of Christ was the Reverend Joseph Henry Evans, President of the U.C.C. The Honorable Louis Dam, Pennsylvania's only United States Judge in the Montgomery County Court of Common Pleas. Speaking for the Student Government Association (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)
President Richter's job is not going to be an easy one; the faculty, students and Board of Directors will see to that. And we should not try to make it "easy" for him. He will have to cope with demands from all sides and try to reach a solution equitable to all; he needs the input and ideas from all sides in order to keep in tune with what is happening at Ursinus. He has proven his concern and dedication to Ursinus; we must have faith in that dedication.

In his inaugural address, President Richter showed that his appreciation for Ursinus' past will not interfere with his concern for the future. We quote, "It is altogether practical, therefore, for us to continue the traditional work of Ursinus. But, unless we carefully calibrate our way of doing so, it is dangerous too. It is dangerous because we may fall prey to the past's success and forget that a new day requires new thought and a fresh approach."

He has made his commitment and now it is up to us to help him in whatever way we can to keep it, whether that is praise for a good decision, constructive criticism of a bad one or suggestions on how to improve Ursinus. We can be sure that no matter what is said, it will be treated with respect and thoughtfulness. It is in that spirit that Ursinus will prosper and grow even more. We, the members of the Weekly editorial staff, wish to join with everyone else in saying "Congratulations and best of luck, President Richter."

date: November 7th, was an important day in the history of Ursinus College; our tenth president, Richard P. Richter, was inaugurated. We should be grateful that we will have such an able and efficient administrator guiding the progress of this college. President Richter comes to office with a great deal of support and encouragement from all facets of the college community—his good reputation is the result of a lot of hard work. In his many capacities at Ursinus, including faculty member, advisor to various student organizations and Vice-President for Administrative Affairs, President Richter exhibited a deep and genuine concern. He was always ready to offer some sort of guidance or solution to all who came to him whether it was a student in one of his Freshman Composition classes or the editor of the Weekly agonizing over how to balance the budget. We are confident that the policy of openness and understanding will continue in his new position of leadership.

President Richter's job is not going to be an easy one; the faculty, students and Board of Directors will see to that. And we should not try to make it "easy" for him. He will have to cope with demands from all sides and try to reach a solution equitable to all; he needs the input and ideas from all sides in order to keep in tune with what is happening at Ursinus. Letter to the Editor

Response to "Trees"

To the Editor,

Thank you for your editorial about new trees on campus (Weekly, Nov. 4, 1976). It gives me an opportunity to provide some background that might persuade you and some readers to think more favorably of the plantings. I share, of course, your sensitivity to the need to allocate our income dollars judiciously. But many gift dollars come to the College for purposes which the donors themselves designate. Most of the new trees you have noticed were paid for by such gifts.

The Class of '74, in a spirit of loyalty to the College, donated the money for the four October Glory Maples in front of Brodbeck. Kathy Jameson, class president, wanted the class to leave a living symbol of appreciation—a sentiment I'm sure all will applaud.

The group of trees in front of Heffernan Hall was paid for by the Class of 1937, led by Frank L. Miller, M.D., of Norristown. The trees will be dedicated officially next Alumni Day, when Dr. Miller and his classmates will celebrate the 40th anniversary of their graduation.

The trees and shrubs around Elliott Pool were donated by Mr. Frank Scirica, Class of '51. As those in the Class of '61, small private colleges are not just an educational business that delivers services to the dollar judiciously. It is also an object of loyalty and affection to the thousands who attended the past Gifts of this type not only help sustain the College but also allow the donor to express a feeling for Ursinus in a specific and tangible way.

Our beautiful campus is not an accident. Its great trees and open spaces were planned by the College over many decades. In recent years the Elaine disease has attacked some of our noblest-looking trees, and we have replaced them with others.

For anything to do with flowers or plants, see Ott's Exotic Plants.

Sincerely,
President Richter

Founder's Day: A Presidential Inauguration

President Richter caught in a pensive moment during the Inauguration speech.

Speaking on behalf of the United Church of Christ was the Reverend Joseph Henry Evans.

Dr. Robinson Miller Upton was the guest speaker at Sunday's Founder's Day Convocation and Inauguration.

Representing the student body of Ursinus College was Lawrence Dalaker, President of the Class of 1978.

Dr. Evan Snyder delivered a witty greeting on behalf of the faculty of Ursinus.

Text of Pres. Richter's Inaugural Address

Mr. President, Members of the Board of Directors, Honored guests, distinguished alumni, students, Fellows, and friends of Ursinus:

In accepting this symbol of the official charge, I wish to serve with respect for the traditions of Ursinus College, with confidence in the strong intentions today, and with a keen desire to seize the opportunities that await Ursinus tomorrow.

Of course, I know that these opportunities will come accompanied by a long list of problems. But those of us who have already been encouraged by the example of the men who, from Bomberger to Pettit, have worked to build Ursinus from the modest beginnings through many trials to its present state of strength. I salute them and in particular the two who sit in this hall with us today, President Alvin E. McClure and Chancellor Donald L. Heichelbecher.

It is a happy coincidence, I think, that finds us at this occasion before the beginning of the centennial year. During the past months we have visited our havens and reviewed our cherished national documents. In so doing, we have decelerated somewhat our ability to perceive the trifuge that separates us from each other, that spurs us on and away from the practical and the real, the understanding among ourselves.

During the past many months of us have waived often once again that we do not have a common heritage and something whole about ourselves as a people.

These waning weeks of the bicentennial of the United States are a fitting time to recenter together what it is that Ursinus seeks to do as a liberal arts college: to discover and wholewhness are themes universal to both.

We seek of course to teach English and Spanish and mathematics and psychology and sociology and economics and all the other subjects in the curriculum in all their variety and in all their complexity and with all the pedagogical ingenuity and imagination we can muster.

But through such teaching we really seek to do something more: we seek to teach the citizens and women of uncommon ability to be pilgrims, to be thinking citizens—citizens who will keep the close connection between their private destiny, the destiny of their families, of their communities, and the destiny of their college.

Ursinus always has sought to teach people that the rigorous study of the arts and sciences, an informal and unscheduled and concerned atmosphere, leads to a fuller and richer education as it prepares the student for good service to the world.

Goals for the Years to Come

To this end, I promise to work for all the energy for the purposes of our Board, for the scholarly goals of our faculty, for the aspirations of our students, and for the pride and participation of our alumni and friends.

To this end, I ask our faculty to keep their standards high and to hold fast to their belief in liberal education in an era when so many are seeking to seek the large view of themselves as bearers of a great tradition. I ask the Board of Directors to continue creating the climate for faculty and students to do their best.

I ask the Board of Directors to sustain their generous commitment to the work of this College and urge the alumni to continue by their example to show the world how useful that work is. I invite the friends and neighbors of the College to make our cause their cause. I ask the United Church of Christ to work with us in finding new ways of manifesting the purposes of our founders.

The Great Possibilities of Human Life

And I ask everyone here today, and everyone associated with Ursinus, to share with me a sense of the great possibilities of human life—what Alfred North Whitehead called "the limitless variations of choice, the possibility of novel and untired combinations, the happy turns of experiment, the endless horizons of the future.

It was this same sense of novelty that prompted my favorite 18th century monk, Meister Eckhart, the mystic, to say, "Be ready at all times for the gifts of God, and always for new ones.

Let me conclude by expressing thanks to everyone who had a hand in bringing me to this new position, let me thank everyone for sharing this special day with us, and let me respectfully dedicate myself with the final words of the 1937 inaugural address of the man who taught me a student in graduate school, E. McClure, S.R.C.

Dr. McClure said, and I would wish to say, "Ursinus College . . . must continue to produce scholars and scientists, men and women who are intellectually superior, men and women who will live happy, useful lives who in their years to come will lead us toward that great society of which we dream, but which we may not live to see. Such a college deserves our love and devotion.

To serve the College to the utmost of our abilities to improve its work, to extend its influence, I esteem a rare privilege and a sacred trust. Let us all with dedication and determination dedicate ourselves anew to the service of Ursinus College."
U. C. Band Advances

By SAMUEL S. LAUCES II

The opening of the 1976-77 school year at Ursinus also marks the beginning of the biggest and most successful year to date for the Ursinus College Band. Many of you who have attended the football games have noticed the outstanding contributions to the results of the band’s efforts. The matching band this year numbers about forty members. This is an outstanding number of personnel that can remember the Saturday afternoons not too many years ago when the U.C. Band marched with ten or fifteen members. Furthermore, the matching band is sporting about twelve majorettes, rifle, and color guards.

Compliments on the band’s performance, and most recently, for the homecoming show, have steadily filtered in from many sources.

On the evening of October 27, the matching band left the gridiron and took to the streets for the annual Collegeville Halloween parade. The band, as always, was the hit of the evening, for they marched in full Halloween costume ranging from witches and ghosts to about sixty in number. This year the Ursinus College Jazz Band, under the direction of Mr. Dave Hendel, who not only gives encouragement and leadership as chairman of the Music Department, but whose faithful attendance in the tuba section is a real asset to the band. The finest face this year is Kathy Katarynich, our band front advisor. Dave Schonewolf, president for four years has also been instrumental in the band’s success.

There is only one more thing that the band members can ask for: the increased support of the entire Ursinus community. They look forward to seeing every student, faculty member, and administrator at some or all of the events this year. With your backing, the band will continue to grow and will provide musical entertainment for the school for years to come.

THE URSINUS WEEKLY

Review

Al Stewart
By DON WHITAKER

The mellow tones of Al Stewart’s Year of the Cat album, released by Asylum, record it as reminiscent of most of the earlier Stewart albums. Unfortunately, though, he has a habit of overanalyzing songs from Past, Present, and Future, and concentrates his verse on the more meaningful enemies; “Lord Greville” in the first side records the story of a ship, “On the Border” is about smuggling guns, “Midas Shadow” reacts to staying at an old hotel. Other songs on the first side include “Sand in Your Shoes.” “If It’s a Nice Day You Can Leave It,” the second side presents “Flying Scenery” magnificently recalls an old friend, really into flying “No school walls know what the在未来. While your thoughts could get away, You were taking in Tiger Moth,” a wing tipper back on the day.

Helpful Al with the instruments were Peter Wood, Stuart Elliott, Peter White, Tim Renwick, and the new group of voices which has also been instrumental in the band’s success.

Al Stewart has found a style which apparently suits his artistic needs and one which a number of other bands find it hard to live up to. If he will ever make it big; if Year of the Cat is the critical album; Al Stewart fans will continue to buy, and no one else will ever hear of him.

Devils Beat Bears

By JOE SARACO

Tom Reddow scored twice and Tom Idei threw two touchdown passes but Ursinus lost its eighth football game of the season, 21-18 to the Dickinson Red Devils last Saturday at Patterson Field. The Bears have a final try for a victory Saturday at Moravian.

Each team scored three touchdowns but the difference in the game was Dickinson converting three PAT’s to Ursinus’ none. The Devils took a 7-6 lead in the first quarter on Jim Gerlach’s 18 yard run and the PAT. Reddow answered with a 20 yard scoring carry in the second quarter. The Bears went for two points and the lead was stopped, and the half ended with the visitors ahead 7-6.

Dickinson scored again in the third quarter for a 14-6 lead, but Ursinus came back as Pete Nicholas raced in with a 68 yard pass from Idei. However, the Bears were again thwarted in their two-point conversion try. The Devils QB, Jack Maley, scrambled in from the four in the last quarter to make the score 21-18. The Bears continued the hustle they’ve shown all season as Idei and Reddow combined on a four-yard TD pass. This time, the kick for the PAT failed and Ursinus took another frustrating loss, 21-18.

Correction

In the last issue of the Weekly the results of the Ursinus Field Hockey Team were incorrectly reported. Ursinus played West Chester on October 21st, not on Homecoming, and the game ended in a 3-3 tie. Lock Haven was the opponent on Homecoming Day, October 23, and Ursinus won 3-2. The Weekly sincerely regrets the error.

Volleyball Season Wrap-Up

By MARY BETH KRAMER

With only one game left to play, the Ursinus College Women’s Volleyball team has a record of 6-6. The team defeated Villanova University, Bryn Mawr College, Hartwick, New York, and Ursinus College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutics, The 1976 squad fell to Temple, University of Delaware, Franklin and Marshall, York, Immaculata, and University of Pennsylvania.

This year’s team is captained by Kathy Lataco who was injured in the latter part of the season. The varsity consisted of seniors Kathy Nell, Beth Salamanca, and Rhonda Eriand. Juniors who played were Wendy Klot, Carolyn Graney and Ann Cumpstone. Sophomore Leslie French also played on the varsity.

This year’s team was coached by Gail House. The strength of the team came from the experience of all the returning players. The Junior Varsity also had a winning season. Junior Varsity players were Margaret Borokas, Dot Connell, Jane Harris, Jane Myres, Karen Bartinka and Kathy Smith.

The two most difficult games were Temple and University of Delaware. Presently the team is participating in a Middle Atlantic Tournament and is looking forward to a win over Lafayette to close the season.

X-Country Runs Eleventh in MAC

The Ursinus cross-country team finished eleventh in the Middle Atlantic Conference Cross-Country Championships held Saturday, November 6 at Belmont Plateau in Falmouth Park, Philadelphia. The Bears finished with 288 points, just two points ahead of Haverford and only three behind Juniata. Gettysburg easily won the championship, defeating Franklin and Marshall 28-88. Johns Hopkins finished third with 128 points.

Freshman Joe Figueller, the Bears’ top runner this season, was the only member of the team to finish in the top fifteen individuals. Figueller finished nineteenth with a time of 29:31, only one second behind Jesse Stumpson of Susquehanna and merely two seconds away from the varsity.

Elsewhere in MAC

By JOE SARACO

While Ursinus’ Bears, to say the least, are not in contention for the MAC Championship, our teams are battling for that title. F & M appears to have ended Widener’s reign as champion, but don’t feel sorry for the Pioneers.

Last Saturday, the Diplomats of F & M virtually clinched the MAC by beating Moravian 29-13. The hosts were in charge all the way. Star QB Joe Covello had his worst day passing (4 of 11, 29 yards) but directed an awesome ground attack for F & M. The Diplomats only defeat was handed to them by Widener, but the latter plays few conference games. Therefore, F & M has only to win Saturday to clinch the championship.

Widener bested Dickinson earlier in the season, but it is obviously the best team in the conference. Last Saturday, the Pioneers hand ed Muhlenberg its first loss, 21-16. Despite their probable conference opponent, Widener is hovering for post-season play for the second straight year. If they beat Swarthmore Saturday they will host a national Division III quarter-final game Nov. 20.

CONSIDERING A LAW CAREER?

EXPLORE ALL YOUR OPPORTUNITIES AT OUR ADMISSION CONFERENCE.

Several two-hour sessions will be conducted in Philadelphia on Tuesday, November 23rd and at conveniences time on your campus about your opportunities in the legal profession, the study of law in California, your own potential for law study and admission requirements.

Western State University College of Law is the largest law school in the nation. Admission is based upon a “Whole Person” philosophy. SAT scores, LSAT scores and GPA’s are not a prerequisite to admission.

Please send the following material on your Law School Admission Conference:

- A letter of interest
- Your SAT scores
- Your LSAT score
- Your GPA
