10-28-1977

The Ursinus Weekly, October 28, 1977

Ann Weibezahl
Ursinus College

Jennifer Bassett
Ursinus College

Jane Harris
Ursinus College

Gilder Anne Lewis
Ursinus College

Jonathan Zap
Ursinus College

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Weibezahl, Ann; Bassett, Jennifer; Harris, Jane; Lewis, Gilder Anne; Zap, Jonathan; Brancatelli, Robert; and Davis, Denise, "The Ursinus Weekly, October 28, 1977" (1977). Ursinus Weekly Newspaper. 74.
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/74

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus Weekly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Authors
Ann Weibezahl, Jennifer Bassett, Jane Harris, Gilder Anne Lewis, Jonathan Zap, Robert Brancatelli, and Denise Davis
Ursinus Wins $100,000 Challenge Grant

by Jennifer Basset

Last Wednesday night, the Ursinus community was graced with a speaker with "impeccable credentials." Any one who has received a prize from Berkeley, California, is a professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania, has been endowed with countless grants, and won the Woodrow Wilson Award in 1973, must be mentally gifted. However, it takes more than mental gifts to hold the attention span of an Ursinus forum goer. Hence 36 percent of the course enrollments at Ursinus are in the humanities. Some of the grant’s funds will be used to heighten awareness of students and faculty to the career problems and opportunities of humanities majors.

Richter said, “Many of Ursinus’s most successful alumni majored in English, history and languages and we would like to show today’s young people that studying the humanities can help them develop the skills necessary for a worthwhile career. The Challenge Grant will enable us to do a better job of it.”

Ursinus Appoints Lecturers

Four lecturers were appointed recently by Ursinus College, according to Richard P. Richter, PRESIDENT.

A. Edwards, English; Duane W. Funk, Robert Jones, and Britta Cra ndall, English professor, were hired by the administration installed a flashy office for the Provost, who is the chairman of the Board of Trustees. As of last week, Richter said, “It took us a year to work out a new policy. However, what the professor believes in letting most Asians fend for themselves. (Remember that, “but spectacular event”!) However, what the professor believed in letting most Asians fend for themselves.

Dr. Lee did not waste any time in informing us of Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee has systematically high­lighted the embodiment of previous doctrines of the twen­tieth century, but the bulk of this certainly was foreign to some people present. Nevertheless, he did make it clear that the U.S. had already reciprocated former policies to do the problems of each era.

We were told that Dr. Lee cherry-picked into that statement. After all, there are only so many angles of the Far East to be touched, and the public majority is not fazed by photographs of mucky rice paddies and starving orphans. The Far East was first fiddle by Bert Layne, a veteran of many stage debuts and Shakespeare’s production.

Zap, Louise Barnes and Becky Carol Nistok, Jonathan Crandall, Dr. Lee did not waste any time in informing us of Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee’s doctrine (circa 1969) was, and why it basically spells out what our stand with the U.S. is. Nixon’s doctrine (circa 1969) was left largely to the experts on the Far East.

The presentation started off with some novel tidbits of information concerning Asia and the U.S. were gathered from Dr. Lee’s talk. For example, the concept of U.S. withdrawal from the Far East was not conceived by liberals of the late sixties. It had been seriously considered since 1951; it just took them a while to work out a new policy. Also, Roosevelt’s enthusiasm for becoming an ally of China was provoked largely by the Roosevelt family’s extensive involvement in Chinese trade. Of course, no one will deny that Communist China is one of the United States’ more effective weapons in defeating Japan.

Dr. Lee did not dwell extensively on the U.S. policy, but for our lack of an official Asian policy, he stated three obstacles that can be dreamed of: normalization with the Peoples Republic of China, with the Korean peninsula, and the Taiwan problem.

No clear-cut solution for problems associated with the U.S. was prescribed by any one person. Dr. Lee made sincere attempts to broaden our horizons. He stated that last Wednesday night’s speaker was given too broad a topic to embrace in a mere hour. In spite of the限定的限定性 that are unacquainted with the Far East, much information was presented, and the bulk of it was presented well.

Dr. Lee Speaks at Forum

by Dave Trumbower

The structure was made up of fifty sets of tinke r toys purchased from the Ursinus College Union, and at Norrisst in by Dr. Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee’s doctrine (circa 1969) was left largely to the experts on the Far East.

The presentation started off with some novel tidbits of information concerning Asia and the U.S. were gathered from Dr. Lee’s talk. For example, the concept of U.S. withdrawal from the Far East was not conceived by liberals of the late sixties. It had been seriously considered since 1951; it just took them a while to work out a new policy. Also, Roosevelt’s enthusiasm for becoming an ally of China was provoked largely by the Roosevelt family’s extensive involvement in Chinese trade. Of course, no one will deny that Communist China is one of the United States’ more effective weapons in defeating Japan.

Dr. Lee did not dwell extensively on the U.S. policy, but for our lack of an official Asian policy, he stated three obstacles that can be dreamed of: normalization with the Peoples Republic of China, with the Korean peninsula, and the Taiwan problem.

No clear-cut solution for problems associated with the U.S. was prescribed by any one person. Dr. Lee made sincere attempts to broaden our horizons. He stated that last Wednesday night’s speaker was given too broad a topic to embrace in a mere hour. In spite of the限定的限定性 that are unacquainted with the Far East, much information was presented, and the bulk of it was presented well.

Dr. Lee Speaks at Forum

by Dave Trumbower

The structure was made up of fifty sets of tinke r toys purchased from the Ursinus College Union, and at Norrisst in by Dr. Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee’s doctrine (circa 1969) was left largely to the experts on the Far East.

The presentation started off with some novel tidbits of information concerning Asia and the U.S. were gathered from Dr. Lee’s talk. For example, the concept of U.S. withdrawal from the Far East was not conceived by liberals of the late sixties. It had been seriously considered since 1951; it just took them a while to work out a new policy. Also, Roosevelt’s enthusiasm for becoming an ally of China was provoked largely by the Roosevelt family’s extensive involvement in Chinese trade. Of course, no one will deny that Communist China is one of the United States’ more effective weapons in defeating Japan.

Dr. Lee did not dwell extensively on the U.S. policy, but for our lack of an official Asian policy, he stated three obstacles that can be dreamed of: normalization with the Peoples Republic of China, with the Korean peninsula, and the Taiwan problem.

No clear-cut solution for problems associated with the U.S. was prescribed by any one person. Dr. Lee made sincere attempts to broaden our horizons. He stated that last Wednesday night’s speaker was given too broad a topic to embrace in a mere hour. In spite of the限定的限定性 that are unacquainted with the Far East, much information was presented, and the bulk of it was presented well.

Dr. Lee Speaks at Forum

by Dave Trumbower

The structure was made up of fifty sets of tinke r toys purchased from the Ursinus College Union, and at Norrisst in by Dr. Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee’s doctrine (circa 1969) was left largely to the experts on the Far East.

The presentation started off with some novel tidbits of information concerning Asia and the U.S. were gathered from Dr. Lee’s talk. For example, the concept of U.S. withdrawal from the Far East was not conceived by liberals of the late sixties. It had been seriously considered since 1951; it just took them a while to work out a new policy. Also, Roosevelt’s enthusiasm for becoming an ally of China was provoked largely by the Roosevelt family’s extensive involvement in Chinese trade. Of course, no one will deny that Communist China is one of the United States’ more effective weapons in defeating Japan.

Dr. Lee did not dwell extensively on the U.S. policy, but for our lack of an official Asian policy, he stated three obstacles that can be dreamed of: normalization with the Peoples Republic of China, with the Korean peninsula, and the Taiwan problem.

No clear-cut solution for problems associated with the U.S. was prescribed by any one person. Dr. Lee made sincere attempts to broaden our horizons. He stated that last Wednesday night’s speaker was given too broad a topic to embrace in a mere hour. In spite of the限定的限定性 that are unacquainted with the Far East, much information was presented, and the bulk of it was presented well.

Dr. Lee Speaks at Forum

by Dave Trumbower

The structure was made up of fifty sets of tinke r toys purchased from the Ursinus College Union, and at Norrisst in by Dr. Carter’s foreign policy, which seemed to be, at best, an excuse for the United States to pump more trade out of China than all of Western Europe combined. All of this was stated with utmost tact and diplomatic subtlety, so that the doctor understands that we are only human.

Dr. Lee’s doctrine (circa 1969) was left largely to the experts on the Far East.

The presentation started off with some novel tidbits of information concerning Asia and the U.S. were gathered from Dr. Lee’s talk. For example, the concept of U.S. withdrawal from the Far East was not conceived by liberals of the late sixties. It had been seriously considered since 1951; it just took them a while to work out a new policy. Also, Roosevelt’s enthusiasm for becoming an ally of China was provoked largely by the Roosevelt family’s extensive involvement in Chinese trade. Of course, no one will deny that Communist China is one of the United States’ more effective weapons in defeating Japan.

Dr. Lee did not dwell extensively on the U.S. policy, but for our lack of an official Asian policy, he stated three obstacles that can be dreamed of: normalization with the Peoples Republic of China, with the Korean peninsula, and the Taiwan problem.

No clear-cut solution for problems associated with the U.S. was prescribed by any one person. Dr. Lee made sincere attempts to broaden our horizons. He stated that last Wednesday night’s speaker was given too broad a topic to embrace in a mere hour. In spite of the限定的限定性 that are unacquainted with the Far East, much information was presented, and the bulk of it was presented well.
As much as I always thought that Woody Allen’s movies were the greatest examples of post-war comedy to be found, I always walked away with the feeling that there is a creative dissatisfaction, a limitation in the way he expresses himself. Annie Hall is a transitional film, it is the best living example of the idea that the process is not complete. It’s not a pleasant picture. Too many people are rushing around seeking, and not enough find what they are looking for. You never find as long as you continue to seek. Acquaintances can be friends, but true friends can only be unanticipated.

-But you were talking about art.
-You must try to understand the things which concern art. I think that the artist conceives art in his own true. Life concerns art. Understanding is art.
-That is an important.

Depression seems to be the rage of the day. People don’t care for their own nature. That is evident just by looking at your Ursinus goal. Human nature is realizing emotions peculiarities and needs. We are not humans not machines. I find fewer emotions expressed quite as we are not human even before. The result is not bursts of creative emotions, but imprisoned depressions. It’s even depressing.

As ages ago people were less systematic, more impulsive. There need not be a purpose, only a desire. They had art. They expressed emotions from human nature, not from the nature of the artist. If you are a good writer “acquainted” with life, and not intimate friends with human nature. Shakespeare tragically actually became bad soap opera, in those minds of depressing categorical analysis. This is this and that is that, and never the twain shall meet.

-Is there anything else? Yes. Don’t be a follower, be a leader.
-You can’t compare art to anything! Wait for those bleak ‘friends’ lurking in those wet shadows. They are always there. You will find them come only so far. They will fail if you are friends. They may have better self-knowledge than a four-year college stint. It is time to turn back and descend the stair, to out run the bald spot and get something on the back of your hair.

-So what are you talking about?
-Go back and talk to yourself. Then we will meet again, I can see you. You and I shall meet again.

(The second is a series of articles on loneliness.)