There has been so much more than Chemistry to influence me here. The different type of society, the close quarters, brotherhood and a whole sphere of emotions and feelings all have combined in effect to change what I was somehow into what I’ve always wanted to be. I have had my chance and many second chances with their consequences and rewards. But most of all I’ve learned how to “take it on the chin”

Nothing in the world will take the place of persistence. Education alone will not. The world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent.

Much Thanks to my mom and dad.
Over the past four years, I have made two important discoveries, one about myself and one about other people. About myself I have learnt that if I have the determination I can set my mind to any task and do it well. But more important than that, I have learned a lot from my peers. One cannot place a preconcieved stereotype on a person and truly expect to become acquainted. While at Ursinus I have met many people and some of the most interesting have been those I might have originally stereotyped. They are the people with the most spirit! To all those spirited people I wish the best of life . . . Rose Burgess

The work may seem hard, but the play so much better the pressures so great, but the rewards so special. Friendships that last forever A walk across the campus, In the snow or in the rain. The education is precious, but the memories more dear! In four years at Ursinus A thousand stories I could tell ones of happiness ones of craziness ones of sadness ones of love but most of all I've become educated not just on course material But on life. I know now what life has to offer and what I have to give Through every aspect I have grown aided by academics, by athletics and by social gatherings This education was wonderful And the memories so very dear.

As one upperclassman told me during my freshman year, "Ursinus grows on you." My four years at the college have proven this to be true in a most interesting way. I have learned that an education at Ursinus goes beyond academics alone. Here at UC, students learn to think logically, to deal with real-life situations and most importantly, to grasp a thorough understanding of people in general. However, the most outstanding reality I've experienced at Ursinus is that nothing is impossible. No matter how distant a goal may seem it can be achieved.
