Faculty
Mr. Richard P. Richter
President

Miss Blanche B. Schultz
Assistant Dean of the College

Dr. J. Houghton Kane
Administrative Assistant to the President

Dr. William E. Akin
Dean of the College

Administration
Changing attitudes over the past four years have produced a closer relationship between faculty members and students, as expressed by the Education Department: "Administrative leadership has been open to wider involvement and participation by both faculty and student body in decisions affecting campus life. This is developing improved communications and more activities involving faculty and students."
Administration

Dr. Charles L. Levesque
Director of Continuing Education

Dr. Erlis Glass
Director of Special Programs

Mrs. Bert C. Layne
Assistant to the Dean of Students

Gong Show judges prepare for the worst.
Dr. Donald L. Helfferich
Chancellor

Mr. H. Lloyd Jones, Jr.
Dean of Admissions

Mr. Nelson M. Williams
Business Manager

Mr. Kenneth L. Schaffer
Associate Dean of Admissions

Mr. Richard W. McQuillan
Financial Aid Director
In response to the ongoing "information explosion," modern libraries have become more than mere depositories for printed materials. The Myrin Library has embraced this progressive spirit and is increasingly "being used as a campus information center without regard to medium: audiovisuals, printed materials, computer output."

Mrs. Margaret Staiger
Reference Librarian

Ms. Amy Bolt
Admissions Counselor
Mr. Bowers shows there's more to life than debits and credits.
Mr. Robert R. Davidson
Director of Athletic Facilities

Mr. Michael T. Cash

Mr. Lawrence D. Karas

Miss Adele P. Boyd

Mrs. Constance Poley
Continued interest in combining classroom excellence with success in chosen occupations was exhibited by participants in the Ursinus Business Economics Council. James Miades, Executive Vice-President of Chilton Company, urged students to avoid the qualities of abrasiveness and blindness to human needs; “Scientific management is important to all of us. But let’s not graduate students who lack the ability to juxtapose management tools with empathy and understand how people contribute to any business formula.”
Mrs. Faye F. Shaw
Chemistry

Which way is the action, Dean Rebuck?

Dr. Roger P. Staiger
Chemistry

Dr. Ray K. Schultz
Chemistry

Dr. Douglas Nagy
Physics
Dr. Catherine A. Chambliss
Psychology

Mr. Richard S. Bremiller
Mathematics

Dr. Martha C. Takats
Physics

Dr. George C. Fago
Psychology

Mrs. Margaret Whittaker
Biology

Life Sciences
Perhaps the clearest statement about the Class of 1981 was expressed by Dr. John Wickersham:

\[ \text{μέτρον πάντων χρημάτων ἐστιν ἄνθρωπος} \]
Dr. Roy H. Dungan
Education

Dr. Bruce E. Rideout
Psychology

Dr. Richard Fletcher
Psychology

Dr. Robert V. Cogger
Placement Director
Education

Dr. Conrad E. Kruse
Biology

Social Sciences
Miss Boyd coaches the tenth best team in the nation.
Naturally, faculty members never possess biased attitudes toward particular departments:

1) "Chem majors are always the greatest."
   — Dr. Roger Staiger

2) "This is the first class . . . when the students of economics and business administration have come to predominate in student leadership. I like what I see!"
   — Mr. Harry Broadbent

... well, almost never?
Mr. Edward W. Koc
Political Science

Mr. Theodore A. Xaras
Fine Arts

Dr. Keith J. Hardman
Philosophy and Religion

Dr. William B. Williamson
Philosophy and Religion

Mr. John H. French
Music
Dr. Robin A. Clouser
German

Dr. Danuta S. Lloyd
German

Mrs. Donna Shute
Spanish

Mr. Juan Espadas
Spanish

"Sluggin' Shultz" at bat.
Dr. Annette V. Lucas
French

Dr. Francis C. Novack
French

Dr. Shirley Eaton
Spanish

Mrs. Colette Hall
French

Dr. Lynn Thelen
German

Humanities — Foreign Languages
Humanities
"We've (the English Department) been serving on more committees that split responsibility between faculty and student members, and we like it. Student contributions have been fully as effective as those of the faculty. It's been good for both parties.

"We learn to like every group, every class, more and more the longer we know them. This has been true of the Class of '81. We hope they realize that they are well prepared to face the rough world; they are not going out like sheep among a pack of wolves. We expect to hear good things about them."
Humanities — English

Mrs. Geraldine Edwards

Dr. Joyce E. Henry

Dr. Gayle A. Byerly

Mr. Geoffrey Dolman

Dr. Richard G. Bozorth
Mr. Robert P. Hill

Dr. George G. Storey

Dr. Peter Perreten

Miss Sylvia Sholar

Dr. Kruse warns a student about Wismer food.