THE LINCOLN
13th & Locust Streets,
Philadelphia, Pa.

April 6th, 1918.

My dear Spurgeon:

I rather expect to have printed to form a small volume along with certain other materials, a good many of ~~the~~ signed articles for the Ledger, together with just one editorial that I wrote on the subject of War Diplomacy in Latin America. I assume this will be entirely agreeable to you, but I am writing to request you to be good enough to give me your formal permission.

Let me say again how much I enjoyed my work with the Ledger and how much I regret that it was not possible as things are just now with you for me to continue it. I shall give myself the pleasure of dropping in for a chat some day, before my plans for the summer take me away from this neighborhood. Meanwhile, I remain with kind regards and good wishes

Yours sincerely,

John J. Spurgeon, Esq.,
Editor of the Public Ledger,
Independence Square,
Philadelphia, Pa.
