Mr. Huntington Wilson,
Gloucester, Massachusetts.

My dear Wilson:

I received your book a few days ago, as well as your letter, and have delayed answering it on account of the pressure of business and also because I was compelled to go South, as I wanted to see Judge, who is at a training camp at Jacksonville.

Did you send copies of the book to any of the other Senators? If not, I wish you would let me know, as there are several of them to whom I would like to present copies. I do not mean by this that I want you to send them to me gratis. I will be perfectly willing to furnish a market for your valuable publication by buying them.

I wonder if you saw the inclosed article which appeared in the New York Tribune about a week or ten days ago. I wish you would return it to me after reading it.

You may be interested to know now that we have all our boys in the service. Reed, as you know, enlisted in the cavalry. Hugh has just enlisted in the Navy as a yeoman and Phil is at the training school at Takoma Park, where he has a chance to get either into the coast defense or artillery in a mechanical capacity.

Mr. Huntington Wilson, #2.-

It looks today as if we might have our recess after all and, if so, I want to get to the seashore somewhere where there is good bathing, as the Doctor has told me that this is the best thing for the skin trouble that is bothering me, which, by the way, is very much better than perhaps for a year.

Very sincerely yours,

J. W. Hunt
