With the advent of television a new force is being given to the world. Who can tell what the power to extend vision will mean ultimately in the stream of human life?

David Sarnoff, President of the RCA, July 1939
Table of Contents

4
STUDENT LIFE
The Facts of Life

34
SENIORS
Real World

80
CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS
Friends

100
GREEKS
Family Ties

122
SPECIAL EVENTS
Saturday Night Live

154
SPORTS
The Practice

178
FACULTY & STAFF
Law and Order

198
ADVERTISEMENTS
Commercial Break...
Students face many pressures throughout the day whether it be in the classroom, on the playing field, or at local jobs and internships. Although Ursinus College serves primarily as a means for obtaining a highly competitive education, many students choose other facets to fulfill their interests and desires.

Along with daily responsibilities, students like to reserve leisure time to escape the pressure and relieve stress. Some students attend campus held parties, like the “702 Tuesdays” or the “Tau-Sig Thursdays,” while other students choose different avenues. Some students like to go clubbing in Philadelphia or shopping at the mall in King of Prussia, while others like to simply watch movies with a group of friends. Other campus held events that students love to take advantage of are concerts sponsoring bands such as Everclear or Pat McGee. Besides these entertainment options, major campus events like Family Day, Homecoming, Octoberfest, Spring Fling, and Airband provide other alternatives for students to wind down.

Moreover, students may use athletics or weightlifting as a stress reliever. In fact, a large percentage of students take part in the athletic program at Ursinus, allowing for strong competition with other Centennial Conference powerhouses.

And of course, sometimes students just need to kick back and WATCH MUST SEE UC!
One of a kind: That’s how many Ursinus students are described. By attending such a small liberal arts college these unique and individual students stand out from the crowd. From rafting in the college’s indoor pool to playing Rugby in the halls of Paisley, these students will do whatever it takes to entertain themselves and others.

Don’t Miss!
Who said adjusting to college was tough? These two freshman still found time to have some fun playing games in their dorm rooms.

Getting Down and Dirty
Freshman Rugby players get wild and crazy in the halls of their dormitory. Hope it wasn’t too messy!
WHAZZZ UP?
The cell phone craze allows Ursinus students to stay in touch with their parents and friends, while also avoiding regular phone bills.

Row, Row, Row Your Boat~
Looking for something to do, seniors Courtney Barth, Jessica Troutman, and junior Denise Cook decide to go rafting in the indoor pool. “You never know what crazy antics they’ll be up to!” exclaimed friend Jamie Ruhling.
Games For All
Various carnival-like games were set up for student’s younger siblings!

It’s Sigma Time
The sisters of Sigma Sigma Sigma sold roses to students who wished to surprise their parents. Jocelyn Gaspar, Kim Dalio, and Marcella Glass take a break to pose for a picture.

A Sunny Day~
Parents and students alike were thankful for the beautiful day. Parents felt free to explore the campus or just simply sit down and enjoy a picnic lunch provided by the Wismer staff.

Workshop
Sophomores Joelle Turner and Samit Patel sell t-shirts to help benefit the sophomore class. Way to go guys!
A Good Time For All
The games set up helped younger siblings feel included in the day. The ring toss was a popular event.

On September 28, 2002 parents and other relatives of Ursinus students flooded the campus for the annual Family Day. There was enough food, games, t-shirt selling, and sporting events for all. Relatives had time to explore the campus and visit with their loved ones. Overall, Family Day was another great success.
Study Break
To escape the monotony of late night studying, seniors Faith Lockner, Kristen Dincher, and Abbey Smith relax by playing card games like Phase Ten.

Party Time
After a tough week of classes, seniors Lisa Christy and Megan Peck wind down by attending one of the parties on campus.

Watching movies, going to parties, and attending various campus functions, including sporting events, school plays, or dateds, are among the many activities students find as means for entertainment on such a small campus. School wide events like Homecoming and Family Day, as well as “just” hanging out with friends, are the most popular functions among the student body.

Warped!
After an intense soccer game, seniors Jim Kappler and Jonathan Miller like to relax with a game of Ice Hockey on Sega Genesis. Between the two roommates they own nearly 250 Nintendo games.
And the Winner is...

Excited Ursinus students and parents look on as the 2002 Homecoming King and Queen were crowned. Seniors Mike Papenberg and Faith Lockner were this year’s winners. Other nominees happily look on as Faith is crowned!

Hollywood, Here I Come~
From Tom Petty to Lynard Skynard, junior Denise Cook loves to put on a show for her friends and teammates. Tonight she sang an original song titled “Biological Warfare,” for a couple of close friends.

Happy Hour
Every Tuesday night, the Trappe Tavern in Collegeville features guitarist Mike Mead. Enjoying the music and the specials, Ursinus students Emily Fishwick, Kathleen Rogers, Oksana Yavorsky, Katie Mullien, and Jerry Nichols pose for a picture.
Eye of the Bear?

Senior Brooks Reuter looks on as the bears defense puts a pounding on the Blue Jays. “Obviously you would like to win every time you step on the field, and when you lose it is disappointing... but the team showed a tremendous amount of heart.”

Who?...Me?

Shocked, senior Faith Lockner, humbly accepts her position as the new Homecoming Queen.

Hut, Hut, Hike

Senior Chris Rahill drops back behind his offensive line and looks downfield to his number one receiver, sure-handed senior Chris Glowacki.
Homecoming is about more than just great parties, sporting events or picking a King and Queen. It’s about family. The name, homecoming, implies that Ursinus College is more than just a prestigious academic institution; it’s a place that we have all come to call home. We live here together as a family every day. On October 12, 2002 everyone, from our youngest brothers and sisters of the freshman class to the seasoned men and women of the senior class, came together to celebrate our time here at Ursinus college.
From attending weddings to sun-bathing in Wildwood, Ursinus buds can be spotted everywhere. Students have a great time while clubbing in Philly or shopping at the King of Prussia Mall. Even though some students leave the confines of Collegeville for summer courses and volunteer work, they still have fun together no matter where they go.

Whale Watchers
Hestia, Katie, Amanda, Lauren, Jenny, Erony, and Kisten learn about Marine Biology in their summer course in Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Gettin’ Down Tonight
Jen Perry, Jay Richards, and Leslie Carter dance the night away at a popular club in Philly.
Beach Babes
Kelsey McNeely, Mary Ann Murrow, and Rebecca Gotwals spend a relaxing weekend in Wildwood, New Jersey.

Six Flags!
Chris Carrington and Nick Peacock realize just how lucky they are to be spending a day at Six Flags Great Adventure with their favorite Ursinus ladies.

Who's Next?
All dressed up, Zach and Nicole, have a great time at a friend's wedding.

Pumpkin Patch~
Carla D'Olio sports the latest fashion trends while she shops at the King of Prussia Mall, the largest mall on the East Coast.
Official Business

The newly opened Richter-North Hall is conveniently located on Campus Drive, behind BPS.

Stephanie McNulty, Director of Residence Life, comments, “The new building is a dream come true for Ursinus. Students were very involved in the planning process with the architects...My favorite part of the new building is the amazing amount of common space for students to meet, gather, study and socialize.”

First Class~

In addition to 75 total rooms, including 35 singles and 7 suites, each floor is equipped with its own common area.

Two larger lounges, located on the first floor and in the basement, are used for first-year CIE classes.

“Good Times”

Juniors Rebecca Gotwals and Kristin Galie, along with sophomore Mike Romeo enjoy a laugh despite the hot weather and the loathed process of moving in.
Family Sure Does Matter!
Sophomore Bob Lemma doesn't mind a little extra help from his family.

---

FULL HOUSE

Ursinus’ new residence hall, Richter-North, was officially opened just in time for the beginning of the 2002-2003 school year. The new residence hall is home to 143 lucky upperclassmen. Richter-North is named in honor of Dr. Richard P. Richter, president of Ursinus from 1976-1995.

---

Door to Door Service
These students have the right idea for moving in!

Barely There
Ground was officially broken for the new residence hall in May of 2001.
The Independent Learning Experience, one of Ursinus’ core graduation requirements can be fulfilled in many ways; an internship, study abroad, independent research, Summer Fellows, or a semester of student teaching. In particular, Summer Fellows is an eight-week program that provides the materials needed to explore an individual or group research project.
Does Anybody Know What Time it is? TOOL TIME!

After an eventful trip to IKEA, Cindy Bitar has a good time assembling her new desk!

Wow, Look at That!
Brooke Swalm and Kelly Howell prepare an experiment for their summer research. Their study on the nervous system helped them understand how cells communicate with each other.

I Feel Like Bob Villa
One of the first things that needs to be done when renovating is painting the walls. Cara Nagel and Duane Todd paint the doorframe of one of the three offices.

2002 Summer Fellows
With a leg up on other college students, the Summer Fellows crew not only gained an advantage for their resume, they also had a great learning experience in the process.
Dedicated to Ursinus—

Layali Eshqaidef and her sister trek all the way from Jordan in order to attend Ursinus. “The experience is that much better with a loved one around,” commented Layali.

“Congrats Grad!”
Chuck congratulates his brother Brett Pulsfort on his recent graduation from high school. Now they both happily attend Ursinus College.

Who Says, “Three’s a Crowd?”
Current Ursinus senior Cindy Bitar (center) hangs out with her sisters Mariana (left) and Ursinus graduate Rosana Bitar on Family Day.
Dynamic Duo
The DiCicentonio sisters help boost the volleyball team's spiking and blocking abilities with their height.

Seeing Double?
Bridget and Erin Hussey, twin sisters from Wilmington, Delaware, are currently seniors at Ursinus. Both girls are instrumental players on the school's basketball squad.

Dancing Up a Strom
Senior Michael Pappenberg dances with his little sister Kristen. Both students share the love for soccer, and they play it at Ursinus College. Tonight they were at a Men's and Women's Soccer dated.

With a small campus community, an involved student body, and its high demand for excellence, it is no wonder that so many students and alumni encourage their relatives to experience Ursinus firsthand. Coming as far as Jordon, brothers and sisters offer insight about life at Ursinus. In fact, this year alone over 20 siblings living on campus have called Ursinus home. All in the Family
Quantum Leap

Leaping into the real world, juniors and seniors as well as underclassmen look forward to the advice of Career Services employees to help make the transition as smooth as possible. At career services, upperclassmen can learn how to create killer resumes, and they can also receive help with the interview process. With the staff's help, Ursinus students can often find top internships as well as explore premiere career opportunities.

---

Helpful Hint

Career Services Internship Coordinator, Maria Beazley, counsels a student on his resume and gives her a few helpful pointers.

---

Career Services' Superstars

The members of the Career Services, Maria Beazley, Carla Rinde, and Pat Mancuso enjoy helping students find their niche in life every year.
Sophomore Katie Lehman uses the resources in Career Services to get a head start on her career path.
To Be Or Not To Be
Sarah Kaufman, a student in one of Dr. Rebecca Jaroff's English classes, gives a presentation on her character analysis of Ophelia from Shakespeare's Hamlet.

Hanging Out
Senior housemates Faith Lockner and Lisa Christy relax after a week of studying by getting ready to go out to the Trappe Tavern in Collegeville.

Working Hard~
Sophomore Janine Wenclewicz crams for a major exam. "I hate studying, especially on a Thursday night!" she exclaimed.

Pumping Iron
The new state of the art additions to the weight room entice students like junior Brett Newswanger and senior George Bruminger to use the facility between classes. They decided to take a break from their strenuous class schedule to squeeze in a workout.
Some Join the Fun
Representatives from clubs and organizations invite students to learn more about their associations during the USGA sponsored Activities Fair.

Days of Our Lives
Day after day, students spend the majority of their time attending classes, waiting in line at Wismer or Zacks, and holding late night study sessions with peers. To relieve the stress accumulated throughout the day, students choose to play sports, use the new and improved weight room, and go to parties or watch movies with friends.

Wonderful Wismer
Members of Delta Pi Sigma beat the rush and enjoy a good meal in the Wismer cafeteria.

Would You Like Fries With That?
Sophomore Monica Delaney waits patiently while a Zacks’ employee makes her an appetizing deli sandwich.
Soccer Fanatics
Seniors Russ Sarault, John Dugo, Kim Paulus, and Michael Papenberg stop for a picture at a date sponsored by Men’s Soccer, Women’s Soccer, and Field Hockey.

Going Strong
Friends since freshman year, seniors Kathleen Rogers, Jess Hychalk, and Lisa Christy still remain close. Almost every Tuesday night the trio meets up at the Trappe Tavern in Collegeville.

From freshman to senior year, many groups of friends have remained strong throughout the college experience. Many friendships at Ursinus College begin freshman year because of freshmen clustering in the residence halls of the Quad and BWC. Joining sports teams, clubs, organizations, and fraternities or sororities also helps to solidify these friendships.

THE WONDER YEARS

Living it Up!
Taking time out to pose for a picture, seniors Jess Troutman and Jess Braun have a blast at the Tau Sigma Gamma spring formal.
Best of Friends
Best friends and teammates, seniors Kristen Reed, Desiree Yuhasz, and Mia Lindquist are all dressed up for a night of dancing.

Just Chillin’~
Seniors Chris Rahill, Emily Fishwick, and Chris Glowacki, who also have been friends since freshman year, find a chance to hang out on a Thursday night.

Hit Me Baby One More Time
Always good for a laugh, seniors Steph Covert, Krista Marino, and Jill McFadden decided to dress up as Britney look-alikes for Halloween in their best Catholic school girl gear.

Showing Off
Close friends, seniors Bridget Hussey, Erin Hussey, and Tina Falvella show off their approved party host forms.
A Devil of a Time
Junior buddies Seth Ratajski, Michelle Fontaine, Melanie Brown, Leslie Carter, and Christine Ginty get decked out for the Halloween as devils and an angel.

Bio Buddies
Junior classmates Kevin Sylvester and Hestia Meller enjoy their marine biology field trip to a local museum.

Say Cheese
Juniors Stephanie Postel, Meredith Azzani, Jamie Ruhling, Katie Bechtel, Denise Cook, Blake Forrest, Jess Shellaway, and Nikki Esposito get ready to go out in celebration of Blake's birthday.
Never outDATED

Juniors Holly Bigelow, Brendon Kelly, Bob Goy, Julie Mickles, Angela Kotwicki, Michael Lombardo, Heather Nalesnik, Nadelle Ball, Laura Dougherty, and Adam Keagy, got all dressed up for the fall dated sponsored by Pi Omega Delta. "I love their theme dates, and every year it gets better! Their dates are definitely one of my favorites," remarked junior Nadelle Ball.

At the end of junior year, it is merely 365 more days until juniors are forced to face the realities of the real world. With this situation looming in the near future, the planning begins junior year. Whether these plans are working on internships, taking the MCATs, or researching graduate schools, juniors seem poised to take their position in the lead.

Who's the Boss

The Untouchables
Delta Pi juniors, Michael Casey and Jeremy Landis, play their role as gangster bad guys far too well!
Growing Pains

With one year down and three to go, sophomores have already grown from their experiences at Ursinus. They have rejoiced in each other's successes and supported each other during the hard times. The sophomore class will continue to grow and shape Ursinus as they contribute to the various aspects of the college community.

Happy Days are Here Again

Shane and Chris show their smiley side; something they don't get to do on the Rugby field.

So Long

These three sophomores say goodbye to Cape Cod, Massachusetts. They spent part of their summer taking a Marine Biology course there.

Friends Forever

Allison Rainey and Molly Alberts enjoy their second year as roommates.
Lauren Cubed
Lauren Carrescia, Lauren Brophy, and Lauren Segal hang out in the Ninth Avenue Apartments.

It's Party Time
Kari Baker, Jacqui Slakoper, and Sara Kessler prepare to head out for a night of fun.

Fall Festival
Prianka De and Joelle Turner enjoy s'mores at the annual RHA sponsored Fall Festival in Olin Plaza.

Going for a Stroll~
Josh Rucci and Jill Williams stop to check out the Fall Festival. Hope you remembered to get the FREE candy apples!
Gotta Love the Quad!
Kevin and Kyle are always good for a laugh when you see them hanging out in the Quad!

Yummy!
These ladies enjoy a specially made dinner at Wismer before enjoying their first Friday night as Ursinus students!

Don't Ask Me!
Chris Lou spends so much time in his friends' rooms, he sometimes forgets where his own room is located.

All Smiles
These two freshmen are so glad that they met each other at Ursinus and became friends, they can't help but be all smiles.
Blondes have it Better

These blonde beauties, Allison and Lauren, show that not only are they roommates, but they are also best friends!

Perfect Strangers

In one year, these students who were perfect strangers form bonds that some will have for the rest of their lives. Roommates, hallmates, and classmates become study buddies and best friends as they share the experiences of dorm life, classes, and social gatherings. Their adult lives began on a hot August afternoon, moving heavy boxes into an unfamiliar place, and the journey of a lifetime will continue with each new experience at Ursinus.

Looking for Fun

Freshmen buddies A.J. and Kaity get ready for a night out.

Beardwood Buzz

These freshmen girls relax in the hallway and color some pictures. Don't let them fool you though; Beardwood 2 isn't usually this calm!