Law and Order

In most small liberal arts schools, the faculty and staff play integral roles in the development of the students as people and intellectuals. Ursinus follows the same criteria, and with the increasing demand in the workforce, the faculty and staff become involved in a variety of facets of their students' lives.

Some staff members become advisors to clubs and organizations, while others sponsor sororities and fraternities. Most of the professors as well as other faculty members serve as academic advisors to the students. The function of the various advisors is to help Ursinus students create a diverse, yet efficient plan in order to attain the best possible educational experience.

With all these responsibilities it is no wonder they become the LAW the students follow, and they maintain the ORDER in the lives of the students, guiding them to succeed. These MUST SEE UC faculty and staff also help create the MUST SEE UC students of the future.
