10-12-1984

The Grizzly, October 12, 1984

Rosemary J. Wuenschel
Ursinus College

Tom Feeney
Ursinus College

Brian E. Kelley
Ursinus College

Amy Kistler
Ursinus College

Richard P. Richter
Ursinus College

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/grizzlynews

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/grizzlynews/124

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus College Grizzly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Students and administrators disagree on effectiveness of existing alcohol policies

By TOM FEENEY
A group of about three students and nine faculty members discussed a variety of topics relevant to both the school's existing alcohol policies and amendments which may have to be made to those policies in the future in a session entitled "Talk Back About Alcohol."

The discussion session was held Tuesday in the Parents' Lounges of Wismer Hall. It was intended to afford students and faculty the opportunity to air their views on the theory and efficacy of the school's alcohol policies in the presence of President Richter and Dean Kane. Beverly Oehlert served as moderator.

USGA President Luke Nelligan and Jim Reggiero, a senior, both noted the decline in the number of weekend parties as evidence that the alcohol policies adopted three years ago have been working.

"When I was a freshman," Nelligan said, "I lived in New Men's and I'm telling you, it was just a party. I mean, there were three or four parties over there every night for the first three weeks of school."

Reggiero agreed. "Before if you wanted to drink," he said, "you could find a party somewhere on campus every night. It's not like that now."

Both Nelligan and Reggiero admitted that week nights still do occur.

"I've got a six pack of Molson back in my room right now," Nelligan said, "I'll admit it. It's not like that now." It returns to campus as a temporary economics professor. He chaired the Department of Economics and Business Administration and a full time fellowship was the college's nomination to have him selected by the council for the one year program.

He described his job, in which he works directly for President Richter, which one that involves much observing and some doing. He said that his relaxed attitude is the result of knowing that he has reached the point where he wants to do something new, and that he can't imagine ever leaving teaching.

Pilgrim made it clear that he stay at Ursinus. This decision was probably based on the general satisfaction with the college’s handling of the alcohol problem. Richter said.

"When asked for his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

A stipulation of the fellowship is that he stay at Ursinus for at least one year after it is over. But he did not express an interest in leaving Ursinus.

When Richard was a freshman, he said, "I was a good student. But I never made a big deal about it. I just did my best."

However, when he was asked about his future plans, he said that he didn't know what he would do after he graduated. "I don't have any plans," he said. "I just want to enjoy my time at Ursinus."

Former Ec chairman now ACE fellow

By BRIAN KELLEY
Since returning from his one year sabatical, Dr. John Pilgrim has felt like students don't know him anymore. This is true to be gone long, Pilgrim has not been visible to students since his return to campus as a temporary administrator.

Through a fellowship offered by the American Council on Education, Pilgrim and 38 other professors throughout the country are learning the ropes of college administration.

Until last year, Pilgrim was the chairman of the Department of Economics and Business Administration and a full time economics professor. He chaired the department for nine years.

He described the ACE program as one in which college faculty who are interested in the possibility of becoming administrators, and who show such ability, can see what the job involves.

During the next academic year, Pilgrim will attend meetings of the other fellows, and wills visit other schools, sometimes for as long as a few weeks.

The first step toward Pilgrim's fellowship was the college's nomination to have him considered by the ACE. A large number of nominations sent to the ACE from around the country was narrowed down to 60 finalists, 31 of which were selected by the council for the one year program.

He described his job, in which he works directly for President Richter, who that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked for his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.

When asked about his best guess about what the future holds, he said that he will have some job, which will be teaching if not anything else. And teaching is something that Pilgrim seems to love.
Notes of Yesteryear

By AMY KISTLER

Students of Ursinus are serenaded every morning and ever evening by chimes located in Bomberger Hall. The beautiful melodies are nothing new to the Ursinus campus. The following article, which appeared in The Ursinus Weekly dated December 4, 1944, described the Freeland bell, which, in years past, introduced the beginning and end of each class period. Old Freeland Hall was located on the grounds where Myrin Library now stands.

Believe it or not, the history of the Freeland bell is quite interesting. Be sure to note that the following article was written during the onset of World War II.

War Brings Feminine Touch to Freeland Hall

Not often do we hear the knell of that cheerful bell — Freeland bell.

Gone are the days when Ursinus was awakened in the morning by its honored toll. Now its Hip 2-3-4! Hip 2-3-4!

No longer does it introduce each class. Instead of dashing to classes hoping against hope that your waking clock just might be fast, there was a time when students could tell by Freeland bell whether to break into a mad run or not. But then too, those were the days when 4 or 6 cuts were allowed for courses each semester — go on, drool!

The time it rang with its most glorious peal was when it proclaimed to the world that the Bears had won a game. Today the bell still announces Bear triumphs but with not quite the same enthusiasm, for at previous Ursinus a victory on Saturday meant no school on Monday. Uh hum, drool some more!

This year the old bell let loose its victorious reverberations at the hands of feminine ringers. For the first time in its history, the bell was under the female domain when it proclaimed our victory over F and M.

Of course, there were times when the bell didn’t even announce classes — when it just plain didn’t announce — because of a little matter of no clapper.

Every now and then either silverware or the clapper would disappear for a while just to make life interesting.

At one time an over zealous bell ringer cracked the old bell, but by careful workmanship it was soon repaired and came out with just as fine a tone as ever. Another Ursinus claim to fame: a cracked bell something in common with Independence Hall.

LETTER POLICY

Letters must be typed and no more than 300 words. Name and telephone number are required for verification purposes. Letters should be deposited in the Grizzly mail box in Corson Basement by 7 p.m. Monday. The Grizzly reserves the right to edit all letters. Requests for anonymity will be considered by the editorial board.

Twisted Sister and the state of modern youth dissidence

A satire on unfocussed enthusiasm

By TOM FEENEY

A group of angry young men beat their foreheads against the solid, mock-wooden trash containers in a fast food restaurant, making the potted plastic vegetation wave and wobble. The admonishments of a nearby group of middle aged women were lost in the welter of the precise thuds of flesh on formica and the tinny sounds emanating from the portable stereo speakers.

"We're not gonna take it, (thud)" "Oh, no, (thud)! we ain't gonna take it, (thud)"

The stereo blared. The middle aged women shook their heads at the young dissidents singing along in violent spasms with the music.

"We're not gonna take it, (thud)! Anymore! (thud) (thud)! (thud)"

The young men’s furor swelled, their heads and clucking their tongues against the roofs of their mouths as the angry young dissidents sang along in violent spasms with the music.

"We're not gonna take it, (thud)! Anymore! (thud) (thud) (thud)"

The young man’s furor swelled, their heads and clucking their tongues against the roofs of their mouths, as the young dissidents sang along in violent spasms with the music.

"I'll show you, (thud)," said one middle aged woman who was promptly restrained by her companions."

"Oh, (thud)!

The song represents the ultimate achievement in 20th century pop art. And Twisted Sister, the creative force that spawned the song, are themselves the consumate pop artists of the age. Their achievement lies in their ability to draw forth the most primal, emotional elements from huge numbers of civilized people. And all this in spite of the band’s utter lack of talent! Their winning vocals, screaming guitars, and random, frantic bass lines have stirred up visions of young dissidents, causing them to discover enthusiasm previously fettered by base common sense and some vain desire to co-exist. Twisted Sister has given dissidents heart! Twisted Sister has given dissidents a reason to live! Twisted Sister has given dissidents the strength to show that we aren’t gonna take it anymore!"

"(thud) (thud) (thud)"

This column appears in lieu of white space whenever Tom Feeney feels like writing it and the editors feel like printing it.

By ROSEMARY WUENSCHEL

The time it rang with its most appropriately entitled glorious peal was when it proclaimed to the world that the bell, which, in years past, in some way, crack the old bell, but by careful workmanship it was soon repaired and came out with just as fine a tone as ever. Another Ursinus claim to fame: a cracked bell something in common with Independence Hall.

One young dissident moved away from the trash container and slumped into an orange plastic chair near by. He rolled his eyes and rubbed his forehead as though he was afflicted with the sort of dizziness and faintness with which these dissidents seem to be plagued.

"This is awesome!" he said, watching his friends sing on. "I mean this song, you know, it gives the strength to show that we don't like the oppression and the crop and stuff, you know...? It helps, us let everybody know that we ain't gonna take it anymore!"

"(thud) (thud) (thud)"

His companions urged.

"My kids aren't like that," one of the middle aged ladies said.

"And thank God, too," her neighbor insisted.

The middle aged women picked themselves up out of their chairs, still shaking their heads, still clucking their tongues against the roofs of their mouths, still asking questions at the young dissidents.

The ladies moved toward the door, continuing to berate the young dissidents, leaving large amounts of french fries, burgers and soft drink on their tables.

"We can't stand this any longer one of the ladies told a pimple-faced, polyester-clad assistant manager.

The assistant manager shook his head and clucked his tongue against the roof of his mouth, as he watched the activities of the young dissidents.

The song, the anthem, was drawing to a close, and as a grand finale, the young dissidents were performing a thud! roll, embellished with forearm and hand in hand in the freshman composition.

The song represents the ultimate achievement in 20th century pop art. And Twisted Sister, the creative force that spawned the song, are themselves the consumate pop artists of the age. Their achievement lies in their ability to draw forth the most primal, emotional elements from huge numbers of civilized people. And all this in spite of the band’s utter lack of talent! Their winning vocals, screaming guitars, and random, frantic bass lines have stirred up visions of young dissidents, causing them to discover enthusiasm previously fettered by base common sense and some vain desire to co-exist. Twisted Sister has given dissidents heart! Twisted Sister has given dissidents a reason to live! Twisted Sister has given dissidents the strength to show that we aren't gonna take it anymore!"

"(thud) (thud) (thud)"

His companions urged.

"My kids aren't like that," one of the middle aged ladies said.

"And thank God, too," her neighbor insisted.

The middle aged women picked themselves up out of their chairs, still shaking their heads, still clucking their tongues against the roofs of their mouths, still asking questions at the young dissidents.

The ladies moved toward the door, continuing to berate the young dissidents, leaving large amounts of french fries, burgers and soft drink on their tables.

"We can't stand this any longer one of the ladies told a pimple-faced, polyester-clad assistant manager.

The assistant manager shook his head and clucked his tongue against the roof of his mouth, as he watched the activities of the young dissidents.

The song, the anthem, was drawing to a close, and as a grand finale, the young dissidents were performing a thud! roll, embellished with forearm and
College presidency unappealing

By COLLEGE PRESS SERVICE

"The American college and university presidency is in trouble," a new study reports.

Things are so bad, the study says, that qualified applicants don't want to become college presidents, and, in some cases, incumbent presidents want to get out of their jobs.

The study, conducted by the Commission on Strengthening Presidential Leadership, warns the president's job has become too difficult, stressful and constrained at many institutions.

Colleges have "unnecessarily and unwisely" diminished the power of their presidents in the past 20 years through increased government controls, and meddling by faculty and governing boards, the study says.

The study adds the problems are driving away the top academic officials most qualified for the job.

"Institutions must ask how we can make the presidency attractive to qualified applicants," suggests Nancy Axelrod, spokeswoman for the commission's sponsor, the Association of Governing Boards of Colleges and Universities (AGB).

"Presidential search committees cannot simply sit back and wait for applications," she adds. "They must carefully seek out candidates who qualify for the position."

But only about half of the nation's best-qualified academic officials want to become a college president, the study claims.

And while finding presidential applicants is frustrating, retaining qualified presidents is often harder.

Presidents are stymied by federal and state controls, particularly "sunshine" laws requiring that they conduct official college business in open meetings, the report asserts.

Increased faculty influence in hiring teachers and governing board intervention in daily decision-making also discourages presidents.

"The power of a governing board and how it relates to the president in many cases reduces the power of the president," maintains Larissa Wanserski, and AGB spokeswoman.

Governing board actions can "isolate (a president) from the public, making it hard for him or her to make decisions," Wanserski says.

The beleaguered presidents often react by resigning.

During any two-year period, the study reveals, about 30 percent of the nation's college presidents are leaving or thinking of leaving their positions. A fourth of them are dissatisfied with their jobs.

The average president stays at a college seven years, Wanserski says, not enough time to implement long-term plans for an institution.

"Colleges need to look at the position and make it as attractive and desirable as it once was," she asserts.

Twisted

(Continued from Page 2)

kneecap flourishes.

At the conclusion of the last discordant note, the young dissidents paused briefly at the trash container to pay homage to Twisted Sister, then retreated to the section of orange plastic chairs where their friend was sitting.

Together, they mopped the sweat from their calloused brows, pausing now and then to catch their breath.

One dissident, apparently the leader, reached to shut the radio off. The startling silence lured the dissidents into a state approaching catatonic.

Their enthusiasm had passed like a two-beer-buzz, and they were satisfied with moving to the scrap-filled table that the middle aged ladies vacated in disgust.

The song, the anthem, was drawing to a close, and, as a grand finale, the young dissidents were performing a thud roll, embellished with forearm and knee cap flourishes.

At the conclusion of the last discordant note, the young dissidents paused briefly at the...
UC welcomes three foreign students

By WALTER S. KEEHN

Three foreign students entered Ursinus as freshmen this semester. Aya Mizobe from Japan, Henry Sturman from Holland, and Carlota Castells-Talens from Spain.

Henry and Aya plan to attend Ursinus for its full four year curriculum. Carlota, however, will only be here at Ursinus for this year. She is working as a native speaker to teach Spanish and French in a "live-lab," twelve hours a week.

Although teaching, Carlota has the status of a student who is taking four courses. She came here on a scholarship program that is sponsored by the Modern Languages department. "In Barcelona, I did not know what I was going to study at the university," Carlota hopes that her stay here at Ursinus will help her find her career goals before she returns to Spain next year.

Meanwhile, her course of study here is focused around linguistics. She is taking advanced courses in English, German, French, and Spanish.

Carlota is fluent in the knowledge of the languages already listed, but she prefers to speak her native tongue of Catalan, her first language. Catalan is the regional language of Catalonia, the northeastern region of Spain.

Carlota has spent time in the U.S.A. prior to her stay at Ursinus. She likes the customs, and the new friends that she is making.

The other two new students, Aya and Henry, like Carlota, have already been to the Philadelphia area. They chose Ursinus for its quiet country setting, its proximity to the city, and for its outstanding academic reputation.

Aya was born in Argentina, and then lived in New Jersey for four years. Now, currently a resident of Tokyo, she comes to Ursinus to be an English major. In Tokyo, she attended an international school, where only English was spoken.

Referring to campus life, she said, "I love it! the people here are very friendly and helpful. Ursinus has a beautiful campus." Aya also said she applied to other schools in the Philadelphia area, but she was very impressed with Ursinus. Aya has to study a lot but she also has time for extracurricular activities such as the Union Program Board and the International Experience Club.

The third foreign student to enter Ursinus this year is Henry Sturman from Holland. He too enjoys the campus life away from the city. Henry is taking courses in chemistry and biology, but is still undecided about his future goals.

Lorraine Zimmer, director of admissions, said that recruiting of international students on a very small scale due to the problem of funding. However, there are steps being taken to bring foreign students here, including the mailing of publications to international schools. Also, Ursinus is participating in the ISIS program that allows admissions to buy the names of students that have passed the TOEFL Test; a test similar to the S.A.T.; which examines the candidates proficiency of English.

"We are looking for a slight increase of international students over the next five years," adds Zimmer. "One of the positive aspects of having foreign students on the campus is that they can enrich the lives of the other students by sharing their different languages and cultures."

National Shorts

ANIMAL LIBERATION FRONT 'BOMBS'
CAL-DAVIS RESEARCHERS

Davis professors Charles Cornelius and Andrew Hendrickx received a note saying, "This is not a bomb, but time is running out" on the research experiments taking place at the California Primate Research Center.

The delivery forced an evacuation of some Davis streets.

The A.F.L. also spray-painted "Killers" on the side of Hendrickx's car.

The ticking boxes contained alarm clocks and copies of the book "Animal Liberation" by Peter Singer.

COURT ORDERS BLACK COLLEGE TO DESEGREGATE

Federal Judge Thomas A. Wiseman has ordered traditionally-black Tennessee State University to be half-black, half-white by 1993.

His order ends a discrimination battle that began in 1968 to force traditionally-white campuses to admit black students.

Wiseman maintained the best education is one "in which race is irrelevant (though) there must be color consciousness to overcome the effects of past discrimination."

IOWA STUDENTS ASK FOR A TUITION INCREASE

In part to fight a possible six to 12 percent tuition hike next year, students from Iowa State, Iowa and Northern Iowa united to ask the state regents for a four percent hike.

After the meeting last week, one regent said the presentation was so impressive that the board may decide to veto any tuition increase.

GRIPING SESSION ABOUT APATHY FAILS TO DRAW MANY STUDENTS

Only one student showed up to U. Oklahoma's student government's "Gripe Night."

The one attendee complained grad student "morale" was so low that people were leaving the campus for other schools.

The night before, a campus rally against a ballot measure to allow liquor by the drink drew only two people, both evangelists, inquester students.

WHITE HOUSE ENTERTAINS 20 COLLEGE EDITORS

U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick spoke to the editors about American participation in the arms race, and called the cold war years "happy years" of U.S. prosperity and "quite hopeful" trends.

A Reagan aide denied the White House session was a campaign play for student support, claiming the administration has made "an ongoing effort" to make officials available to the student press.

The Admissions Office thanks all the host and hostel volunteers for Red and Gold Days. We can't use all of you for the October program. However, we will call upon you for one of the November programs.

Again, thank you for your help and support!
By TIM COSGRAVE

The Ursinus Grizzlies finally got on the winning track Saturday with a 21-20 victory over Johns Hopkins. After spotting Hopkins 20 first quarter points the Grizzlies roared back to notch the victory.

The Bluejays started the scoring first when their fine signal caller Steve Campbell found wideout Mark Mitchell open for a 5-yard touchdown pass. The Bluejays scored again on a Campbell pass and then later on a 20-yard run. At this point things were not looking good for the Bluejays. Head Coach Sterling Brown recalled, "I thought it as an early Halloween, things were getting ugly out there!"

The Grizzlies defense stiffened and the offense shifted to high gear in the second quarter. The Grizzlies started the scoring when quarterback Brian McCloskey passed to Joe Sawyers for a 7-yard touchdown. The half ended with the Bluejays up 20-7.

In the second half the charged up Grizzlies were a new team. The offense line of Mike Maratea, Dave Spouse, Bill Furlong, Sam McNulty, Jim Maloney and Dom Mallozi completely controlled the line of scrimmage. The Grizzlies continued their comeback when Brian McCloskey hit freshman tight end Scott Smiley on a 15-yard touchdown pass. The Grizzlies still trailed 20-14.

Defensively the Grizzlies were able to shut down Campbell and the Bluejay offense. Exceptional performances were turned in by John Markoe, Joe Antonio and Gavvin Lentz, who recovered two fumbles.

The Grizzlies final score came when tailback Joe Sawyers leaped for a touchdown from the one-yard line. The scoring drive was started when the swarming Grizzly defense recovered a fumble at the Hopkins 10 yard line.

The victory felt exceptionally good for the Grizzlies as many players remember last year's second loss to the Bluejays. This week the Grizzlies travel to Gettysburg to meet the Gettysburg Bullets.

The undefeated Bullets are led by "All Centennial" tailback Tim Condren, offensively and defensively this will be the best team the Grizzlies play all year.

On Monday, the Junior Varsity notched their first victory with a 19-14 victory over Delaware Valley College. Fine offensive performances were turned in by Roger Brewster, Joe Donovan, Russ Perry and Joe Giampalani. Defensively Rick Volko, Joe Vereen and Scotty Wolpert all played well.

SPORTS WATCH

| Field Hockey | Princeton | Sat. 10/13 10:30 H |
| Soccer | Alumni | Sat. 10/13 10:00 H |
| | | Swarthmore | Tues. 10/23 3:00 JV; H |
| | | Swarthmore | Wed. 10/24 2:30 JV; H |
| Volleyball | Rosemont | Tues. 10/23 7:00 H |
| Cross Country | Millersville | Sat. 10/13 1:30 H |
| | Swarthmore | Sat. 10/20 1:30 H |
| Football | Gettysburg | Sat. 10/13 1:30 A |
| | Lebanon Valley | Sat. 10/20 1:30 A |

John Ackerman, junior, kicks one past an opponent. Acker is the leading scorer on the Bears with 9 goals and 8 assists. The Bears' overall record is 8-2.
There's no nightclub in this world — or anywhere — quite like Pulsations. Blazing lights, streaking lasers, unequalled special effects, radiant towers of glowing light rise from the floor. A huge android feet wide, to the dance floor! The most you moving to the hottest dance fine as the cost of fine would be an ample deterrent hits.

ference between a 25 cent fine for

Akin

Saturday.

believes there is a alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in

"the

"Alcohol

fine as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.

• Alcohol

(Continued from Page 1)

highway, I can't write off a $50

as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set

disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.

• Alcohol

(Continued from Page 1)

highway, I can't write off a $50

as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set

disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.

• Alcohol

(Continued from Page 1)

highway, I can't write off a $50

as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set

disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.

• Alcohol

(Continued from Page 1)

highway, I can't write off a $50

as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set

disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.

• Alcohol

(Continued from Page 1)

highway, I can't write off a $50

as the cost of travel." A stiff fine would be an ample deterrent, according to Akin.

"There's a difference between $10 and $50," he said. Similarly, Akin believes there is a difference between a 50 cent fine for overdue library books and a $50 fine for carrying open containers of alcohol around campus.

But Dean Kane spoke out in support of Dean Rinde's view. He believes a set

disciplinary actions taken in lieu

A stiff

required. Located on Route 1, between Media and Route 202 in Glen Mills, Pa. For cover charge information, call (215) 459-4140.
New faculty
Math welcomes Shaw

By KATHY STOLNIS
Mr. Michael F. Shaw was welcomed to the Mathematics Department this semester. If the name sounds familiar to any of you Pre-Medical majors, there is good cause. Shaw is the son of Mrs. Faye Shaw, instructor in chemistry. Both Mr. Shaw and his sister Melissa elected to become involved with Ursinus. Melissa graduated last year with a B.S. in biology. Mr. Shaw's prior exposure to the campus influenced his decision to teach here. Shaw admires the unique personality exhibited by small liberal arts colleges and thrives on their "air of friendliness."

When asked about the college in general, he remarked, "The students at Ursinus are extremely polite and friendly, more so than any other college I've ever visited." Although Mr. Shaw noticed that the variety of students is not extensive, he values the exceptional rapport professors and students share.

Shaw graduated from Millersville University, obtaining a B.A. in physics and a B.S. in mathematics. In his spare time, he tutored math, physics, and computer science in the Learning Activities Center. He received his masters at Shippensburg University, majoring in Analysis and fulfilling a teaching assistance-ship.

Although Shaw just graduated in August of 1984, he is well on his way to success. Commuting from his home in Lancaster just outside the campus of Franklin and Marshall College, Mr. Shaw instructs a precalculus and calculus course on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. His leisure hours are spent either swimming or playing basketball. Shaw enjoys sports and is an avid college football fan. His favorite team is Penn State.

Even though Mr. Shaw claims he is still a "poor college kid," he has big expectations for himself. He plans to begin his Ph.D. work in the spring at Lehigh or Drexel. Ursinus is bound to benefit from such a determined, energetic addition.

No Fees! Unlike some charge cards, there is no up-front cost or annual fee for National's card.

Establish Credit! You don't need a long credit history to qualify. And it will help you build a positive credit rating.

Slick! No long forms to fill out at rental time, no hassles with cash deposits.

Trans-Sportable! National has cars to fit any occasion—from economy up to luxury cars, from station wagons to sports cars. And National offers special low rates for weekend and weekly rentals at most locations.

Reliable! National is well known for clean, top-condition rental cars. When you plan a road trip, plan for an easy getaway. Use the National V.I.P. credit card, the easy way to be a Road Scholar.

Pick up an application on campus or at a nearby National Car Rental location.

You deserve National attention.

Puzzle Answer

E G O
E M
S T R I P
B E F O R E T R I T O N
B I
B A R G A I N
T I
S I L L
D R A G
T H A T
T A L E
A A R O N
D E B T  O F
N E E D
D O W N
A M
M I S T E M
N I E C E
V I
A S C A R
T O R N
E N S
N O
R S
R E D E E M S  T H E
S A T I R E
D I N N E R
L O E S S
S R
D E D E

National Car Rental makes it easy.
Our credit card is now available to qualified college juniors, seniors and grad students who possess a valid driver's license and qualify from a credit standpoint. It's a privilege you won't find at most other car rental companies. And it can do a lot for you:

Available at:

PHILADELPHIA
Philadelphia International Airport
1711 JFK Boulevard
Sheraton Inn (38th & Chestnut Sts)
Philadelphia International Airport
215-492-2700
215-567-1700
215-982-0504
215-492-0504

KING OF PRUSSIA
Sheraton Valley Forge Hotel, Route 363
69 Route 41 (Deerfield/Woodbury)
318 Saw Mill Plaza, Route 70 (Cherry Hill)
610-267-1706
610-739-5344

NEW JERSEY
215-267-1706
610-739-5344

Like this Chevrolet truck.

National Car Rental

Like this Chevrolet truck.
Pennsylvania really means named after its founder, William "Penn." There's one river in Pennsylvania that flows north! It's the Monogahela. There are very few the Nile River in Egypt and the rivers in the world that flow north instead of south. Two others are Pennsylvania has more covered bridges than any other state. There are 228 of them here. Every year, the Little League World Series was born Little League World Series is played in Williamsport. Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian Indian School in Carlisle. He is after him. It's Jim Thorpe, Carbon County. Pennsylvania. Actually the early "PENN WOODS." But it wasn't named after its founder, William Penn. It was named after his father, Sir William Penn. There's one river in Pennsylvania that flows north! It's the Monogahela. There are very few rivers in the world that flow north instead of south. Two others are the Nile River in Egypt and the St. John's River in Florida. Pennsylvania has more covered bridges than any other state. There are 258 of them here. Little League Baseball was born in Pennsylvania. Every year, the Little League World Series is played in Williamsport. Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian athlete, spent many years at the Indian School in Carlisle. He is buried in the town that is named after him. It's Jim Thorpe, Pa. in Carbon County. Santa Claus came from Pennsylvania. Actually the early

The Grizzly is looking for Writers Photographers Typists Graphic Artists and anyone interested in assisting with layout

ACROSS
1 The self 25 Pedal digits
4 G.I., e.g. 27 Black
6 Denude 30 Seines
11 Previously 32 Ridicule
13 Marine small 35 Determines
15 Prefix, twice 37 Gaseous element
18 Agave plant 38 Declares
21 Compass point
23 Again: prefix
21 Part of window frame
22 Haul with effort
24 Conjunction
26 Story
28 French for "summer"
29 Home-run king
31 Amount owed
33 Owner's risk abbr.
34 Want
36 Below
38 Before noon
40 Stalk
40 Female relative
45 By way of
46 Roommate
47 Mark left by wound
48 Bobbed
50 Old-time slave
52 Mental image
54 Symbol for sodium
55 Rupees: abbr.
56 Buys back
59 Symbol for tellurium
61 Sarcasm
63 Repast
64 Negative

The Movie: On Golden Pond — The beautiful countryside of New England sets the scene for this extremely moving and very touching move. Katherine Hepburn, Henry Fonda, Jane Fonda and Dabney Coleman give fine performances. Don't miss it! Time: 10 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12; 7 p.m. and 12 midnight, Saturday, Oct. 13; 9 p.m. Sunday, October 14. Place: College Union.

ON-CAMPUS STUDENT RECRUITER
Work around your classroom schedule...recruiting other students to work during the evening hours. For each student you recruit and have register and work for our company, you earn CASH! In- crementally-based, the more you recruit, the wealthier you become! Call today for details... TEMP-SAMERICA 665-1154.

Digital watch found 10/8/84. Can claim in College Union Office.