Indian Kickingbird Addresses Forum

Mr. Kirk Kickingbird of the Department of Indian Affairs spoke about Indian legal problems at the College Forum on Tuesday, February 28. Mr. Kickingbird is assigned to the congressional relations area of the BIA and is also legal consultant for the tribes. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma in History and Law.

He stated that Indian Law has its "specificities," but nevertheless, it has bases in common law, torts, and state information law. He gave a brief sketch of the history of federal departments concerned with Indian affairs. He emphasized the fact that such agencies have gradually passed from military control to civilian control, and that the present BIA has a number of Indians serving in administrative positions; he himself is a Nez Perce.

Separate Jurisdiction

Mr. Kickingbird noted the separate jurisdiction of the Indians. They do not live together before the government but are not subject to the federal government but are not subject to the general jurisdiction of the States. Thus, their lands are not taxable since they are kept in trust by the Federal Government for the Indians by the Federal Government, and is also operated for the Indians by the Federal Government.

Travelin' Four

On May 13, Travelin' IV, the Scott Pierce Memorial Concert will be held in Ursinus. The name of the concert, which opens spring semester, is a campus tradition, for the show which comes through the BIA, and is also sponsored by the Student Life Committee, is named for the "Scott Pierce Memorial Concert." As a campus tradition, the composition of this show is composed of the group Ben Pierce Memorial Concert.

Kickingbird mentioned that the American Indian still knows his language, but often learns more rapidly if he does so. Main Problems

He cited the two main problems of the Americans as being religious and other problems; for him, the practice of their religion. Education is increasing, and vocational training as well as college opportunity are available to Indians.

RECENT FACULTY ACTIONS

The U.S.G.A. Constitution was approved, as revised in January, 1971.

The constitution of a proposed new organization, Campus Girl Scouts, was approved, as presented by Dean Harris.

The following proposals of the Summer Reading committee were accepted: that the program next year be recommended only for freshmen; that three books be selected, one each in humanities, biological sciences, and natural sciences, since nearly every freshman takes English, a foreign language, and a science.

WANTED: Psychologist

Chuck Chambers

Ursinus, unlike many schools its size, does not have the regular services on campus of a practicing clinical psychologist whom students may consult for personal adjustment or vocational guidance when the need arises. The college should have one.

Until this time Ursinus has relied on the faculty, the Deans, and the college chaplain for these services, and they have somehow managed to do most of the job, but we feel that they need the back-up of a clinical psychologist in many cases. If a person becomes...
The students at Ursinus, like the school itself, harbor the idealistic reputation of being socially liberal and educationally conservative. This trite and exag- gerated condition has been disproved by the fact that the only one of this college's most fascinating groups on campus (from an anthropologist's view), is probably the most active and responsible on the campus as a whole. Like artists striving to paint an illusion, everything is done to com- plete the illusion, but the behavior necessarily constitutes changes, but the illusion is not meant to categorize these students as radicals, revolutionaries, minors, or freaks. On the contrary, this type of group is a contradiction of the social climates on campuses and in communities throughout the country. What is unusual and subject to this form of division is that it exists at Ursinus.

For those who are completely un- familiar with the history of Ho- ris of Ursinus College, it will be interesting to examine the habits, ideas, and achievements that is characteristic of this community. Curtis basement is, in other words, an isolated society, a microcosm manifesting its own behav- ioral patterns and cultural traits. A code of ethics and rights different from those of other resi- dences prevails, and is the product of the students, not of the adminis- tration as well as of the students themselves. Interesting is the fact that both student and bugs share the benefits of this communal cornerstone.

Curtis Basement: Strangers in Paradise

By DAVID L. HERMANY

The students themselves are of the most personable on campus. They accept visitors with the same generous spirit as Tolkien's Ring of Brodick. People who have never been on campus who need a place to stay can find one here, as well as of the students themselves. The students are the benefactors of this communal cornerstone.

The Common Denominator

Inherent to all who live in Curtis basement is the fact that they have a feeling of discontent. They seem to exist in a world of their own, separate from the rest of the academic pursuits. Music plays an important role in their daily lives. People who do not understand Curtis basement may not understand what it is, but it is a part of the community. It is a place where students and faculty come together to share ideas and to enjoy each other's company. It is a place where students and faculty can relax and unwind.

Bears Fall to E. Baptist

By DON MCVINKEY

The past week for the Ursinus basketball team can be characterized in two words—bad luck. During the last seven days, Ursinus met Swarthmore College and Eastern Baptist College on the opposition’s home court. Although the Bears played well enough to win in both games, the breaks went against them and they lost the pair by less than six points.

On Wednesday, February 24, the Bears lost a heart-breaker to the Garnet of Swarthmore, 59-57. The Bears controlled the game during the first 20 minutes, and were leading 36-24 at the half. Ursinus used a tight zone defense and some good shooting from the field to build up their twelve point margin.

The second half was a completely different story however, with Swarthmore quickly gaining the momentum and never relinquishing it. The Garnet scored the first six points, cutting the lead to 36-30. Ursinus maintained its scoring advantage throughout most of this half, but Swarthmore managed to tie the score at 35-35 with five minutes remaining on the clock. Both teams scored two more field goals before Rick Miceli sank two free throws for five seconds left to win it for Swarthmore.

Mike Harris was high for Ursinus with 23 points, and Gary Schaal was second with 11.

The Eastern Baptist game was another closely fought contest, with the Bears coming up on the short end of a 62-58 score. Eastern Baptist held a four point lead at the half, and was able to hold it for the remainder of the game. With a little more than six minutes left to be played Eastern Baptist decided to freeze the ball. The game was won on the foul line, since both teams shot 21 for 29 from the charity line. Tom Sugress led the Ursinus attack with 22 points, and Mike Weston contributed 12.

Kilt-Klad’s Comments

By CRIS CRANE

A big kickoff kicked off the Kilt-Klad’s winter winnings as teams from Pennsylvania and New Jersey fell by the wayside. In the pool, Mr. Van Horn’s Aquabears emerged victorious at Chestnut Hill despite multiple victories turned in by Trudy Schwenker, Betty Clayton and Wendy Look. Terry Connell, Pam Pool, Bobby Petetti, Harriet Boyeld and Marion Hunter added points as well. A strong E’s-R Urg team washed out their hopes of an undefeated team, but pushed them to some impressive times! Eryn Mawre and Trenton this week.

Nemesis East Stroudsburg, with their eyes on the National Championship at North Carolina, surprised the Skullbelleis on their foreign, French-Friend court in their opening game, but the Belles bounced back with impressive wins over Goliathburg and Trenton State. Beth Anderson’s drive has proved devastating to defenses thus far, as has Lyn Dowse’s jump-shot from the key and Kip Mallock’s twine. The other set, Ballhandlers Bob Cash and Carol Bishop keep the possibility of the fast-break in the forefront. Claudia Bloom, freshmen phenomenon, has also lived up to her reputation. Meanwhile, the second team, also styled by E’s-R Urg, chalked up wins over various from Penn and Temple. Next week finds West Chest (A) and Glassboro at home on Friday.

Miss Boyd’s badminton Racketeer’s record remains unblemished with shut-out victories over R˘en要素, who won in the first set.

Harris Named Baseball Coach

Gene H. Harris has been named varsity baseball coach at Ursinus College. It was announced by Athletic Director, Everett “Ace” Barley. Harris, a 1960 Ursinus grad, will be the 17th Varsity Baseball Coach at the College.

Harris succeeds H. B. (Ted) Taylor, who coached the 1970 Bear baseball team.

Harris is currently on sabbatical leave from William Tennent High School where he was Director of Special Education and Work Experience Coordinator, and coached the Varsity Baseball and Basketball teams.

At Ursinus, Harris was Co-Captain of the Football and Basketball teams, and received the Most Valuable Senior Athlete award for Baseball.

Harris will coach the varsity team. Both the baseball and football programs are in need of a new coach. Current coach is presently residing in Richboro, Pa. with his wife, Robin, and their four children. Wendy 13, Gene Jr. 10, Heather 8, and John 5.

Harri’s dilemma is a matter of money. The conference was originally founded as a haven for small special education and insurance program. Ursinus’ dilemma is a matter of money. The prime advantage which has kept us at parity with the other MAC members over the years.

This ruling will force Ursinus to compete on an unequal basis with most of the MAC’s other teams. We have lost the prime advantage which has kept us parity with the other MAC members over the years.

The ECAC ruling points out Ursinus’ basic dilemma in intercollegiate competition, particularly in football and baseball. We were forced to use freshmen to prevent the other MAC schools from beating us regularly. Why? Because those schools have better facilities, more athletic scholarships (though they are not called that), and well-financed recruiting programs. Ursinus’ dilemma is a matter of money. It is also a question of the place of athletics in a liberal arts college.

Our rivals in the MAC, but for simon pure Haverford and Swarthmore, are taking winning very seriously these days. Ursinus has been forced to use freshmen to prevent the other MAC schools from beating us regularly.

The original raison d’etre of the MAC has become old-hat for most of the team members. They want to win, and are willing to pay the price for victories.

Of course, we cannot cite specific examples to verify this story. But it is obvious that the character of the MAC is changing—the chasm that exists between the winners and losers in football over the past five years is proof enough of this.

Ursinus is on the spot. The ECAC’s recent ruling has exposed our problem. We have competed on an equal basis with the help of a rule that has been abandoned.

We now have to face this new challenge.

The South Vietnamese pledge to enter a series of procedures to guarantee the safety and political freedom of those South Vietnamese who have collaborated with the U.S. or with the U.S.-supported regimes.

8. The Americans and Vietnamese agree to maintain the independence, peace and neutrality of Laos and Cambodia as defined by the 1954 and 1956 Geneva conventions, and not to interfere in the internal affairs of these two countries.

9. Upon these points of agreement, we pledge to end the war and resolve all other questions in the spirit of self-determination and mutual respect for the independence and political freedom of the people of Vietnam and the United States.

By ratifying this agreement, we pledge to end the war and resolve all other questions in the spirit of self-determination and mutual respect for the independence and political freedom of the people of Vietnam and the United States.

This document was made public during the expansion of the war into Laos. The American people have been requested to take an interest in the war. The Paris peace talks have yet to be shown to any viable solution. If the American people pledge to support this treaty and to enforce it with a permanent draft resistance or withholding taxes, we could end the war effort, we could stop this hideous war and redeem our image abroad.
