The Ursinus Meal

Among the many criticisms which students are prone to level against their college communities, those dealing with their food are the most universial and the most loudly protestted. The average college meal might, in fact, be exactly the disastrous comedy that they claim it is, but it is more often the result of a general inability to arrange the schedule to suit the students’ needs. Such is the case of the Ursinus meal, as seems obvious from the following report excerpted from a letter to the editor:

"The shorthand courses are very much in demand here, but the food is not always up to par. There are times when it is good, but other times when it is not. The variety is also limited, and there are some days when there is hardly anything to eat. The meal times are also inconvenient, and we find ourselves having to eat in the dormitories or in our rooms."

The complaints about the food are understandable given the limited time and resources available to the dining services. However, it is important to note that the students’ needs are not always met, and there is room for improvement in the quality and variety of the meals offered.

New History Column

GO YOU BEARS! (or glimpses into the rich and varied past of Grizzlies.)

by R. Myers

Have you ever thought, "If only we had more sports?" This idea has been running through my mind since I started here last year. I cannot help but wonder why Ursinus has never had a football team before. There are many reasons why it has never had one in the past, but I think the main reason is that the administration has been too afraid to take the risk of failure. However, with the rise of intercollegiate sports, I believe it is time for Ursinus to join the ranks of the grizzly nation.

The Bear's history is rich and varied, and there are many stories about the team's epic battles. One such tale is the famous game against the Arch Rival, the Grizzlies. The Bear's won the game with a dramatic last-second field goal, much to the delight of the Ursinus faithful.

In conclusion, I believe that Ursinus should start a football team. It will bring a lot of excitement and pride to the Ursinus community, and I am confident that the Bear's will be a successful team.

Chapel Examined

Dear Editor,

Composiory chapel is taken pritty much as much of a course at Ursinus. "The word has been that it is a course which is good for the religious education, which cannot differentiates it from any other courses, and I take it for granted that the students will be pleased with it. However, I have not really been able to make up my mind about the course until I actually took it.

In the past I have always been a bit of a skeptic when it comes to religion, but I have found that this course has really opened my eyes to the beauty of the faith. The lectures are very engaging, and I have found myself looking forward to them every week. I think that everyone should give it a try, even if you are not particularly religious. After all, I have learned a lot about myself and the world around me.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the gentleman who stole the money from the mailbox yesterday. I believe that he should be brought to justice. I have seen him around campus before, and he always seems to be in a hurry.

I hope that the authorities will take this matter seriously, and that the culprit will be apprehended.

Sincerely,

The Crucible: A Play for All Seasons

by M.H. Ehrlich

This article is not intended to be a review of the recent performance of The Crucible which the Curtain Club acted last week, but instead a brief evaluation of the play and an explanation of what the Curtain Club's production aimed to achieve.

First, the play. The Crucible is certainly a superlative reading of a Shakespearean seventeenth-century. Rarely has a merely a period drama, it is a modern morality play delineating the stunning parallels to the present. Its pressures and group hysteria mirror exactly all centuries and its resulting driven individuals mirror today's. Miller wrote The Crucible out of the McCarthy hearings of the early 1950's, but he claimed for himself an impersonal foot not about 1500's, a description of the people and the emotions of the time, in the finger of guilt others. Indeed, most agree that the William's Williams and the characters, of different women of witchcraft.

When Miller was called to testify, he invoked the Fifth Amendment, refusing to implicate his wife, Olive, and many of his friends, including several ardent Republicans. As a result of Miller's refusal, he was banished by the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Because of the particular kind of deplored the hearings because, associates. Yet the hearings were not merely a period drama, it is a system that borded on the impractical. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings. The hearings were not merely a period drama, it is a system that bordered on the impractical. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

This is a difficult idea to solve. Consider a large array of rocket engines distributed in a band about the earth, all pointed toward the earth, and all in the same direction. When an impulse is imparted to earth is subjected to a large torque, the earth's axis of rotation, accelerating it. For a rocket system of the rocket thrust the model would then be divided into the original target on the engine's axis of rotation.

System Parameters

We will assume that the rocket engines are spaced 1000 seconds available between de- sign parameters. Drying the rocket engines to a given temperature. It is a system that bordered on the impractical. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

We have not included in this paper the effect of linearity. The effect of linearity is not included in this paper. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

However, aggressive study of the production techniques for the engines should lead to the conclusion that only about 1 million M. Hey's.

Side Effects

There are, however, many undesirable side effects from our system. Most objects on earth are moved around after our system. The most obvious in the atmosphere, which is not only destroyed and heated. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

In the act of being difficult to make, the rocket would be impossible. However there are other aspects of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

GIBSON GOES FOR SECOND WINNING SEASON

Wrestling Coach

Coach Barry Gibson returns for his second wrestling season at N.C. State, and the team, which recently completed a 7-2 season, will have high expectations of another winning squad. The Blue and Gold, which finished third in the ACC, has high hopes of repeating that success for the 1966 season.

Coach Gibson returns after a 2-year stint as a wrestling coach at the University of Maryland. He has had success with previous teams, and his return will be a boost for the Wolfpack.

By the end of the season, Gibson will have wrestled at 160 pounds and is projected to win a national title in that weight class.

Linda Nixon and Kim Brown Make U. S. Reserve Team

On Wednesday, November 22, nine Ursinus varsity hockey players, with stick-in-hand, boarded the Twin Flight 555 for St. Louis, Missouri, sight of the National Hockey Tournament. This was the culmination of a long and successful season for the girls. Ursinus was undefeated in their regular season, placed all eleven players on college teams and nine on sectional teams.

Rain may have made the St. Louis field soggy, but it didn’t dampen the spirit of the Philadelphia teams as all four teams scored undaunted records.

The high point of the tournament was the annual banquet held on Saturday night, at which the selections for the United States National Team and the U. S. Reserve Team were announced. It was a special honor this year to be chosen for the United States. It is a selection which, as such players as they were called the special recognition.

Basketball

Kimm Brown has made the remarkable achievement of being chosen captain on the Ursinus Reserve Team, as a freshman. Kim Brown, who is in her second year at Ursinus, has been an outstanding player for the school and university, leading the team in scoring.
