WHY HE MARRIED HER

Everybody at Mayport said that nobody knew why Colonel Rosamore married Miss Eunice Wilmore. It seemed to the community but a very foolish marriage, and whenever they were asked about it by outsiders they always seemed to have looked on the bride as a mere curiosity. Mary was always the last to be seen in her father's house, and whenever she was asked why she was going to be married to the Colonel, she would reply with a smile that she had every right to be there, and that she was going to be married to the Colonel.

But the name was only the beginning of the story. Colonel Rosamore was a man of single purpose, and every time he was asked why he was marrying Miss Eunice Wilmore, he would reply that he was marrying her because she was the only one who could understand him. She was the only one who could see through his mask of coldness and aloofness, and she was the only one who could make him feel that he was not alone in the world.

People did not drop Rosamore. He was a man who could hold his own at any dinner party, and he was always the talk of the town. But the Colonel was not a man who could be talked about, and whenever he was asked about his marriage, he would reply that Miss Eunice Wilmore was the only one who could understand him.
