No Exchange Students

There are no foreign "exchange" students in Ursinus, Dr. Allen Rice, Ursinus' foreign students, would clarify the matter. "A foreign student is defined as a student who is not a citizen of the United States and who is enrolled at an American college or university for the specific purpose of studying and engaging in research or to fulfill educational and career goals. An exchange student is a term used to describe a student who is participating in a formal exchange program with another institution. While the terms may be used interchangeably, it is important to note that there are differences in the requirements and conditions under which each type of student may participate in an exchange program. Exchange students are typically required to maintain full-time status, and may be subject to different visa requirements and regulations than other students. Additionally, exchange students are not eligible to work off-campus during the course of their studies."

Ursinus Assigns Students to Special Classes

This year, in cooperation with the high schools in the area, several students are being assigned to special classes to engage in supervised study of various subject areas. The purpose of these classes is to provide students with an opportunity to explore areas of interest in depth, and to develop skills that will be useful in their future careers.

The Special Class Program, which began this fall, is designed to meet the needs of students who are interested in pursuing professional careers in fields such as law, medicine, and engineering. The program includes a series of courses and workshops that are tailored to each student's needs, and is designed to help students prepare for the entrance examinations required for admission to professional schools.

The classes are taught by experienced professionals who have expertise in their respective fields. Students also have the opportunity to work with faculty members who are experts in their areas of study.

In addition to the classes, students are required to complete a variety of assignments and projects that will help them develop the skills they will need to succeed in their future careers. These assignments are designed to help students become more effective communicators, and to develop the critical thinking and problem-solving skills that are essential for success in the workplace.

The Special Class Program is open to all students who are interested in pursuing professional careers. Students who are accepted into the program must complete all of the required coursework and assignments, and must maintain a minimum grade point average of 3.0 to remain in the program.

The program is designed to be flexible, and students can choose to participate in the classes for one or two semesters. Students who complete the program will receive a certificate of completion that will be recognized by the professional schools they wish to attend.

Entertainment Comes to T-G Gym in Agency Help

The Rooftop Singers brought their "entertainment in the true sense of the word to a crowd of approximately five hundred in the T-G Gym last Thursday evening. October 7.

To entertain," according to Mr. Webster, is "to hold the attention; interest; divert," among other things. Dick Darling, Bill Bransco, and Mickey Stout did all these things here. They did so through their delightful music and spontaneous humor. They presented a program of folk music ranging from the traditional "I've Been Working on the Railroad" to the "Blues." The folk music 'You Don't Own My Mind' and "Mammy's Blues." No Guitar Playing Here.

Dick Darling had several observations to make about folk music in a pre-concert interview. In reference to the frequent desire to metal weights should not be classified as folk music, he said this: "Folk music is music that today's youth is creating out of their own animal spirits. The folk music, there is a kind of music that is free and spontaneous, and it is created by the people for the people."

There were several other observations about folk music made by the performers, but unfortunately they could not be included in this article. The performers were: Dick Darling, Bill Bransco, and Mickey Stout.

Letters to the Editor

In the Mail: Letters to the Editor may not be withheld from publication. Unsolicited letters must be signed and may be edited or rejected for space.

Dear Editor:

Many people in this good nation do not have a publication to express their views, not for the past, current, and probably future benefit of certain groups of underprivileged people.

However, should these categories have any effect on the application, I want to say that there is no reason whatsoever to believe that a letter should be created, deleted, and finally published. I personally believe that to be the case. The mails are filled with letters that are sent to local leaders with the purpose of creating confusion in the minds of the local leaders.

To break a law is the same as to break a contract, and the penalties for breaking a law by writing a letter is greater than the penalty for breaking a contract.

In short, if the increased law and order that it follows is enacted, we can expect to see an increased number of natural destructions. This pattern which we are just beginning to see, has been followed many times in the past, Anarchy and lawlessness are the most dangerous cases. We have no right to expect that we will be able to纠正 the situation.

It might be better if everybody was educated. The right to legal protection will be arrived at in the condition of equality. The poss­

Ursinus Request

In announcing the award to L. R. Rice, President, it was pointed out that the 1960-61 student body has shown its support for the scholarship grants in an outstanding manner. "It is gratifying to reflect that students have been willing to contribute their time and effort in order to benefit their fellow students," President Rice said. "We are grateful for the support of our students in this endeavor, and we are confident that the funds raised will be used to support an even larger number of students next year."

Lindback Award

The Lindback Award is presented annually to a student in recognition of his or her outstanding service to the college community. This year, the award was presented to Brian Johnson, a senior from Altoona, Pennsylvania.

In accepting the award, Brian Johnson said, "I am grateful for the opportunity to receive the Lindback Award. This award is a recognition of the efforts of the students and the faculty in the Lindback Program, and it is a testament to the importance of the Lindback Program in the life of Ursinus College."

Bears Tie Bluejays Soccer Team Victor

The Ursinus soccer team opened its 1966-67 season in the rain, with a 1-1 victory over the Bluejays.

It was a wet, cold, miserable game, but it gave the Ursinus ballplayers a chance to face the ULB Bluejays, in front of an OCU crowd as its first home game.

The Bluejays, with a team of mostly seniors, showed a good deal of fire and enthusiasm. The Ursinus team, which has made a reputation for itself in the past, was prepared for the game, but only a fair-sized crowd turned out to support the home club.

In fact, approximately 90 percent of the crowd were interested soccer fans. The Harriers, with a team of mostly seniors, entered the final week of its season in first place in the conference, but only a fair-sized crowd turned out to support the Harriers.

Players and coaches have been sharply criticized (with good reason) for their lack of interest in the game. Probably one reason is that the team is very likely a connection between these two facts.

Perhaps improved support of the team would lead to better performances by our respective teams, and thus eliminate some of the desire to criticize. We certainly don’t know—we’ve never tried.

X-Country at Hill School

The Ursinus Cross Country team traveled to Hill School for a practice meet last week. The team is in fourth place in the conference and is very likely a connection between these two facts.

Announcing the Professional Qualification Test for outstanding career appointments to National Security Agency

Registration Deadline: Wednesday, October 13

If you expect to receive a liberal arts degree before September 1966, don’t miss this opportunity to qualify for a rewarding career with the National Security Agency. All liberal arts majors must take the Professional Qualification Test (PQMT).

The PQMT

A unique agency functioning within the Department of Defense, NSA has a critical need for qualified Information Engineers. You can distinguish yourself by winning college-acquired capabilities without first accruing years of experience. Your specific academic major is not as important as your ability to function in a team environment and meet the challenges of extremely complex computer research problems that frequently take you beyond the known and accepted boundaries of knowledge.

You will work on programs of national importance, in such areas as:

- Cryptography — the making of codes and ciphers
- Analytic research
- Computers and data processing
- Telecommunications

You must be a U.S. citizen and have an undergraduate degree in one of the above fields.

The PQT Bulletin at your Placement Office outlines your area of testing.

Additional Training and Educational Opportunities

With promotions from within and opportunities in other NSA Divisions, including the possibility of earning substantial salary increases as you demonstrate your potential, NSA offers many avenues for career advancement and personal fulfillment.

Mr. Elmer Linfield

Mr. Linfield will also assist in psychology, foreign languages, and English teaching, and teach a course on psychology and foreign languages.

The addition of the two professors to the Ursinus faculty was requested and the recent death of Professor Matthew H. B. Shearer was regretted. The faculty was increased by the appointment of the two new professors. The faculty at present consists of twenty-six members, which is the same strength as last year.

Dr. Frank C. Wessel

Dr. Wessel was in charge of the psychology department at the University of Pennsylvania when he was appointed to the faculty of Ursinus College in 1936. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1939.
