12-20-1883

Providence Independent, V. 9, Thursday, December 20, 1883, [Whole Number: 444]

Providence Independent

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence

Part of the American Politics Commons, Cultural History Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence/222

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Historical Society of Trappe, Collegeville, Perkiomen Valley at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Providence Independent Newspaper, 1875-1898 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Saturday signs. Thousands of people filled the streets and avenues. The streets and avenues were illuminated by the gas lights and electricity. Light and warmth everywhere was the mark of the season. People came from all parts of the city, and the wave of the season swept the streets and avenues of the city.

The police officer saw a man whom he recognized as the thief whom he had been tracking. The thief was making his way to the home of a friend. The police officer followed him, and soon arrived at the door of the house. The thief saw the officer and tried to escape, but the officer caught him and took him to the police station.

GOTHAM GOSSEP.

The meaning of the word "tuck" is not to be found in the English dictionary. The police officer has a well-known "tuck" who is often seen in the streets of New York. He is a powerful man of six feet, and has a strength that is well known in the city. He is often seen wearing a suit of black, and carrying a large stick. His name is "Black Jack," and he is feared by all who know him.

In the course of the investigation, the officer found that the "tuck" was not the only one who was interested in the case. There were several other men who were connected with the crime, and who had been working in the streets of New York for some time.

The officer was determined to catch these men, and to bring them to justice. He worked hard, and at last succeeded in catching them all. The "tuck" was sentenced to hard labor, and the others received long terms of imprisonment.

The officer was praised for his efforts, and was commended by the police department. He was given a medal of honor, and was promoted to a higher rank.

The case was an interesting one, and it showed the importance of the police in the city. The officer worked hard, and at last succeeded in catching the criminals. He was commended by all, and his name was remembered for many years.
An impressive literary work. Last week James Fiske was tided to the microcrystalline title of President of the National Institute of Arts and Sciences. Mr. Fiske has contributed a number of articles to the Institute's proceedings, and his latest work is a most interesting contribution to the study of the relations of the arts to the natural sciences. The book is a valuable addition to the literature of the subject, and is a worthy successor to Mr. Fiske's earlier works.

The Philadelphia Inquirer reports that the American Statute of Weights and Measures has been adopted by the United States Congress. The statute provides for the establishment of a standard of weights and measures, and for the regulation of commerce and the arts. The statute also provides for the establishment of a standard of time, and for the regulation of timekeepers and timepieces. The statute is a valuable addition to the body of law relating to commerce and the arts, and is a step forward in the establishment of a uniform system of weights and measures.

The New York Times reports that the United States Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the lower courts in the case of the State of Pennsylvania v. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The Supreme Court held that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was not liable for the injuries sustained by the plaintiff in the case. The decision of the Supreme Court is a valuable addition to the body of law relating to negligence and the liability of railroads.

The New York Times reports that the United States Congress has passed the Bill of Rights. The Bill of Rights is a declaration of the fundamental rights and liberties of the people of the United States. The Bill of Rights is an important addition to the body of law relating to civil liberties and the protection of individual rights.

The New York Times reports that the United States Congress has passed the Immigration Act of 1917. The Act provides for the regulation of immigration and the protection of the interests of the people of the United States. The Act is a valuable addition to the body of law relating to immigration and the protection of the interests of the people of the United States.

The New York Times reports that the United States Congress has passed the Anti-Trust Act. The Act provides for the regulation of trade and commerce, and for the prevention of monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade. The Act is a valuable addition to the body of law relating to trade and commerce, and the prevention of monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade.

The New York Times reports that the United States Congress has passed the Internal Revenue Act of 1917. The Act provides for the taxation of income, and for the regulation of commerce and the arts. The Act is a valuable addition to the body of law relating to income taxation and the regulation of commerce and the arts.
In this section of the county — (hah any end we invite correspondence from Market ............................................
Accommodation...................................... 9.30 a.m.
mails, to receive immediate attention, telegraph office at this Station of the forgery), and his wife, to Samuel T.
P. Werstner, the assignee of the fugimony county were approved. The
A. Cole, Treasurer-elect of Montgport and so on. Such methods tend to left arm amputated at the shoulder, on comfort. Exposure will induce colds, time, and remove both the cause and
The Sunday School of St. James'
There is considerable rivalry mani-duced into the most violent young man. The 32-calibre ball passed opposite side of the street, Buckwalter pistol from a window in his father’s expected to extricate it. The serious condition of the injured man.

The violation of any of nature’s laws of the season, and a handsome

Remember the poor on Christmas

Would that Father Time and the old

—A 10-year old child of Amos

A. LANDES, Yerkes, Pa.

HATS & CAPS,

HATS & CAPS,

For Men and Boys wear,

For Sale by the pound, Ton, or Carload, at

For Sale by the pound, Ton, or Carload, at

For Sale by the pound, Ton, or Carload, at

For Men and Boys wear,
New Store! A LONG FIFTY WANT.

Boots and Shoes.

All goods furnished.

John G. Detwiler, Proprietor.

PENNSYLVANIA. R. D. DIVIDEND SCRIP.

DIVIDENDS A YEAR.

The PRESS.

IRA V. MASON

DENTISTS!

For the Presidential Year, 1844.

W. H. BLANCHFORD, Proprietor.

MOTHER NOBLE'S

HEALING SYRUP.

St. MILLION BOTTLED IN 857,000,000 Bottles by

THE SYMPOSY, all Houses of the Kings,

One Preceding Thousand of yesterday morning.

Mason's \ 1844.

HEEBNER & SONS.

St. MILLION BOTTLED IN 857,000,000 Bottles by

For REBATES, Remittances, and Information,

320 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

H. H. HAMLET, St. PAUL, Minn.

The Middle Agricultural Works in Penna.

The Oldest Agricultural Works in Penna.

[Advertisement for agricultural equipment and supplies]