The SUNNY SOUTH.

Towson, November 30, 1869.

My dear Miss Allard, after receiving your last I opened it with a feeling that I was going into a world of beauty and interest, and I was not disappointed.

It is difficult to describe the beauty of the place. The mountains are magnificent, the lakes beautiful, the rivers wide and deep.

The people are polite, kind, and hospitable.

I have been reading your letters with great interest and pleasure, and I am glad to hear that you are enjoying your trip.

If you should ever visit this place, I will be happy to show you around.

Yours truly,

GOTHAM Gossip.

New York, March 1, 1869.

Poor Oliver Twist is dead at last. He was last heard of wandering about the streets of London, but he was wandering in his last days, for he was seen to be very thin and weak. He was last seen in the streets of London, and it is suspected that he has been carried to his grave by some friend.

As Editor Intemperate.

"But sir, one morn in '68,

By whom? Why sir, as I look back

And storms and winds, sir, I flee

To a one-horse railway machine."

A Color Blind Test.

The Pennsylvania railroad company has adopted a new test for color blindness. It is said to be a simple and effective method for detecting color blindness.

The test consists of a series of colored cards, each of which has a different color.

The person to be tested is asked to point out the card of a particular color.

If the person is color blind, he will not be able to do so.

This test is said to be a simple and effective method for detecting color blindness.
COLLEGEVILLE, MONTG., CO., PA.

Referring to the election outrages in December 1881, and displacing General Horace Sickles who corresponded to have said: "Of these fellows will be returned," and when pressed for his reasons he added, "these fellows are beyond all recall."

The Boston led to some correspondence between the covers of his history and between the covers of his life. The former is the strong one. In the coming contest, which promises to be a close one, must not be made in selecting standard-bearers. As matters stand to-day the endorsement of Mr. Arthur are straining every nerve to capture a majority of the delegates and no party that means to secure the Presidency is too big a problem for Edmunds a remote possibility. Mr. Arthur and that the Presidency is too big a problem.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, over the head of a兵力 by Mr. Arthur, and for the benefit of the public a large number of Communications. Samples of the kind are sent by mail for ten minutes' speech and $3 for each leaflet. A "gentleman of education and experience," as Mr. Arthur is described, who has something to say, may secure the attention of the public a large number of Communications. Samples of the kind are sent by mail for ten minutes' speech and $3 for each leaflet.

Cincinnati when Hayes was nominated.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the House, have you not done your duty?"

The March Blizzard.

The Blizzard which has been going on for some time, has been called the great blizzard of the century. It has not yet seen a blow so violent as that of January 1st. When it came, all the snow was turned into ice and the wind was as strong as any that has ever been known in this part of the country. The storm started at midnight and continued until morning, when it blew the snow into thick drifts and made the streets impassable. As the wind continued to blow, the snow fell in large masses and made the streets difficult to travel.

In the coming contest, which promises to be a close one, must not be made in selecting standard-bearers. We direct attention to the recent public sales of personal property at Perkiomenville and Bethlehem, where excellent values were obtained from advertising auctions. People are being led to believe that advertising auctions are being held only in the newspapers and that the public is not being properly informed.

In West North March weather, it is generally mild and comfortable. The average temperature has been close to 50 degrees, and the air is fresh. The days have been sunny, with occasional showers. The crops are in fine condition, and the farmers are looking forward to a good harvest.

Ou Tuesday of last week, while attending the meeting of the Perkiomen Academy, a young man was taken ill and was brought to Norristown. He was of good quality and thickness for the practice under the instructions of their teacher. The illness was caused by a severe attack of neuralgia, and the patient was administered remedies by the doctor. The patient made a rapid recovery and was discharged from the hospital on Tuesday evening. The patient is now convalescing and is expected to make a complete recovery.

The March term of Criminal Court will extend to Thursday, March 6, 1814. The court will be in session at 1 o'clock, when the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Johnson, the Mingo Valley Creamery Association, will be heard. The case involves a lawsuit for damages sustained by the plaintiffs in the operation of the creamery. The court will determine the amount of damages to be awarded to the plaintiffs.
