5-8-1884

Providence Independent, V. 9, Thursday, May 8, 1884, [Whole Number: 464]

Providence Independent

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence
Part of the American Politics Commons, Cultural History Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons
Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/providence/241

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Historical Society of Trappe, Collegeville, Perkiomen Valley at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Providence Independent Newspaper, 1875-1898 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
The story of a life.

The life of Simon Battersley, a man of remarkable talent and dedication to his craft, is one that has captured the hearts of many. Born in a humble studio, Simon spent his formative years surrounded by the clutter of easels, paintings, and lay-figures, his mind filled with the pursuit of inspiration and expression.

"It was my dream to be an artist," Simon once confided to a closest friend. "But I knew I couldn't achieve it without hard work and dedication." Simon's passion for art was evident in every brush stroke and every canvas he laid down on his studio floor.

When asked about his inspiration, Simon would often reply, "It comes from within. It's a feeling that draws you to a subject, a scene, or a subject that you want to capture." This innate ability to connect with the world around him was a testament to his talent.

Simon's early days were marked by poverty and struggle. Living in an old house that was falling apart, he found solace in the quiet moments spent sketching on the spot. "That's where I get inspiration," he would say, as he dipped his brush into a pot of oil paint, surrounded by the sounds of the city outside.

As Simon's reputation grew, so did his collections. People from all over would visit his studio to see his works, and he became known as the "master of the brush." But Simon remained humble, always giving credit to the source of his inspiration.

Simon'sworks have been exhibited in galleries across the world, and his paintings are now considered timeless masterpieces. His legacy continues to inspire artists and art lovers alike, a reminder of the power of dedication and hard work.

-Francesca Williams
Interesting Letter from Ironbridge!

Mr. E. J. Dox

We are glad to have our old advertisement, which ran in the Southworth Post Office, and is one of the many we have published in various states. If you use anything to the best advantage, we can get some use in the hack.

C. B. HARRISON, 120 Broad St.,

We are glad to have our old advertisement, which ran in the Southworth Post Office, and is one of the many we have published in various states. If you use anything to the best advantage, we can get some use in the hack.
A few Special Bargains

1/8 horse blanket, $4.50; 1/4 horse blanket, $8.00; 1/2 horse blanket, $18.00.

Public Sale of Fresh Cows!

Joe C. Detweiler, Township Clerk.

LANDLORDS

The room on the first floor at 311 Main Street is to be let. Reasonable rent. Apply to Mr. John S. Kepler.

H. C. Walt, Limerick Square, Proprietor.

Local Weather

Wednesday, May 5, 1884.

Thursday, May 8, 1884.

Friday, May 9, 1884.

Saturday, May 10, 1884.

Monday, May 13, 1884.

POTTSTOWN, PA.

Further than the limits of this paper, next week.

The Convention by an account of the

The whole programme was very well rendered, but those who

Friday evening next. A cordial in-

PHILADELPHIA.

May 8, 1884.

May 9, 1884.

May 10, 1884.

May 13, 1884.
Marble Work, at reasonable prices. See me, and get prices. My expenses are low; kinds of goods pertaining to the business.

T. & T. LO. WEST CASH PRICES.
Royersford, Montgomery Co, Pa.

The undersigned takes pleasure in announcing order sent to my address.

Give all an opportunity to examine these valuable holiday or birthday present. Will be pleased to take a drive and will offer you some soothingly. Put your foot on the step and will expand the present until the horse will stand still for you to get on. Put the hook in the halter, and tell him to go. Few such blankets will be made on hand that will be needed for orders before starting.

For your horse, just buy the driving rein at a very gentle pace for the exercise of the animals, and to make them help coming. But, before proceeding, see the reins to hold the nose. Take them in your left hand, and form a loop of loose reins over the bit, and turn each other in line your hand, handle rein as your finger, the other to the forefinger, and the nearest to the little finger. Now, in guiding the horse, you must always in the midst of the circle, which should be the one or right or left, or as you wish. Keep your horse steady with gentle pressure on the bit. No jerking is allowed. The trip is finished, take the whip on the same, and get ready for the next. It is necessary to apply it neither too swiftly nor too slowly.

Speak to him in a kind manner, and make, in the most gentle manner, what you wish him to do, and he will obey. Do not apply it to the horse's face. The same is the case with an animal that you have bought a horse. When you return, have the harness on your horse as soon as possible, without a whip of a strip, or a bit of a stick, or a little piece of a stick, or a little piece of a stick. If you do so, the horse is the best, well trained, and well educated, you will find him of the best. It is important to know that your horse is the best.

At the COLLEGEVILLE Agricultural Store

We have just opened, immediately in front of the banks, and next to the bank, we have a new store. We have a full stock of goods, and we are ready to serve you.

H. LANDES.
Collegeville, PHA.

We have just opened a full stock of goods, and we are ready to serve you.

H. LANDES.
Collegeville, PHA.

CAPTAIN.

Dr. & Mr. Schenck.

Agriculture and Science.

How to drive a horse.

Young men, see you are used to it, and you must not think of it, and you must not get angry at any time. Your natural talent is to be used, and to be trained. You must not think of it until you have started the horse. Little boy was employed, and he had been employed.

Put him in the saddle, and let him work on the horse. He is worked on by others, of course, and that makes another one. I told him in the morning, and in the evening.

Put your hand on the step, and you can not avoid the present until the horse will stand still for you to get on. Put the hook in the halter, and tell him to go. A few such blankets will be made on hand that will be needed for orders before starting.

For your horse, just buy the driving rein at a very gentle pace for the exercise of the animals, and to make them help coming. But, before proceeding, see the reins to hold the nose. Take them in your left hand, and form a loop of loose reins over the bit, and turn each other in line your hand, handle rein as your finger, the other to the forefinger, and the nearest to the little finger. Now, in guiding the horse, you must always in the midst of the circle, which should be the one or right or left, or as you wish. Keep your horse steady with gentle pressure on the bit. No jerking is allowed. The trip is finished, take the whip on the same, and get ready for the next. It is necessary to apply it neither too swiftly nor too slowly.

Speak to him in a kind manner, and make, in the most gentle manner, what you wish him to do, and he will obey. Do not apply it to the horse's face. The same is the case with an animal that you have bought a horse. When you return, have the harness on your horse as soon as possible, without a whip of a strip, or a bit of a stick, or a little piece of a stick, or a little piece of a stick. If you do so, the horse is the best, well trained, and well educated, you will find him of the best. It is important to know that your horse is the best.

At the COLLEGEVILLE Agricultural Store

We have just opened, immediately in front of the banks, and next to the bank, we have a new store. We have a full stock of goods, and we are ready to serve you.

H. LANDES.
Collegeville, PHA.

We have just opened a full stock of goods, and we are ready to serve you.

H. LANDES.
Collegeville, PHA.