Meeting on MSGA Report Draws
Strong Student-Faculty Interest

Rarely has such a thing been seen on the Ursinus campus: students did not file at the appointed hour, but stayed on to vehemently discuss the MSGA Report. On Wednesday night, April 24, a panel of six faculty members, Drs. Fletcher, Ricke, Zucker, Messers, Hudnut, Jones and Schellman and members of the MSGA discussed the report.

Tom Bandoff was moderator of the discussion which ranged from a suggestion for a merger of the MSGA and the YIGA to another point of view that it was to be improved and, if so, how.

Frank Stich, newly elected president of the MSGA, began the presentation. Since the MSGA Report was issued as a result of much dissatisfaction among the students, these students were constructive in reme

Mr. Member for Faculty Meetings?

First to come into the light of discussion in the proposed MSGA member faculty disciplinary meetings. The point of the proposal, after clarification was made by Dr. Stich, would be to present to the faculty board that was discussing disciplinary, the findings of the MSGA. At the end of the meeting the faculty board would have no objections to this proposal.

Some, including Dr. Fletcher, a member of the Committee, stated that they thought it was a good idea to begin but that the objection was raised there was a restriction that student members were already on the Committee. The sitting and voting on the board was described as "measurable" and action would be taken in the "intimate" of the faculty board that "wanted" the student members counter parts.

The final resolution was that the faculty board send a request to the student body whether they would like to participate in the decision of the Yasmin.

D. L. Helferscher Retires as
Girard-Corn Bank Officer

An unusual dual career as both bank executive and officer of the co-operational liberal arts college will come to an end June 30 when Robert M. Whitley, president of Ursinus College, retires from a senior vice-president of the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia.

He will continue as president of the college.

The two careers have run parallel since 1936, after eleven years prior to becoming executive vice-president, he was a member of the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia in a suburban branch.

At the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia, twenty-two years later, in 1959, when the bank was acquired by the expanded Girard Trust Company, he was elected a senior vice-president in charge of the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia.

"Y" Officers Name Cabinet Heads

Appointments of the heads of the traditional organizations for the coming year's officers will be held. The name of the organization will have its own personalities and make it a better place to live.

The Spirit Committee Elects Officers

The new officers of the Spirit Committee, who will be Linda Carpenter, president; Joyce Maloney, vice-president; Sharon Johnson, secretary, and the other officers will be elected this week.

Dear Editor,

In recent years at Ursinus, the movement for the liberal arts has been voiced by administrators, students, and faculty. It has been voiced in private conversations, over-the-air talks, and in print. Some of these voices have been echoed, but for the most part they are unanswered.

A "Survey of Freshmen," taken for the year 1983, revealed a desire for a more open, responsive administration, and students- oriented curriculum. However, the curriculum has not been altered, and the administration, which so often answers student-initiated requests, has given little thought to the problem.

Many areas of the Student Government Association (SGA) have met resistance, and some have been flatly denied. Those suggestions should be put on the back burner, as the present and the future of the SG could be jeopardized. Student support for these areas might be a way for students to realize the fruits of their efforts.

I am writing this letter to bring this to the attention of the Student Body at Ursinus. It is the hope of most of us that the administration might open the doors to the students, and that we might not have to struggle to make the move to a more open university.

Hofmann Hurts Win Over Garnet 63; Green Terrors Edge Bears 3-1

The Steinmen got back on the right track against an old nemesis, this time a varsity track team. The Steinmen were good pitching and timing hitting their stride early in the season.

The first five of the team's last seven scorers included: Tom Walter in fourth place. Points between them to equal number of runs scored for the first time. The played well, holding the scoring of all scorers and making the margin. The Middle Atlantic's 1962-1963. The team was led by Tom Wilt.

Softball Takes Two

It took the girls' softball team to seal their second straight win of the season. The girls were leading when they beat West Chester, 6-3.

Softball Captain, Senior Carol Taney, who led the team to a perfect record of 5-0, said: "We are looking to win every game we play this year, and we are not to be denied the title remains within reach."

The Steinmen's record of 5-0 is remarkable, especially considering their recent loss to the Garnet. They have proven to be a strong team in the first half of the season.

The Steinmen's defense has been solid, and their pitching has been consistent. They have earned their current record through strong performances and good fielding.

The Steinman's next game is against New Providence, and they are expected to remain undefeated. The Steinmen's strength lies in their team cohesion and mutual support, which is evident in their wins so far.

The Steinmen will continue to fight for their title, and their performance against the Garnet will serve as motivation for the upcoming games. With a strong defense and reliable pitching, the Steinmen are well-positioned to achieve their goal of a perfect season. Their hard work and dedication have paid off thus far, and they are determined to continue their success.
