Two Revotes Needed to Elect ’63 Ruby Business Managers

Jeff Brown Wins on Initial Ballot Last Week; Krauss Beats Bloom in Third Contest Wednesday

After an election which required two re-votes because of a tie between Jeff Brown and Dennis Krauss, business managers of the 1963 RUBY, Brown was elected on the first ballot last Wednesday. Krauss was elected on the piece-meal in two ensuing elections until the final election on Wednesday only Krauss and Geo Bloom remained as candidates.

In addition to Brown and Krauss, the other business managers, Geo Bloom, Milton Madigan and John Ryan had been nominated by the administration.

The first manager elected Jeff Brown, a political science major from Olney, Pa. He belongs to Delta Delta Delta fraternity and is the representa­tive of the students on the Council. He is also assistant bookkeeper of the library, an experience which he considers important to his duties as manager.

Krauss is also a political science major and a member of the Young Republican Club. He belongs to Delta Sigma Phi, one of the largest fraternities at the University, and is a member of the Student Federation of Pennsylvania. In addition he sings in the Metz as part of its singing group.

The election of Brown and Krauss completes the list of officers for the 1963-64 year.

Pre-Medics Hear Berry, Rode Give Dentistry Address

"Dentistry is one of the few sciences that can save you money and encourage the citizen to save you money and to encourage the ocial aspect of the body because dentistry has a social value of which the public is but little cognizant," said Oscar La­verne, director of the Dental School, at the University, Thursday.

Dr. Berry serves as chairman of the admissions committee and is a member of the staff of the Institute of Dental Science at the University. He serves as clinical director of the Dental School and is the director of dental hygiene.

The program was made up of the following topics:

1. The practical aspects of Dental Science.
2. The social aspects of Dental Science.

Weekly Reviewer Sees George Apley

As Good Entertainment with Slow Spots

By George Apley

The LATE GEORGE APLEY, a play by John P. Marquand, is being given at the Pennsylvania Theater and Saturday nights by the Ursinus College Curtain Club.

Getting off to a slow start (largely due to the dialogue of the characters), it gets better in the second act and the action improved.

The actors were selected by Mr. Cheesman, who astounded the audience with his intelligent and entertaining performance. The audience was charmed.

More as a pomo­ver's son, his fash­ion, said to be educating. Wurster un­der­stood George Apley through most of the early part of the play, but after that there were issues. The characterization was good, the acting was adequate but almost like­ly background of most of the important characters in the play. (Continued on page 2)

Mainline Playhouse Gives Old Play; ‘Our American Cousin’ Seen by Lincoln

The Main Line Playhouse is offering a rare opportunity to see a significant production of one of America’s great plays, a contribution towards the offering theater-goers a rare opportunity to see a significant production of one of America’s great plays.

Washington, D.C., on the night of April 15, 1865, when Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. Thus, ‘Our American Cousin’ was the play Abraham Lincoln was watching in the Fifth Theater, in the company of President Lincoln, Mrs. Lincoln, and their children. The play, indeed. That’s why John Wilkes Booth chose the surefire big laugh moment of the third act to cover up the noise of his shot.

Performances of ‘Our American Cousin’ will be given in the Penn Valley School, Hackettstown, the Delaware to our playbook. ‘Our American Cousin’ was first produced in this country on October 15, 1858, at Laura Keene’s Lyceum Theater in New York. The original cast included such celebrities as Joseph Jefferson, who later achieved fame as Rip Van Winkle; E. A. Boudinot, whose Laura Keene’s Lyceum Theater in New York.

Rare Performance

The current production, which has been revised by the director of Mrs. John Carver of Bail-Cynwyl, represents one of the few times ‘Our American Cousin’ has been seen in the Greater Philadelphia area, if not in the United States, in many long years.

“This play is a museum piece of the American theater,” says Mrs. Carver, “and as such, demands a style of acting not easy to achieve today.” While the techniques of the period before there was stage lighting as we know it now, were tried and flamed out,” Mrs. Carver adds, “we must not forget that our American Cousin is a very funny play, indeed. That’s why John Wilkes Booth chose the surefire big laugh moment of the third act to cover up the noise of his shot.”

The interviews will be approximately 25 minutes in length. On the third day, Wednesday, Mr. Sandmann will speak in Room Beppler Chapel at 8:45 p.m. At this meeting, open to the whole school, he will tell his findings and offer ideas and suggestions to the student body. He will also speak in chapel on Monday and Tuesday.

After two weeks the Y will receive a booklet containing Sandmann’s findings and proposals. His study is part of a comparative one with other colleges.

The interview will begin at 8:30. There is no charge, and the entire college is welcome.
