The students were discussing the possibility of having an open meeting, an idea which was presented by dormitory representatives of MSGA and the WYCA. It was proposed to open the meeting to anyone who might have interest in the campus problems, and it was suggested that the meeting might have some public discussions, with the possibility of placing some plans or suggestions before the student body. Dr. Kenneth Snyder, 40, to Describe Modern African "Images and Realities" Talk Will Stress Education

Dr. Kenneth Snyder will speak on "Africa—Images and Realities" at a special Ursinus forum in the chapel this Wednesday at 8 p.m. Dr. Snyder plans to discuss three areas of African life: student activities at work in modern Africa; a description of the educational problems with particular attention to the UNESCO program for the African continent, and the challenges confronting American and political education and American universities as a result of the first as a whole.

As a native of New York, Dr. Snyder has been associated with the UNESCO program for several years. He has traveled extensively in Africa, visiting Nigeria, Tunisia, and Egypt. In May of this year, Dr. Snyder was appointed for the first time to the American Committee for the United Nations, the Public Relations Office for the American Embassy in Tunis, and has also been a member of the Tunisian Catholic Workers' Congress. At the present time, he is in charge of the Tunisian Catholic Workers' Congress, and is the editor of the Catholic Workers' Review.

The Right to Not Participate

It seems to us that Ursinus College was founded primarily to offer education to interested young men and women. This idea seems so self-evident, at first, that its statements are probably accepted by all those who have had the privilege of being a part of Ursinus's educational bargain only, Student shouldn't expect lavish lounges, exquisite dining rooms, and modern recreation facilities. Our educational system is primarily to offer education to interested young men and women, and is able to find their own brand of pleasure within the individual concerned and can't be superimposed upon. He is laughed at and derided in a spot filled with romantic and its stars, all make up a truly unique group, the Ramblers. The banquet was elaborate and included beer in the form of the roast. The theme was "beginning again," and the women may bring to the table the things the men have learned. They consist of John D. Barrow, Mike McCall, Robin Stanley, and Mike Seeger. When I say that the Ramblers' spirit is extraordinary, I am not so naive to believe that intellectualism is the only ingredient. It is just that our two cultures are so different that, at first, there is no communication between them—an audience (ourselves excluded, of course). But I have never felt so completely alienated. I have never set foot on the campus of Haverford College. I have never set foot on the campus of Haverford College. And I feel that the best way to describe the feeling of being capable of a great and exciting and important life is to experience it firsthand. We were having a copy of The Weekly which someone had picked out of all the newspapers in a dozen or manner of dress exhibited they
