Frosh Women Choose Reps to WSGA, W.A.A.

On February 18, the frosh women were among the students of the college community who attended the annual Color Day event. The program was held in honor of the frosh women, and a variety of activities were organized, including a Color Day parade. The parade ended at the Student Center, where the color of the frosh was displayed. Following the parade, the frosh women chose their representatives to the WSGA, the student government organization. The representatives are responsible for representing the interests of the frosh women on campus and participating in various campus activities.

Westminster Choir Sings. Lenten Services Planned

An Ash Wednesday Vesper service was held on Wednesday, March 2, at the first Ash Wednesday worship service. The Westminster Choir, under the direction of Dr. Donald Baker, presented a concert of sacred music, featuring works by composers such as Bach, Mendelssohn, and Mozart. The choir was accompanied by the organ and piano, and the service concluded with a benediction and the distribution of ashes to the congregation.

Job Samaritan Returns. University Service Announced

On March 18, 1963, a University Service was held in honor of Job Samaritan, a University employee who had dedicated his life to service. The service was attended by many members of the campus community, including faculty, staff, and students. The service included prayers, songs, and a benediction, and it concluded with a call to action for all to continue to serve others.

N unleashed Reads Seminar Paper To His Society

On February 26, Robert Benson, a senior history major, delivered a talk to the Historical Society on the life of President Calvin Coolidge. Benson's talk focused on the early years of Coolidge's life, including his education and career. Benson's talk was well received by the society members, who expressed interest in learning more about Coolidge's life and his impact on American history.

Assuming that our basic material requirements, which Mr. Morrison rightly points out are necessary precursors to the development of a cultured man, let us now consider the action we college students should take in developing the whole being.

We must first have the initiative to develop our abilities. This requires a view somewhat different than the artificial lines that we are capable of improving ourselves. Now we must develop the will to pursue our interests. As in all things in our lives, we must learn to use our abilities. This requires a view of the whole world

...the action we college students should take in developing some idea as to where we are going.

Is it a terrible thing to be sincere to the point of honesty? This is the question that has been asked in conversations with many people. It seems that people are beginning to realize that speaking the truth can lead to upheaval and tragedy. The idea of being honest with oneself is not new, but it has become increasingly important in today's society. Honesty is often equated with weakness, but it is a strength that can be used to overcome the challenges of life.

The problem, however, is that most people do not want to hear the truth. They prefer to be told what they want to hear, even if it is not in their best interest. This can lead to a lack of accountability and a lack of progress. In order to overcome this issue, people must be willing to listen to the truth and be open to change.

The importance of honesty cannot be overstated. It is a key component of personal integrity and a foundation for trust. It is essential for building strong relationships and for maintaining a positive reputation. Honesty is also necessary for achieving success in any area of life, whether it is in business, politics, or personal relationships.

In conclusion, honesty is a vital virtue that should be cultivated and practiced. It is important to remember that honesty can lead to personal growth and success, and that it is a key component of a fulfilling life. Honesty is not easy, but it is worth the effort. By being honest with ourselves and others, we can create a world that is more just, fair, and compassionate.
