EDITORIAL

"Busy"

In one of his many classes last week, Eugene Miller mentioned that the Edgar Rice Burroughs novels have been recently published in a one-year series and that they provide an education to become specialists in certain fields. The English, he said, feel that one can learn his trade after he has been thoroughly schooled. A happy and productive man is one who has an interest in many fields, not just one.

Immediately Dr. Miller was challenged by that age old question, "What can I use these novels for?" It seems that we can't use in our practical affairs. This seems to be a typical American answer to the question. Americans, it seems to be, are ruled by their daily routines, and can't quite see why they should learn something that will not come in handy in the business of making money. Learning for enjoyment's sake is taboo as far as most Americans are concerned.

Most people, it is true, do not have the opportunity to learn from their everyday contact with people and with their world to "busy" working, sleeping, or drinking. But here in college we do not have this "excuse." Our job consists of learning, and we have the opportunity to learn for four or more years or we are in an atmosphere that is heavy with knowledge.

We are practically smothered with one of the most precious things in the world—knowledge—and most of us refuse to accept it. In fact we go out of our way to avoid it as if knowledge and learning were dirt.

Our reasons for not taking more subjects when we easily can fit them in range from we are \"too busy\" (doing what I don't know) to \"what good will all these subjects do at this time?\" As long as our subjects are good the excuse for our laziness is that we are too busy.

To learn anything that is not required to be sick and to enjoy one's subjects and one's professional subjects.

The average college student does not know what he is missing when he takes the minimum amount of hours and receives the minimum grade. Almost all slaves are not only more comfortable, but have a higher for laziness. To learn anything that is not required to be sick and to enjoy one's subjects and one's professional subjects.

SOPHS TALLY RUN IN FINAL FRAME TO EDGE OUT FRESHMEN

In the first three encounters between the freshmen boys and the sophomores for the newly revived sports trophy, the sophomores captured the football game by a close 1-0 score. Played on the soccer field last Saturday, the defeat cost the class of '62 the trophy, and the enrollment wound up in second place in their first competition. Beginning the final frame, the freshmen were behind two runs, but the determined Bearcubs were not to be denied as pitcher Boris Brown walked in one. Then came the mighty hit by Bob gumman, whose triple scored three runs. The rumber was then tagged out running third, ending the inning, to score the game. The afternoon game lasted three hours and forty minutes. The umpire's decision run amounted the battle box of the sophomores in the bottom half of the inning. The freshmen fanned out five times, had the runners in scoring position, but failed to make a hit. The score was 1-0. The loss to the sophomores, 1-0, will be used to practice their offense to back up at a later date.

OPPOSites talk...

A hundred points in a basketball game by one player! They said it couldn't be done. But in 1935, Bill Cameron (High School) Francis, of Ohio's tiny Rio Grande College, rewrote the record books with his phenomenal scoring feats, including a 104-points game. Ben's season total: 1,954 points.

U.C. Soccer Team Ties Hill School in Preseason Tilt

On Monday, October 4, the Ursinus soccer team tied the Hill School of Pottsville 1-1 in their first competition of the year. Since this was the first time that the team has actually scrimmage this season, the players may only have had a week of practice before the game, it was not truly indicative of what we can expect from the soccer squad in games to come.

The team up to this as an opportunity to gain the experience and confidence of readying the squad unified instead of as individuals, both of which can be gained from the experience of playing against other teams.

U.C. Cross Country Team is Formed

A group of Ursinus men have gotten together and formed a not dissimilar sport of Cross-Country. The men will not be able to compete in the Intercollegiate meet this year so the contest will be arranged. Under the guidance of Rev. Ernest L. Lyons, the team will concentrate mainly on getting into shape and learning running technique. Most of the training will be done on a 3-mile course which will be measured. The first practice will be on the 20-mile course which has been measured.

The team will consist of the following members:

The team will practice their offense to back up at a later date.
