THAT'S ALL
Dear Editor,

Congratulations to your proof readers. A quick glance over the contents of the Weekly revealed fifteen printing errors, some of which appeared on the first page. The errors appear to have been initially caused by a rushed production of the proofs and dropped letters. I haven’t quite been able to deduce but just what caused the glitches printed at the bottom of the first column in page five. There can be no rationalizing. Those printing errors should have been corrected before the paper "went to press." But don’t think me too critical. I like the Weekly, and readily read it, but there is room for improvement in the proof-reading department.

Congratulations to Fred Glau- ser for the fine job he did as editor of the Weekly during the past year.

Sincerely,

Cold Drink of the Day

For all the folks who don’t know anything about the English language. To these people, print out this little caption, a hundred or so times, and circulate it among very appreciative readers. These readers get their kicks by ‘ripping-apart’ the paper (both literally and figuratively). The only day of the week they enjoy reading is Thursday because they can then get their pulpy handy on the WEEKLY and systematically look for spelling errors, grammatical errors, wrong words, Sunday comics, etc. Once they have found something they desire they will ray their hyena type voices and complain. But these brave souls will complain to everyone but you. Yes, you will find it to be such helpful criticism.

Finally, I would like to thank Martha Shilton, Anne McWilliams, and Jay Salwen for the job they have done this year. They are a devoted team, the best. I also would like to thank the other members of the staff with whom we could always count on.

Sincerely,

Track Team Practices for Opener

The track team of Ursinus is getting ready to put into it. Every single member of the team feels that he must work hard to show himself (even though he is not a very fast runner) and that he must do the job to the best of his ability. He feels that being a track man requires just as much effort and determination as any other varsity sport; and, if he is to remain in the track, he must work hard and have patience. He must improve his technique and his time every day, and he must not think that he is at the top of his game. The only person who is perfect is the only person who is not a track man. He must always try to improve himself, and he must always try to do the best he can.

The team is getting ready for the season by working out with Habgood and Morgan. They are working out for the season, and they are working out to become better runners. They are working out to become better runners because they want to win the championship. They are working out to become better runners because they want to win the championship. They are working out to become better runners because they want to win the championship. They are working out to become better runners because they want to win the championship.
