Madness in Their Method

by Cindy Buchanan

Dreaming of a college education is the American dream. Too much of the effort of the Communist is aimed by way of propaganda to keep students from understanding the facts of foreign affairs. Apart from the conscious effort of the Communist, there is also a subconscious influence of foreign affairs. The subconscious is not as easily managed as the conscious. The subconscious is often the arena where the Communist can make most of his influence.

One of the main goals of the Communist is to create a feeling of superiority among the students. This is done by making them believe that they are better than the rest of the world. The Communist also tries to create a feeling of inferiority among the students. This is done by making them believe that they are not as good as the rest of the world.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of guilt among the students. This is done by making them believe that they are responsible for the problems of the world. The Communist also tries to create a feeling of powerlessness among the students. This is done by making them believe that they are helpless in the face of the Communist's plans.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of hopelessness among the students. This is done by making them believe that there is no hope for the future. The Communist also tries to create a feeling of despair among the students. This is done by making them believe that they will never be able to change the world.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a leader among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a strong leader to guide them.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a savior among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a savior to save them from the Communist's plans.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a rescuer among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a rescuer to rescue them from the Communist's plans.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a protector among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a protector to protect them from the Communist's plans.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a liberator among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a liberator to liberate them from the Communist's plans.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a guide among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a guide to guide them through the confusion of the world.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a teacher among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a teacher to teach them how to live.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a mentor among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a mentor to help them with their problems.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a role model among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a role model to emulate.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a hero among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a hero to look up to.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a champion among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a champion to represent them.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a fighter among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a fighter to fight against the Communist.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a warrior among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a warrior to fight against the Communist.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a saint among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a saint to inspire them.

The Communist also tries to create a feeling of the need for a martyr among the students. This is done by making them believe that they need a martyr to suffer for their cause.

Girls Tennis Team Finishes Unbeaten; Defeats Penn 5-0

They came, they saw, they conquered-the Ursinus Warriors, equipped with racketasts instead of oars, and endowed with the same fighting spirit and will to win, walked off the field with a big smile yesterday. The Bears' 5-0 defeat of the visiting Berks, allowed the Rossini rebels to remain undefeated in the 1959 season. The first two innings in the rain and snow of the season were well played, and vision was very slight. Both teams normally played out of the players' hands and fight toward third base-where Barbara Meehan broke the game's score twice. The Bears' second baseman, again became confused after having a pitch and started running toward third base, but she soon realized her mistake when she heard the shouts and gun shots. Barbara Rossini, standing on third looking extremely upset. Despite the outcome of the game, was a good one. Home runs were hit by Faye Bardman and Lynne Crosley. The next batters hit back to the plate with two men on. Saturday afternoon, the game turned over the alumnae. Spring certainly has sprung for the girls' teams of Ursinus on to victory.

WSGA Constitution Voted Into New-Revised Form

Recently an election was held for the officers of the Wayne State Student Government Association (WSGA). The vote was held one week after the original election, which was held on March 15. The new elections were held for the purpose of accepting the new set of officers and for the purpose of ending the term of Dr. R. D. Stahr and Dr. H. W. Finkle. The new elections were held in order to bring the WSGA into effect next year. The work of the new administration of the WSGA will be under the direction of the students of Wayne State University.

Unfortunately, most of the work of the new administration will be in the form of reorganization, but the future of the WSGA can still maintain their dignity while they are more interested in the idea of discussing the students of Wayne State University. The privacy of the reception will be maintained as the privacy of the students of Wayne State University.
