Fall Retreaters Discuss ‘Ones World’ Plan Farthome Program

On the weekend of October 8-10, a group of students and faculty members attended the fall retreat near the center of the campus. The theme of the retreat was “Ones World” and the goal was to discuss plans for the farthome program. The retreaters were divided into small groups and each group had a hot dog roast and an evening program. Saturday morning the various committees were established with the theme, “One World” and made their presentation. The World Relations Community decided to devote three-fourths of a day on the Latin and South American countries. They have invited Mr. Beiruti to speak at a reception on Tuesday, November 15, at 2:00 p.m. She will also speak at the regular meeting of the Thursday night. Other speakers qualifying for their team were being scheduled for the year. The commission is planning an International Christmas Program to be held during Christmas quarter.

Comments on Customs

At the beginning of each school year the highly controverisal custom of customs arises.

To a freshman, customs seem to be a way in which the sophomores revange the injustices done to them in their freshman year. To a sophomore, waddling in his power and glory, the meaning of customs may sometimes be lost. A junior becomes apathetic about the whole affair and looks back on his custom days with reminiscence. A senior also has little concern about the outcome of the sophomore project.

The ideas and attitudes of the juniors and seniors, and, as a whole, are of little importance in the present customs picture. The ideas of the sophomores, especially the members of the Sophomore Rules Committee, are extremely important.

Several members of each freshman class see the minds of their Sophomore Rules Committee and have definite ideas on how to unite a class, but those with the best ideas on unification are those who have a whole, are of little importance in the present customs picture. The ideas of the sophomores, especially the members of the Sophomore Rules Committee, are extremely important.

The "college dunders are indeed enchanting as the strains of music float over the battle lines of the sexes which are thrown up at opposite ends of the gym. Boys and girls stand stary eyed, passing across the in-maid and into a few, very few, have dared to enter.

Freshmen women are full of excitement and are only slightly concerned about the fact that although yellow dinks and no make up are not exactly beauty, the girls are new makers.

You will be thrilled watching home from dinner in Freeland under the arches. You will be added one note of caution: any time, with one boy more than three or twice is clasped as "hard" and only one seem to them she might still be danceable. Last Tuesday evening at mid- night the upperclassmen of Ur- sinus were treated to the annual Nightly Track Meet present- ed by the Class of '61. The finish almost instantly and again did not choose to "break" track. Pickle Pedestals squad captured four last places and two ties. Daily Rinderman's squad didn't quite finish.

The girls in the next quad- range think that the late even- ing convert on Monday and Tuesday was much better, however, and they participated actively from the windows.

An appointee working on the sidewalks of the new dorm was sent to a 14 x 16 3/4" fore. He returned in minutes later with the re- port that he couldn't find any. The girls opened, however, one room about 14 x 16 3/4" if it could be used. The doors seemed to be locked in theirroom. As floor 3 will be the complete first floor.

Hats off to Ted Kershner this week for his very fine offensive and defensive game with Drexel. This was Ted's first start as quarterback for Ursinus, but by the way he handled the ball and called his plays he would be led to think that Ted is very experienced for his position. His touchdown pass to Clem Anderson in the first quarter was a thing of beauty. Ted's fine running and passing were a big factor in the outcome of the Drexel game. He made a superb catch of a throw late in the fourth period which stopped Drexel one and for all.

SOCCER LAURELS

The soccer team opened its season this past Saturday with Stevens Tech, though the team lost, much Baker felt the team played as a team instead of any one individual shining above the rest. If there were any stars, Coach Baker felt that perhaps four or five men should be singled out for playing well, even though the team lost. Dr. Baker felt that most of the team did not play up to their capabilities. Those men who played well were Schmiedmayer, Harrison, Grundy and Settles. Let's get out and support the soccer team. The next home game will be with Swarthmore on Saturday October 26.

The weather service is one of the technical fields found in the air branch of the armed forces. Any qualified recruit has his choice of fields of training, but if he selects meteorology he is exposed to a few months of instruction, he must prove his ability to pursue his career field in the armed forces. Just as a college education is important if it is not applied to your future, two or three years in the service can go for naught. Why? It's very important to learn the many charts and forecasts before you jump into a job in the armed forces career is in your future.
