PAR LA QUEUE

by Phil Rowe

A student brave but foolish lay dying on the ground near my chow was burlong hang bound. His comrades bent beside him as his life blood ebbed away. And best with piling glancing at his body, what might he say? 'I'll tell you, boy,' he whispered, 'I hope you never fail to proceed with extreme caution. Your life is worth a poor tail. They say that Pate's all powerful; a guess that must be true, for they do mean to take off your tail. I'll tell you which (it's a pity the horse doesn't) it means in a bag, but as an actual tail, I give you fail a tail. This led to my undoing for I've found spirits run high in a female who were one and to which she is bound. And frequent with beautiful--blonde hair, blue eyes, and such. But again I'd like to warn you to look out; my own heart fails when I think about the last time that I saw a saw-pool tail; I saw it with an interest on the side. When I saw that temporally my way was newly barred, so I went around the corner in the barn and I saw there the ending of a pony tail in black and grinning feature. She is the first effort of her hair; maybe just there--just there--just there! The chain reaction I set off still makes my stomach quail. A few days after I heard the chow's tale. She stunk a perfect tongue, the kissed me, and she smacked me in the face. But while I could smell my eye on the break, he gasped, he coughed, then tried to rise, but fell on his side. And with those paring words--"Beaw the pony tail" he died...

It Ain't What, But Who You Know!

by Ann Onymous

In a recent nation wide survey among the students of the leading colleges of our nation, I found that the answer to the age old question, "Who you know," was of little help. What everyone was finding was that there were four-fold answers as follows: A. Dave Ramey, Editor "The Other Side," lock, stock, and barrel. B. C. Cheeseman, C. Cheeseman, & J. Cheeseman, I. Me, Me, Me. C. J. Schulman,HasBeen, Bowed, Has-Had A Bow, Has-Had A Bow, Has-Had A Bow. D. John Talbot, I. Me, Me, Me. Retired December 2, 1957. This survey was made of a large number of them.

In Appreciation

Miss Camilla B. Stahr, Dean of Women, received an Award of Excellence at the Founder's Day ceremonies yesterday. The honor was well deserved.

For a quarter of a century, Miss Stahr has been a member of the Ursinus community, and in that time her wisdom, friendship, and devotion to duty have been an inspiration to many of our College. She has devoted many years to the women of Ursinus, and, through her guidance, many women have known success in their life

after graduation.

Miss Stahr has made many friends among all the students—men as well as women. Her sympathetic nature, combined with the knowledge of what is right, has given the students a sense of security in their actions when they tried to hide the true way. In knowing what is right she tries to hide the true way. In knowing what is right she has been known for her and sympathy. She is known for her for the women of women. In揽ess of honor is well known on the Ursinus campus. Her witty comments are often a welcome relief to them and, above all, they are her

and in that time her

her to those whose problems are great, for their problems are hers.

Bears Lose Third to Haverford; Dickerson Makes Lone Touchdown

On Saturday, November 9, the Bears traveled to the season to Haverford 18-4. Freshman Fred Ortman, proved the downfall of the Bears. Ortman averaged 6.3 yards per carry racking up a total of 218 yards on 34 carries.

Haverford scored first on a 68 yard drive with freshman Ortman scoring on a nine yard run off tackle. With the score 6-0, Ortman and John Perrier recovered a fumble on the Haverford nine yard line. Four plays later halfback Dick Dickerson showed that he could brush down a ball that he had kicked off the one yard line. The Bears were off and running in enemy territory, and thereby aid in the scoring position.

Injuries. It seems as though he recovered from one injury only to be sidelined with another. In past week's game, however, his presence was missed.

The main function of the goalie is to protect the goal against enemy attempts to score goals by blocking the soccer ball past him. The main function of the halfbacks is a job of defense. The fullback not only aids the goalie in trying to block any attempts at goals by the opposing team, but he also tries to get the ball out of his territory into enemy territory, and thereby aid in the beginning of an offense for his team.

The halfbacks help in the defense of their goal as well as in the offensive of their team. They help set the line in a scoring position.

The innmen are the front men. Their main job is to protect the goal against enemy attempts to score goals by blocking the soccer ball past him.

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

It's off to Dick Dickerson for his fine offensive and defensive play in this past Saturday's football game. This is the first time Dick has played since the beginning of this season when he separated his shoulder. Dick can be called the "tough-luck kid" of Ursinus. For the past two years he has been plagued with injuries. It seems as though he recovers from one injury only to be sidelined with another. In past week's game, however, his presence was missed.

Dick is a senior. He has been attempting to play football for four years, but has been on the back team. He is in Dental Fraternity, and is a member of the Varsity Club.

Keep up the good work!

HALF-TIME JOTTINGS

Saturday's football had plenty of spark in it. There were 2199 fans, bands, and bodies Up on the hill; however, the referees did a good job holding down any flare-ups.

Soccer Team Plays Back As Delaware and Drexel Win

The Ursinus soccer team traveled to Newark, Del., Saturday, November 9, to meet the University of Delaware on their home field. The team was beaten 3-0 in a morning contest.

For the first quarter the Bears showed that they proved to be their downfall on the teams. The Bears kicked off, moved the ball quickly down field and, before a minute mark of the game's opening, scored their first goal. With marking players in defensive positions throughout the first two quarters Delaware controlled the game. With very few exceptions Ursinus rarely saw the ball offensively during the first half.

During the second quarter a feat was called against Ursinus within its own penalty area. Delaware made good the kick and took the lead, which they never gave up, by a score of 2-0.

This lead proved to be too much for the Bears to handle. For the second half, however, the game was not so quite so important. The Bears rallied to the point that the ball seldom lost possession of the ball, but due to the difficulty in controlling the ball, the ball slowly sailed and a slightly slippery field in front of the goal— the team could not put the ball between the posts. The forwards linees managed several solid chances to score, with the Delaware goalie invariably stopping the shots.

On the pre-ceeding Wednesday the team traveled to Drexel and played that during half time the team travelled to Drexel and played that during half time.

The third team, in its second game of the season, gained its second victory, 2-0, over the University of Delaware. The goals were scored by Nancy Siegel and Liz Mayer. Second team players were Rae Hare, Joyce Gilbert, Kathy Tumlinson, Nancy Beiler, Liz Metzler, Beth Tumlinson, Ronnje Jordan, Mary Loner, and Adele Baldiel.

Tie Stroudsburg

Tie Stroudsburg met its arch rival, 1-1-1, on Saturday, November 9, and the rivalry was as keen and intense as it was the year before, the first half being quite different in the second half.

The first half was played East Stroudsburg with the same kind of enthusiasm and opportunities to score but failed to score. By the second half the afternoon's rain had cooled the air, and the team played more with the ball, and opened up the middle of the field and taken the game by a score of 1-1. But the story was not entirely written off. The second half was quite as significant. But the story was not entirely written off. The second half was quite as significant as the first half. The Bears did score a point in the second half, but the team did not even feel that was in the game.
