12-16-1957

The Ursinus Weekly, December 16, 1957

Walter W. Montgomery
Ursinus College

Philip Sterling Rowe
Ursinus College

Sheldon P. Wagman
Ursinus College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/396

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus Weekly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
THE URUSINUS WEEKLY

:: CHRISTMAS SPIRIT ::

by Philip Sterling Rowe

I know a man, a good and Christian man,
Who does his best for all the others, too,
But no one ever hears of him at all
When he has turned the corner of the gloomy street.

He told us truthfully, giving himself completely:
Making every effort, working without remuneration,
Turning the other cheek.

Toleration, forgiveness, brotherhood, and charity
All those do he embrace

He is no hypocrite
He makes his gifts of love unknown
And he appears to be sustained by satisfaction only.

All these for months eleven out of twelve.

For suddenly, and not without reason
Heeling the milling crowds unanimously toward
The suffering millions.

Celebrating Christmas, Jesus' birthday,
To those bleeding before them, in his own
Praying for peace among brethren.

And observing those against whose greed and bias
He has struggled all year round,
Become thus annually behavioral.
Seeing those occurrences quite overcome
By Christmas spirit,

He splits into Charities extended hand,
Kicks dogs.

At children snorts.

And the to the bystanders shouts
"Merry Christmas!"

The First Christmas

by Ping Pong Willie

Once upon a time, in the Land of Shambler, just this side of the Land of Nod, there was a little school in a little town. The name of this little school, and therefore the name of this little town, was Shambler, and we have forgotten it.

Now this was more than just a school. Shambler was a quite a university, even though the buildings had little to do with it.

There was the T.V. Room, Room 102, Beside Hall, Dearland Hall, with the Student Union called "Planimind Terr", and the new administration building on the west side of the newest on campus, was decorated to the hilt with scarlet and crimson lines—and built during the depression.

Named for one of the early presidents of the college, this Chas. J. M. French, and besides that, some of the oldest and most dependable systems were still in use.

Schools, like eyes, must have a place where they can see children, called students. This is itself so common sense that it is not necessary to go into detail.

But enough of this idle chatter:

I want to talk about Christmas, to be precise. Merry Christmas, to be quite precise, but not, and Old English. Christmas is about to arrive, and Old English is about to go away.

The joyous occasion is celebrated by students, faculty, and visitors. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

In the past, students have observed the holiday by giving gifts to each other. Today, the tradition of giving gifts has been replaced by the tradition of giving to others. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

This year, students have decided to give gifts to the local community. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

The First Christmas

by Philip Sterling Rowe

I know a man, a good and Christian man,
Who does his best for all the others, too,
But no one ever hears of him at all
When he has turned the corner of the gloomy street.

He told us truthfully, giving himself completely:
Making every effort, working without remuneration,
Turning the other cheek.

Toleration, forgiveness, brotherhood, and charity
All those do he embrace

He is no hypocrite
He makes his gifts of love unknown
And he appears to be sustained by satisfaction only.

All these for months eleven out of twelve.

For suddenly, and not without reason
Heeling the milling crowds unanimously toward
The suffering millions.

Celebrating Christmas, Jesus' birthday,
To those bleeding before them, in his own
Praying for peace among brethren.

And observing those against whose greed and bias
He has struggled all year round,
Become thus annually behavioral.
Seeing those occurrences quite overcome
By Christmas spirit,

He splits into Charities extended hand,
Kicks dogs.

At children snorts.

And the to the bystanders shouts
"Merry Christmas!"

The First Christmas

by Ping Pong Willie

Once upon a time, in the Land of Shambler, just this side of the Land of Nod, there was a little school in a little town. The name of this little school, and therefore the name of this little town, was Shambler, and we have forgotten it.

Now this was more than just a school. Shambler was a quite a university, even though the buildings had little to do with it.

There was the T.V. Room, Room 102, Beside Hall, Dearland Hall, with the Student Union called "Planimind Terr", and the new administration building on the west side of the newest on campus, was decorated to the hilt with scarlet and crimson lines—and built during the depression.

Named for one of the early presidents of the college, this Chas. J. M. French, and besides that, some of the oldest and most dependable systems were still in use.

Schools, like eyes, must have a place where they can see children, called students. This is itself so common sense that it is not necessary to go into detail.

But enough of this idle chatter:

I want to talk about Christmas, to be precise. Merry Christmas, to be quite precise, but not, and Old English. Christmas is about to arrive, and Old English is about to go away.

The joyous occasion is celebrated by students, faculty, and visitors. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

In the past, students have observed the holiday by giving gifts to each other. Today, the tradition of giving gifts has been replaced by the tradition of giving to others. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

This year, students have decided to give gifts to the local community. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

The First Christmas

by Philip Sterling Rowe

I know a man, a good and Christian man,
Who does his best for all the others, too,
But no one ever hears of him at all
When he has turned the corner of the gloomy street.

He told us truthfully, giving himself completely:
Making every effort, working without remuneration,
Turning the other cheek.

Toleration, forgiveness, brotherhood, and charity
All those do he embrace

He is no hypocrite
He makes his gifts of love unknown
And he appears to be sustained by satisfaction only.

All these for months eleven out of twelve.

For suddenly, and not without reason
Heeling the milling crowds unanimously toward
The suffering millions.

Celebrating Christmas, Jesus' birthday,
To those bleeding before them, in his own
Praying for peace among brethren.

And observing those against whose greed and bias
He has struggled all year round,
Become thus annually behavioral.
Seeing those occurrences quite overcome
By Christmas spirit,

He splits into Charities extended hand,
Kicks dogs.

At children snorts.

And the to the bystanders shouts
"Merry Christmas!"

The First Christmas

by Ping Pong Willie

Once upon a time, in the Land of Shambler, just this side of the Land of Nod, there was a little school in a little town. The name of this little school, and therefore the name of this little town, was Shambler, and we have forgotten it.

Now this was more than just a school. Shambler was a quite a university, even though the buildings had little to do with it.

There was the T.V. Room, Room 102, Beside Hall, Dearland Hall, with the Student Union called "Planimind Terr", and the new administration building on the west side of the newest on campus, was decorated to the hilt with scarlet and crimson lines—and built during the depression.

Named for one of the early presidents of the college, this Chas. J. M. French, and besides that, some of the oldest and most dependable systems were still in use.

Schools, like eyes, must have a place where they can see children, called students. This is itself so common sense that it is not necessary to go into detail.

But enough of this idle chatter:

I want to talk about Christmas, to be precise. Merry Christmas, to be quite precise, but not, and Old English. Christmas is about to arrive, and Old English is about to go away.

The joyous occasion is celebrated by students, faculty, and visitors. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

In the past, students have observed the holiday by giving gifts to each other. Today, the tradition of giving gifts has been replaced by the tradition of giving to others. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.

This year, students have decided to give gifts to the local community. This is a tradition that is followed by many other institutions, and it is observed in a variety of ways.
Salem refresches your taste

A new idea in smoking...

- menthol fresh
- rich tobacco taste
- most modern filter

Salem adds a whole new quality to smoking... refreshes your taste as just a sudden breeze on a warm Spring day refreshes you. Rich tobacco taste with a new surprise smoothness... mental fresh comfort... most modern filter, through which flows the freshest taste in cigarettes. Smoke refreshed... pack after pack...

Take a Puff... It's Springtime
Library Catalogues 50,000.00 volume

A milestone was passed last Thursday afternoon, December 12, when the Library cataloged its 50,000th volume, assigned accession number 50,000 to The American Heritage Book of Great Historic Places. Consideration of the work involved in marking the event with a modest ceremony resulted in the staff working to quickly get on with the business at hand, but instead, the staff wound up working to quickly get on with the business of cataloging an additional 50,000 volumes, since the existing and recently-discovered collection accounted for approximately 15,000 volumes.

For the Kiddies... The Adams Library adds another cande- dorp, for he is assured a 25% grant, eat, tea for the sake of having its property duly protected.

Also worth mentioning is the Original Lottery, organized and operated solely by the S.P.A. (Sons of the Pioneers of America) for the lucky winner of this bit is entitled to his/her choice of the below listed lucrative prizes: entry to the Adams' Library with unlimited cut classes (a) Appointment to the Parkes Commission with a guarantee of rate of pay for the first 3 years, free of charge. (b) Assignment to the Liquidated楽し on Commission with a guarantee of rate of pay for the first 3 years, free of charge. (c) To select from the entire listing of available types of problems, one house to be burned to the ground on Christmas Eve, by the Messiah group such as Handel's Messiah or the world on fire. - and keep the Women's Home in the lovely building on the campus, for the lucky winner of this bit is entitled to his/her choice of the below listed lucrative prizes: entry to the Adams' Library with unlimited cut classes (a) Appointment to the Parkes Commission with a guarantee of rate of pay for the first 3 years, free of charge. (b) Assignment to the Liquidated🥠 on Commission with a guarantee of rate of pay for the first 3 years, free of charge. (c) To select from the entire listing of available types of problems, one house to be

Schrader's Atlantic Station
408 Main St. Collegville, Pa.
We give it & F. Clements

165 Scholarships for Foreign Study Announced by IIE

One hundred and sixty-five advanced students for young Americans to study in thirty countries around the world, for competition, it was announced by the Institute of International Education, Applications may be obtained by writing to Mrs. John W. Elvehjem, Chairman, Foreign Student Selection Committee, IIE, 199 Fifth Avenue, New York 10, N. Y.

The awards are primarily for one year beginning in the fall of 1955, and for study at American, Austrian, British, Belgian, Danish, Dutch, German, Greek, Irish, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, Swiss, Swedish, or United Kingdom; Administration by the Institute, they are made from various foreign governments, universities, and private organizations.

Most of the scholarships do not cover travel expenses but persons applying for Austrian, German, Italian, Dutch, and United Kingdom awards may apply for a Fulbright travel grant to supplement the scholarship. Applications for travel grants must also be submitted by January 15, 1956. Most of these scholarships are open to candidates in languages and culture, fine and applied arts, sciences, social science, philosophy, history and theology. The French program includes forty assistantships for young Americans to teach in French secondary schools and teacher assistantships in social science and the arts for the assistants can also take part in the program.

The French awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.

The awards are for one term (14 weeks) of the Paris Institute for the Foreign Language, and the holders of the awards must be able to follow studies at a French university. Entry to the Institute does not depend on the French Department at Yale University, the French Department at Yale University.