A BACHELOR'S REWARD.

BY CHEROKEE.

It was a rainy January day. John Steele sat in his office, the rain falling on the windows. Mrs. Steele was there, but she did not speak. John had been married for five years, and during that time he had never been able to acquire a family. Mrs. Steele was a poor little creature, with a face as pale as the snow and a voice as soft as the rain. She was a good wife, and she was always kind and gentle. But John was not happy. He felt that he was not getting anywhere in life, and that he was not doing anything that was worth doing. He had been at the same office for five years, and he had not got a raise. He had been at the same office for five years, and he had not got a raise. He had been at the same office for five years, and he had not got a raise. He had been at the same office for five years, and he had not got a raise.

John was thinking of how he could get a raise. He had been thinking about it for a long time, but he had not been able to think of anything. He had been thinking about it for a long time, but he had not been able to think of anything. He had been thinking about it for a long time, but he had not been able to think of anything. He had been thinking about it for a long time, but he had not been able to think of anything.

But John did not feel very well. He had a cold, and he was not able to work. He had a cold, and he was not able to work. He had a cold, and he was not able to work. He had a cold, and he was not able to work.

So John went to his doctor. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the doctor again. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office again. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the doctor again. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office again. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the doctor again. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office again. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the doctor again. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office again. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the doctor again. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine. The doctor said that he had a cold, and told him to take some more medicine.

John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better. John took the medicine, and he felt a little better.

But John still did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything. He was not able to work, and he was not able to think of anything.

So John went to the office again. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well. He was not able to work, and he did not feel very well.
