Visiting Group to Complete U. C. Evaluation This Week

Beginning today and continuing through Wednesday, Feb. 15, group of four administrators from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will visit Ursinus. The purpose of the visit is to evaluate the campus and make recommendations for future improvements. The group has been engaged in a thorough "self-evaluation" of the college's program. The visit is scheduled for four days, beginning Monday and ending Thursday.

The college has been notified that the group, called the "delegation," will consist of Mr. John H. Smith, president of Swarthmore College; Mr. E. M. Borg, chairman of the Department of Psychology at Cornell University; Mr. W. K. King, chairman of the Department of English at Swarthmore College; and Mr. W. H. Smith, chairman of the Department of History at Swarthmore College.

Mr. Smith, Mr. Borg, and Mr. King have been recommended to the college by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Mr. Smith, Mr. Borg, and Mr. King have been selected as members of the visiting group because of their expertise in the areas of higher education and their ability to provide valuable insights into the college's operations.

The visiting group will conduct their evaluation through a series of meetings with college administrators, faculty, students, and staff. They will also visit classrooms, libraries, and other facilities to assess the quality of education and student services. The group will submit their findings and recommendations to the college, which will use them to improve its operations and enhance the educational experience for students.

The visit is an important opportunity for the college to gain valuable feedback and improve its programs. The college is grateful for the expertise and guidance of the visiting group and looks forward to their recommendations.

...and Some Comments on Evaluation

In reviewing the approach taken in the evaluation program, we are impressed with the student’s perception of the importance of the course. In the eyes of the student there seems to be a sense of reality, and, yet, this very accomplishment threatens the high ideal of academic excellence which is founded in trying to inculcate in each student “excellence in conduct,” as we try to measure the degree of success that

An Age of Service

by Art King

If method were truly the only law of business, it may be argued that the abolition of industry, trade and commerce should be sought on human grounds. Such, however, is not the case: in itself it may be capable of being completely soul-less. Lacking the essential work, method is in only an attribute of business, having a necessary part in its processes. Civilization in all its strengths and appearances of materialism, the essence of a college is still actually academic standards of many, many fine schools.
