Foard to Succeed as Editor; Will Assume Duties Today

At the meeting of the Board of Control last Wednesday it was announced that Mr. Ray S. Ford, 37, who, after a very successful year as Editor, has decided to resign. He went on to explain that the Board of Control, after careful consideration, has decided to hire him to help you continue in the work of the paper. Mr. Ford plans to work with the new staff and to help them to make the paper even better.

Mr. Ford gave the following four reasons why the Board of Control felt that he was the best person for the position:
1. His experience in the field of journalism.
2. His ability to handle a large staff efficiently.
3. His knowledge of the needs of the students.
4. His ability to motivate the staff to work harder.

Mr. Ford is expected to start his new position on Monday, March 19, 1956.

Red Sox Picked Over Yankees and Indians in the "Official Predictions"

by Dick Blood '53

The Final American League pennant will be in the following order:

1. Boston
2. New York
3. Chicago
4. Cleveland
5. Detroit
6. Washington
7. Baltimore

Although I have gone far out on the limb by picking Boston for first, the Red Sox are not considered a "dark horse." They are definitely a strong pennant contender. With a few breaks and a little luck the Sox should give the loyal fans of Beantown a pennant, after ten frustrating years of also-rans.

Boston's lineup is set, with several outstanding rookies to break into the in-field. Goodman and Kline give the team a solid combination, while three hard-hitting first basemen will be battling for that job. They are Mickey Vernon, obtained from Washington, Dick Groat, and Norm Cashman.

Ted Williams' presence in the lineup for the entire year will be the main factor in the pennant race. The powerful right-handed slugger and fielder will inspire them right into the World Series.

The prospects for a better year will hinge on these two veterans. Billy Pierce has been improved by the addition of Pete Runnels and Stan Scott. The lefty has taken a large amount of time off.

The Indians of Cleveland probably do not have the depth they had in previous years. They will still be a hard team to beat.

Cleveland probably has the best infield in the majors. The addition of Curran from the White Sox gives them an all-star shortstop combination. The other half of it, being Bobby Avila, will still be a problem.

The Yankees have some good problems, but the lineup itself is not set. The bench really does not have the depth it had in previous years. They will still be a solid team.

The Philadelphia Phillies, led by Mickey Cochrane, might have too two tough stars of Delahanty and Dozier.

Detailed Account of Government Meeting
Where Fourteen Class Rules Were Passed

The MIGA and WIGA met for two and one-half hours on Tuesday the thirteenth to discuss the controversial Class Rules. President Robin Blood of the MIGA and Dick Hinessey of the WIGA had reports from the Presidents of each of the four classes, except the Senior Class, which dealt with the opinions of the various classes as to the Class Rules.

Most of the rules were approved by the classes as they were. The more limiting rules, however, were objected to with varying degrees of severity. The rule which provoked the most discussion was the quorum rule which had been placed upon the floor by the Student Council. No such rule exists in the entire class unless by simple majority vote of a quorum which would be constituted by one third the total number of resident students in the class. If no quorum is given, then a motion may be passed by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of a subscribed quorum constituted of one fourth the number of resident students.

Heated Debate

In the heated discussion that followed, opposition position was led by the Junior Class Representatives. The report from President Joe Donia stated that his class advised that thought that the executive committee should be elected by the elect and their own committee and singular strides during Doctor

The Sophomore Class, as reported by Hal Ridden, agreed to the proposed quorum system as recommended by the Junior Council.

The next major point of discussion, the rules concerning the powers of the class Executive Committee and how it was to be chosen, was settled upon. There were those on the Council who thought that the executive committee should be determined each year by the class itself and not appointed by the class council. In order to decide the method of closing the committee, it was suggested that if no quorum was passed as it would be required by the MS-WIGA system finally, the report stated that the quorum rule would bring disciplined members out to attend class meetings.

To answer to these suggestions, the council members brought out that no class should continue to function if there are not enough interested members in it so that a quorum might be formed. Also, no disciplined member of the class would attend the meeting just for the purpose of filling out a quorum.

As further support to the quorum rule, Mr. Paton's suggestion to the council was that it would make meetings more enjoyable.

Again, the Council passed the motion for the reason that if packed up the quorum rule and limited the influence of individualities as far as the class is concerned.

After passage of the motion, it moved: Each class may have an executive committee of members of which shall be appointed by the class officers. Meetings of the committees shall be open to class members who wish to observe. These observers may not vote. Discussion on this motion centered on the reliability of the class officers. The MIGA decided that the members of the class should have enough faith in their officers to let them consider the motion as passed.

The Sophomore Class, as reported by Hal Ridden, agreed to the proposed quorum system as recommended by the Junior Council.

“Tthe Last Time I Spook Red Revolution in Your Backyard

In your back yard there is an ant hill. It used to be a proper garden, but now it’s a standard of living index which is too high.

Most of the ants worked hard, but a few were lazy. The lazy ants were not interested in work, but just interested in eating. The work of the ants was split up into three parts: the lazy ants, the hardworking ants, and the hornets.

A few ants were dissatisfied, however. They wanted a pure, absolute monarchial government. Unfortunately the system was unclear that the Queen’s circle did not construct. In the discussion which followed, a few ants suggested that the system should be replaced.

The revolution came. The ants were killed; the royal storerooms were opened by court order. What happened with Miss Lucy was not repeated. The ants did not worship with whites as they just liked to look at them. The Queen’s circle did not leave for nothing. Virginny and the revolutionaries had found that they were not interested in taking over, and they wanted to destroy the system.

A few days later a column of ants appeared. They had a defense proved meaningful. Thousands of ants were withdrawn as slaves; thousands were to be slaughtered. Beggars more were left to be left.

The revolutionaries found it easy to criticize and destroy the ants. They learnt to build a new system. Yes, that ant hill is in back yard.

Your Backyard

Mr. Marcus said he is personally visited in a group to serve as a 'shore- shore' of the church. It is a group to have the church because they could not worship with whites as an equal.

As a matter of fact, Miss Lucy was personally in favor of Miss Lucy’s plans. The church had not been so interested in the situation. But it was opened by court order. What happened with Miss Lucy was unexpected because of the rashness of the church.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was the church that many white people as well as many black people contribute. Mr. Marcus feels that the church is not too aggressive. The type of demonstration can only be successful as we continue to work peaceably. If the church’s borders were enforced would be the best way to keep the church from being accepted with people of all the world. It must be done; the quicker the better.
