Dean Pettit Explains Makeup of Dean’s List, Ineligibility

by Ann Leitz ’57

The problems of ineligible students, mentioned in the Dean’s List were discussed by Dean Wm. Pettit last Wednesday evening at a meeting held by the Student Senate. The meeting was attended by students, faculty, and the Student Senate Officers.

Dean Pettit stated that the general rule arose some years ago when there was a large amount of controversy among the various college communities as to what actually constituted a student. Although some students may not meet the requirements for admission, they are still included in the general public as a representative of the college. The faculty believes that the most important activities would aid a student to devote more time to study.

The rules concerning the eligibility of the college were brought forth to bring about a set of regulations that would concern this set-up of the college. The faculty believed that the rules that forbid ineligible students to join the college would be enforced in order to have a representative of the college that would be fair to all other students.

On Saturday, March 12, Ursinus acted as host for the third annual conference of the Middle Atlantic States FTA. The conference was sponsored by various activities held by the Ursinus Student Association, and was attended by students from various colleges across the United States.

The Dean’s Office requests that all sections who have not registered for diploma so immediately.

The show is scheduled for Thursday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. The show is a joint effort to extend the drive until April 15, which is the day the show in the respective societies should be held on the respective dates.

The show is an opportunity to give back to the Ursinus community. The Ursinus community is made up of all of the people who have helped us in any way. It was decided to maintain societies and to establish an inter-

ARE TRAINING TABLES NECESSARY?

This number has long been debated by many people, both in the world of sports and in everyday life. Those who are actively engaged in athletics argue that a training table constitutes an important part of the athlete's conditioning. Proper food, they say, is necessary to maintain the ideal attitude brought about by a group activity.

Consider, for just a moment, our training table. How many of the athletes there are who point out that training table privileges for athletes can be enjoyed only if the other phases of training are adhered to. There can be no rebuttal to this argument. No athlete ever hopes to condition himself for any type of strenuous activity if he does not live up to the rules of training. A training table cannot be expected to work miracles.

It should quite obvious that the chief benefit derived from a training table is building and maintaining the correct mental attitude that can be attained, then the atmosphere that is produced by the added expense of a training table would most likely be improved by the presence of a winning team.
