Fitness Center Opens After Slight Delay

President Strassburger Responds to the Crisis

President Strassburger was present at the dedication ceremony and expressed his pride in the new fitness center, stating that it would provide a place for students to relieve stress, meet new people, and engage in healthy workouts.

Two Women Recognized with Honorary Doctorate Degrees

Sarah Napolitan, a Professor of Art, and Francois Gilot, a World-Famous Artist, were honored with Honorary Doctorate Degrees. Gilot's work was exhibited in the galleries three times since it's opening. Lisa Hanover, museum curator, gave a few opening remarks and a small dedication ceremony was held.

Helping Campus Deal with Tragedy

President Strassburger reflects on the importance of art in times of trial and crisis, and the role of the arts in helping individuals and communities to understand others and ourselves.

The Decline of the Airplane Industry

Tammie Scherer
Grizzly News Editor

For the future, the decline is not only for United Airlines. The airline industry has seen a decrease in the number of flights occurring and the number of people flying. With fewer people flying, and fewer airplanes on the ground, the airplane industry is facing a major crisis.

Learning the In's and Out's of Criminology

"I never wanted to be a cop," said Detective Walter Zdunowski of the Montgomery County District Attorney's office. His family was part of a group of four correspondents that gathered Thursday to speak with Ursinus students about their careers.

Peter Truckis of the IRS Criminal Investigation Unit explained the importance of business education in the group. He works to solve complex financial crimes and relies heavily on his background in accounting. Truckis also investigates bank and healthcare fraud along with colleagues involving drug traffickers and money launderers.

Looking at death bodies is a job that he loves. At Ursinus, he is in charge of the new criminal investigation unit.

In Sorrow...

From President Strassburger

We received word Friday morning of the sudden death of one of our faculty members, Professor of Psychology Ellen M. Englehardt. For those who knew her, this is a shock. For those who did not, we offer our condolences.

Englehardt was a member of the Psychology department at Ursinus College. She was a beloved teacher and mentor for many students.

Englehardt's death is a loss to the Ursinus community and to the field of psychology. She will be missed by all who knew her.
Reacting to the recent terrorist attacks, Ursinus students and faculty attended vigils and attended prayer services to cope with shock and grief. In his opinion, "Nothing in the event challenged our nation more. All of us, an enemy that cannot be seen and heard."

"Nothing can cause us to lose our faith in America's people," she added. "It's our responsibility to be the best we can be, to work towards a world where everyone is safe and free."
Artists Speaks With Fresenius CIE Students,
Francoise Gilot Visits Ursinus and Meets with Privileged Freshmen

Sarah Napolitan
Grizzly Add. Editor

Last Friday, fresnens had the chance of lifetime to talk with the famous artist Francoise Gilot. Gilot greeted Ursinus College with her paintings in hand and visited the Berman Museum, where she had an exhibit centered on the German Occupation of France 1940-42. The Art of War, Gilot's collection of her pieces, was completed during this time.

Gilot had a very interesting conversation with us students and provided a lecture on her career and artwork. She talked about the importance of art and how it can be used as a tool to express emotions and ideas.

During the event, Gilot also discussed her art and how it has evolved over the years. She showed us some of her paintings and explained the techniques and materials she uses to create her pieces. She also spoke about the challenges she faced as an artist during the war and how she managed to continue her work.

In conclusion, it was a great honor to have such a talented artist visit our campus and share her knowledge with us. We are grateful for the opportunity to learn from her and appreciate her contributions to the world of art.

The Lantern starts a new year of Publications

Carissa Barkley
Grizzly Editor-in-Chief

The Lantern, Ursinus’s literary magazine, is now accepting submissions for its latest edition. It is one of the oldest literary magazines in Pennsylvania as it was founded in 1932, and has been published continuously since then.

We are excited to announce that we have a new editor-in-chief, Carissa Barkley. She has been a part of The Lantern staff for years and is looking forward to leading the team.

We are accepting submissions for fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and art. We are particularly interested in receiving high-quality writing that showcases creativity and originality.

Don’t forget to consider submitting to The Lantern because of its reputation for excellence and its long history of providing a platform for students' voices.

New Kickboxing Class
Takes a Swing at Fitness

Sarah Napolitan
Grizzly Add. Editor

kickboxing is an excellent way to get in great shape, especially for people who want results fast and efficient. It is a great way to burn calories and build strength.

The entire workout lasts for 30 minutes, and consists of front and side kicks, punches, and strikes. The class is designed to be challenging and fun, and it is open to men and women of all ages and skill levels.

The class begins with a warm-up that incorporates several basic kickboxing moves. New kicks are taught every class, and students are encouraged to practice at home.

All classes are taught by certified kickboxing instructors, and they are designed to be challenging and fun. The class is open to men and women of all ages and skill levels.

Don’t miss out on this opportunity to get in great shape and have fun. Contact Erin Dickerson at extension 308 to learn more about the class and sign up.
The Fringe Festival got off to a spectacular start Friday night, due to the energy and dedication of the power, humor, and unconventional message to bystanders watching with poses that encompassed the ghostly cloth. Aprile then moved into Ritter to see Strachan's performance, and serenity. The 'living sculpture' was a piece about what Janette described as that frightening point when there is so much noise that you can't communicate. The Fringe Festival is an event to remember.

"All of the companies that were brought to the college this weekend did an amazing job, with various interpretations and original pieces."

"I couldn't feel my legs anymore. I couldn't move."

"When the world's desktop headlines that in a second you can be truly great at something.

Once again, I am happy to report that the Ursinus Fringe Festival was an exciting success this year! Ursinus played host to 7 theater companies and over 2000 people came to see a variety of professional artists, 10 actors, 4 directors, 2 choreographers, 2 playwrights, 2 live musicians, 2 stage combatants, performance artist, and 1 Foley artist (live sound effects). 19 Ursinus students worked with the artists to help everyone run smoothly, and many students were involved with preparing the theater, dressing in the actors' set and costume pieces.

Not everybody likes to smoke, but everybody does like to have a back or two. If you don’t happen to have been wandering if you are getting enough smoke for your back, you’ve come the right place.

In an effort to make sure no one comes between you and your objectives, I’d like to present a price comparison of four brands of cigarettes at four stores close to the Ursinus Campus. The brands I compared were a Marlboro 100s, a Camel Regular, a Wawa Big, and a CVS. I checked out the prices of these popular smokes at Wawa, Hess Gas Station, CVS Pharmacy, and the Ursinus College bookstore. My first stop was the bookstore, which was still as crass.

They had a very small selection, and I did have to buy a book. I comparing. Allcigarettes were sold at the same price of $4.98 per pack. This seemed very steep, but I noticed that the bookstore had its runs on the back for the higher price. They claim that they do not sell them too often to make a profit. Understandable, but possibly not affordable.

The second stop on my quest for cheap smoke was Wawa. Ursinus students frequent Wawa for various odds and ends, so I figured it was a quick and convenient spot to pick up a pack or two. A pack of Marlboro 130’s and the pack of Parliament was $3.26 with tax. This was the cheapest I was able to find Parliament and the second cheapest by far. Much cheaper than the bookstore, but not quite as convenient as Wawa or CVS.

The difference in prices really wasn’t that drastic except for the bookstore, but extra charge is extra change, and like Bert Franklin said, “A penny saved is a penny earned.”

So now you feel like sitting back and lighting up a joint or whatever your preferred way of getting high is, do you know how much it costs. Take a look at the chart below.

Ursinus's Liz embro Equalizes Dickinson

Rebecca Berlidge
Sports Editor

Ursinus Women’s Field Hockey Team left early Friday morning to travel all the way down to North Carolina. On Saturday, September 22, 2001 the women placed Davidson College. At the 24:15 mark, Junior Amy Transue passed to Senior Liz Embro, who left Fortunately shot the ball past the Davidson goalie. The cage re- remained empty until the end of the first half, when Davidson’s Maggie McPherson stuck the ball past UC’s keeper, Senior Nicole Minnick, with only .48 seconds left.

Throughout the second half the women were fighting back and forth for a chance to break the tie. Anathematized Freshman Joyce Ann Kostroh assisted Senior Liz Embro to make the game-winning shot. The team expertly managed to keep Davidson at bay for the last 45:49. Around Monastery did a great job in goal registering 7 saves. On Sunday, September 23, 2001, the women stepped by Appalachian State and were put back in their place. This non-conference team was able to score against Monastery.
